PROPANE EXPLODES: COTTAGE DEMOLISHED

A San Rafael fireman plays a hose on the smoldering remains of a Santa Venetia one-room cottage which went up in flames this morning after a gas explosion. Firemen said that Carleton Miller, a driver for McPhail's Inc., had filled a tank outside the cottage at 9 Cresthaven Drive, and when he pulled the hose away, gas in the air ignited from a nearby water heater. Miller suffered minor wrist burns. Resident of the cottage, Robert Goldstein, standing nearby, escaped injury as did a young woman inside. Marin County and San Rafael firemen, who sent five units to the fire, did not yet have an estimate of damages.

Feud Within Marin City CSD Hierarchy Into Open

Recall Movement Brings Controversy To The Front

By PAT ANGLE

A many-sided conflict of personalities and interests broke into the open yesterday in the Marin City Community Services District, with charges and countercharges flying back and forth.

On one side in the dispute is Arthur Miller, vice chairman of the services district board, and Daniel Winters, the district's executive director. On the other side are board chairman Frank Phillips Sr. and directors Ollie Griffin and Thelma McKinney.

The long-smouldering feud erupted into open controversy when Miller announced yesterday that he intended to seek recall of his three fellow directors, accusing them of varied misbehavior, including conflict of interest.

The board members responded at a special meeting last night by asking Miller to prove his charges at an adjourned meeting next Thursday at 8 p.m. Mrs. McKinney and Griffin called for Miller's ouster from the board, but Phillips urged that the board seek the advice of county counsel before taking further action.

The directors also hurled accusations of their own against Miller and Winters and demanded that the executive director meet with the board's personnel committee Monday or face dismissal.

(It was the second such controversy within 24 hours to involve the Southern Marin community. The day before Norman B. Campbell resigned from the Marin County Housing Authority board, which controls public housing in Marin City. He accused fellow board members of inadequacy; accused the executive director, Wallace K. Shepherd, of "lack of performance," and declared that thousands of dollars in public funds were wasted as a result.)

In a press release yesterday, Miller charged that "a special interest group is attempting to take over the district" and accused the other directors of holding secret meetings, failing to represent residents and appointing to the board persons who live outside the district. He said he would seek recall of his fellow directors.

"He's a villain. He ought to be removed from the district," Mrs. McKinney said of Miller last night. Griffin said Miller was "destructive of the district."

In the press release, Miller stated that the services district board had held "secret meetings" on Aug. 29, Sept. 5, Oct. 26 and Oct. 30.

Executive director Winters, who rejected the board's request that he attend last night's meeting, did submit a written statement to the effect, among other things, that the meetings in question "were declared illegal."

Winters — whose job performance has been under fire from the board for several months — also wrote that he was dissatisfied with "the inability of the board to conduct business in a business-like manner" and the "disarray" of the district.

The result of that letter was the board's order to meet with the personnel committee.

The board noted that the

'Fact Sheet' On Redevelopment Hit

The San Rafael Chamber of Commerce today claimed that a "fact sheet" in opposition to the city redevelopment plan being distributed by the San Rafael City Schools is based on incorrect figures and false assumptions. (See story on schools' petition, page 19.)

The "fact sheet," prepared for use by Parent-Teacher Associations in circulating petitions in opposition to redevelopment, shows the San Rafael Elementary and High School districts receiving $105,006 less in tax revenues next fiscal year under redevelopment than they would get without it. This deficit is shown as growing to $585,005 in fiscal 1977-78.

This is based, says the sheet, on an average 4 per cent per year increase in assessed valuation of the redevelopment area which has prevailed for the last several years.

Robert H. Greene of the chamber of commerce redevelopment committee presented figures on specific downtown parcels showing that instead of an annual 4 per cent gain there may be an annual loss as far as the downtown portion of the redevelopment area is concerned.

The figures, drawn from the county assessor's rolls, show that a building next to the Cottage Book Store on Fourth Street was appraised in 1964 at $120,000, but was sold last year for $100,000 — or $20,000 below the assessor's "fair market value." The building since has been destroyed by fire and no plan for rebuilding has yet been presented.

The J.C. Penney Co. store building at Fourth Street and Lootens Place was appraised in 1958 at $380,000. In 1964 , the county assessor lowered the appraisal to $300,000. The building was sold in April of this year for $210,000 — $90,000 less then the assessor's "fair market value" and $170,000 less than the "fair market value" of a decade ago.

The F.W. Woolworth Co. store building across Fourth Street from Courthouse Square was appraised in 1958 at $210,000 and continued on the rolls at that figure. Last year the owner accepted a sale price of $180,000, but the sale fell through and the property is now offered at $175,000 — $35,000 below the assessor's "fair market value."

Gross sales as reported by the Woolworth company for the store declined from $402,000 in 1963 to $304,000 in 1970.

Greene quoted County Assessor Bert W. Broemmel as saying there is "a definite trend down" for all Fourth Street property, and that all other parts of the downtown portion of the redevelopment area have leveled off with no increase in value. There has been no change in assessed valuation in the area since 1964, except where new buildings have been constructed, he said.

Proposed Coastline Plan Gains Support In Marin

By PAUL E. PETERZELL

Only about 40 persons attended the hearing, although several hundred notices were sent to individuals and organizations throughout the county. More than 100 attended a hearing on the plan in August at the Civic Center, when it was condemned by many speakers as abusive of property rights.

The plan, drafted by consultants to the Association of Bay Area Governments Ocean Coastline Planning Committee, proposes creation of a regional agency with extensive power to control coastal areas. It calls for halting most development along West Marin's coast.

The hearing by the committee was its second of five to be held throughout the region. Only two of its 12 members attended, Marin Supervisor Michael Wornum, chairman of the committee, and Amy Meyer of San Francisco.

Marjorie Macris of the county planning department told the committee the plan matched the department's pending master plan for the county.

Frances Stewart of the Bolinas-Stinson Beach chapter of the Marin Conservation League said she was "really ecstatic" about the plan. She cautioned, however, that the plan would have to deal with the state Division of Highways proposal to fill 15 acres of Bolinas Lagoon to widen Shoreline Highway.

Neal Ferris of San Rafael, representing the Marin Conservation subcommittee of the Sierra Club's San Francisco Bay Chapter, said the club was "obviously in support" of the plan, but asked what power ABAG had to enforce it.

"Not much," Wornum conceded. But the supervisor added that ABAG is "the only game in town," and someday hopes to get more power from the Legislature. Wornum did not mention that ABAG reviews applications by local governments for federal grants to see they conform to the association's plans, thus generally can halt public improvements depending on grants.

Praise for the plan also came from Charles D. Chalmers of Mill Valley, who said there was

Nixon Hits Campaign Trail; Accord Is Unlikely By Tuesday

WASHINGTON (UPI) —With a hint that a Vietnam peace settlement is unlikely before the election —and accused by George S. McGovern of letting the chances for a cease-fire fall apart —President Nixon took to the campaign trail today on a three-state flying tour.

Even as Nixon was in the air headed for an airport rally in Chicago, his voice was bidding for votes in a nationwide paid political broadcast about health care. He taped the speech for airing on three radio networks before he left.

In the radio broadcast, Nixon defended his proposal for employer-supported medical insurance and criticized a McGovern-backed Democratic alternative. He said the Democratic national health insurance plan would cost "a staggering $91 billion each year."

In a television speech that blanketed the nation Thursday night, the President rejected any Vietnam deadline "to force us into an agreement which would be only a temporary truce and not a lasting peace."

That, plus his insistence that all "ambiguities" be cleared up seemed to lessen the chances of any settlement before Tuesday's balloting.

"We are going to sign the agreement when the agreement is right, we are going to sign, without one day's delay," he

McGovern Sets TV Talk Tonight On Viet Policy

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich. (UPI) —Sen. George S. McGovern will go on nationwide television tonight to charge President Nixon with making a "detour around election day" in his speech on the Vietnam War, an aide said.

McGovern, after telling about 500 ministers and lay leaders in the basement of a large Methodist church in Grand Rapids that the Nixon administration was morally lax, was to fly to Chicago to tape his address.

"The President did not outline a path to peace, but a detour around election day," Frank Mankiewicz, McGovern's political adviser, told newsmen at Grand Rapids.

After the taping, McGovern was to drive to Gary, Ind., for a rally of black leaders and return to Chicago for a two-block motorcade and an appearance in the Auditorium Theater with Mayor Richard J. Daley tonight.

The half-hour address on Vietnam by the Democratic presidential candidate was to

Inverness Ridge Inclusion Into Tomales Bay Park Being Studied

By ERIK M. INGRAM

The Inverness Ridge, long a sore spot between conservationists and developers, is being considered by state officials for inclusion in the Tomales Bay State Park, the Independent-Journal has learned.

The land package being wrapped includes not only the ridge between the park and Inverness Park but also portions of Tomales Bay — including Hog Island —and various shorelands.

Behind the move is Assemblyman William T. Bagley, R-San Rafael, and various conservation groups pulled together by George L. Collins of Conservation Associates, a nonprofit conservation organization.

The aim is to tie together state funds —from the Bagley Conservation Fund — and lands owned by conservation groups to match federal funds from the Bureau of Outdoor Recreation.

State and federal funds would then be used to purchase ridge land properties.

According to Bagley, the proposal is now being worked on by the state Department of Parks and Recreation and possibly will go before the Legislature during the 1973 session.

"The main purpose is to protect the Inverness Ridge and save more of Tomales Bay by cooperative purchase," Bagley said, adding that outright purchase is "the guts of conservation."

Developers and conservationists have traded blows several times over the future of the scenic Inverness Ridge which has panoramic views of the Point Reyes National Seashore on the west and Tomales Bay on the east.

Conservationists are concerned that development of the ridge would mar the beauty and serenity of the National Seashore. They have repeatedly urged the county to step in with zoning controls to block mass development of the area. (Development is currently blocked through lack of approved access.)

Best guesses estimate the project to include the lands in the state park will require about $1 million in federal matching funds.

In a preliminary outline of the project, Collins noted that some portions of the proposed expansion area could be designated research reserves or "natural areas" with only trail access.

He said a system of trails on the ridge could be established to provide limited access to scenic overlooks and to sites from which the upland and marshland flora and wildlife could be observed.

Collins said private discussion between governmental agencies and conservation groups have produced promising results.

"With the likelihood that some hundreds of acres of privately held conservation lands can be turned over to the state under agreeable terms of future preservation," Collins said, "matching federal funds equivalent to the value of such acreages can be allocated to the state Department of Parks and Recreation.

"The prospects are excellent," he concluded.

WIRE NEWS BRIEFS From Everywhere

Minister Named

SANTIAGO (UPI) —President Salvador Allende named the commander of the army as top cabinet minister last night in a government shakeup designed to disarm the political opposition and end three weeks of labor and economic unrest which has crippled Chile's economy.

Prats was one of three military men appointed to the new cabinet. But Prats said the participation of the armed forces in the cabinet did not signal a political compromise, "but rather a patriotic collaboration in behalf of the public well-being."

Bar Bombed

BELFAST (UPI) —A bomb exploded early today at an Omagh bar owned by the father-in-law of an Irish Republic cabinet minister and a booby trapped car exploded in a small town west of Belfast, but there were no injuries in either incident.

In other incidents, police said, gunmen ambushed a rural police patrol in County Tyrone and wounded two officers.

Police said the car explosion in Magherafelt, 20 miles west of Belfast, caused several buildings to collapse.

Rites For Pound

VENICE, Italy (UPI) — Benedictine monks conducted a funeral for poet Ezra Pound today at a cathedral across the lagoon from St. Mark's Square.

Then his family and friends buried him on an island that is the final resting place of composer Igor Stravinsky and ballet pioneer Sergei Diaghilev.

About 120 persons attended the funeral in the church of San Giorgio Maggiore. Four black-clad gondoliers then bore his simple wooden coffin to a black and gold gondola for the journey to San Michele Island. The casket bore a bronze crucifix.

Pound's daughter, Mary de Rachewiltz, and his longtime companion, Olga Rudge, were among the few family and friends who accompanied the body to a private burial.

Hayden In Laos

VIENTIANE, Laos (UPI) — Thomas Hayden and four other antiwar activists arrived today enroute to Hanoi to spend a week obtaining a "clarification" of the prospects for peace in Indochina.

Hayden, one of the defendants in the Chicago Seven trial, told newsmen at Wattay Airport his group would board a Russian Aeroflot airliner for Hanoi tomorrow joining two other antiwar group members who were taking a plane from Moscow.

Although a court ruling granting permission for Hayden to leave the United States said his trip was "for purposes of accompanying American prisoners of war back to their families in the United States," he declined to discuss the possibility of a prisoner release.

Strike Breather

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

General Motors Corp. was given a temporary breather today as a UAW strike threatened at its key Saginaw, Mich., plant was postponed.

In St. Louis, Local 25 of the UAW—which has 8,500 members—ratified a new contract Thursday night. Although details of the contract were not released, the contract is believed to contain an increase in salary and changes in certain work rules.

Open-ended strike notices went into effect today at assembly plants in Doraville, Ga., and Baltimore, Md., while a similar threat at the Lakewood, Ga., assembly plant was under an extension.

PIERRE TRUDEAU

Trudeau To Remain In Top Post

OTTAWA (UPI) —Prime Minister Pierre Trudeau still held the reins of power today and he said his Liberals will continue to govern Canada as long as it was the will of the House of Commons.

He told newsmen Thursday the results of the election, which saw his 4-1-2 year majority mandate wiped out, showed many Canadians felt his government's past performance was "not satisfactory."

Trudeau added, however, he decided to remain in office and make an attempt to improve government policy because the vote did not "stress any clear degree of approval" for any other party.

Conservative leader Robert Stanfield said in a statement issued from his office that "Mr. Trudeau has made clear the arrogant desire of his government to hang on to power.

"He's treating the election results as simply as another opinion poll in the hope he can somehow get away with it," Stanfield said.

New Democratic party leader David Lewis said he would support the Liberals if it introduced "some really progressive legislation." He added however, "there is no deal and there will be no deal...I will be doing no bargaining with Mr. Trudeau."

Latest unofficial election results showed the Conservatives and the Liberals each with 109 seats in the 264-seat House of Commons. The NDP have 30, the Social Credits 14 and there are two independents.

In forming a minority government, Trudeau will run the constant risk of being defeated on a nonconfidence vote by the combined opposition majority in the house.

Big Donors Are Avoiding Gift Taxes

WASHINGTON (UPI) —Donors of large political contributions to both presidential candidates are avoiding hundreds of thousands of dollars in gift taxes by spreading their donations among numerous political committees.

A House Banking Committee staff report released this week said in one case a donor to the Nixon campaign avoided almost $250,000 in taxes on a contribution of nearly $1 million.

In tracing money given to Nixon committees, the report said contributions were channeled "through a maze of 'paper' committees apparently established for the sole purpose of providing donors a means of avooiding gift taxes."

McGovern fund raisers also are taking advantage of the loophole. A Chicago psychologist, for example, gave $99,000 in $1,000 checks to 97 committees and $2,000 to a 98th committee.

Under current Internal Revenue Service rulings, a person can give up to $3,000 to a single unit without paying gift taxes, which increase from 2 per cent on $5,000 to 24.4 per cent on $1 million.

The tax paid on a large contribution can be enormous. In 1968, Mrs. John D. Rockefeller Jr. gave $1,432,625 to her stepson, Nelson Rockefeller, who was seeking the GOP presidential nomination, and paid a federal gift tax of more than $850,000.

In addition to avoiding gift taxes, the Banking Committee report said the committees are also used to prevent collection of capital gain taxes on securities.

For example, a donor gives the face value of stock which may have increased in value since its purchase. However, the recipient committee is a non-profit entity and thus pays no capital gains tax when the stock is sold at market value.

The report listed names of various Nixon committees "with high-sounding names, but obviously intended solely to provide a tax-dodging mechanism."

In view of the magnitude of contributions to the Finance Committee to Re-elect the President, the report said, "it is obvious that the federal government has lost thousands and thousands of dollars in taxes because of this dispersal among these varied committees."

Nixon Campaign Funds Revealed

WASHINGTON (UPI) —President Nixon's re-election committee disclosed Thursday the President received $2.5 million in campaign contributions from seven welathy contrib utors, nearly a quarter of a million from the dairy industry and $1,000 from a Watergate suspect.

The list of donors, produced under terms of an out-of-court partial settlement of a lawsuit, showed that between Jan. 1, 1971, and March 9, 1972, Nixon's campaign chest amassed over $4.9 million from 283 donors. The average contribution was about $17,000.

In all, there were 21 gifts of $50,000 or more, 11 of them $100,000 or more.

Listed as donating from Marin with $1,000 were Mr. and Mrs. William M. Spencer Jr. of Mill Valley. Spencer is a partner in the management consulting firm of Kilmer & Spencer of San Francisco.

The money was part of the hitherto "secret" campaign fund of $10 million which the Finance Committee to Re-elect the President reported as "cash on hand" on April 7, when a new law took effect. The law requires that all donors of $100 or more be publicly identified.

The consent order was signed Wednesday by U.S. District Judge Joseph C. Waddy and proposed by lawyers for the public interest group, Common Cause, and for the Republican committee.

It required disclosure of gifts received up to March 9. the last filing date under the 1925 Corrupt Practices Act, which was supplanted by the new law. The settlement left secret gifts received between March 9 and April 7.

Common Cause said it would press for disclosure of Nixon contributors who gave in that period when the trial resumes after election day.

The biggest single contribution on the list was $1 million from W. Clement Stone of Chicago and his wife. Stone is president of the Combined American Insurance Co. und a well-known financial backer of Nixon.

A $1,000 gift is attributed to E. Howard Hunt Jr. of Potomac, Md. A Republican spokesman and Common Cause both said he was almost certainly the same E. Howard Hunt Jr. of Potomac, former white House consultant, who is one of seven men indicted in the Watergate bugging affair. Hunt could not be reached for comment.

Gifts totaling $232,500 from three dairy groups were listed. They came while the dairy industry was successfully seeking an Agriculture Department decision raising dairy price supports.

A second list—naming those who gave between $100 and $1,000—is to be made public before noon Sunday under terms of the court order.

The seven contrbuting $2.5 million were Stone, Richard M. Scaife, of Pittsburgh, an heir to the Mellon banking fortune; Arthur K. Watson, of New Canaan, Conn., former ambassador to France; Mr. and Mrs. John A. Mulcahy, of New York, and Mr. and Mrs. Raymond R. Guest of King George, Va., a Democrat and former ambassador to Ireland.

In Chicago, insuranceman Stone told radio station WBBM he had given more than the $1 million listed for him.

Reagan Election Plea Rejected

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Federal Communications Commission has ruled it would be "inappropriate" to follow the suggestion of California Gov. Ronald Reagan and encourage broadcasters to delay election projections until the polls close on the West Coast.

The FCC replied with a telegram Thursday to Reagan's request. It said such an order would interfere with the "exercise of news judgment by the licensees."

Earlier this week Reagan asked the commission to work out an agreement with the broadcast industry for withholding of projections until after the polls had closed in the west. Reagan said he believed the broadcast of projections tended to reduce voter turnout in the Far West.

Firm Says It Lost On Deal

WASHINGTON (UPI) —Cargill, Inc. says it lost $661,386 when it sold 73.5 million bushels of U.S. wheat to Russia last summer.

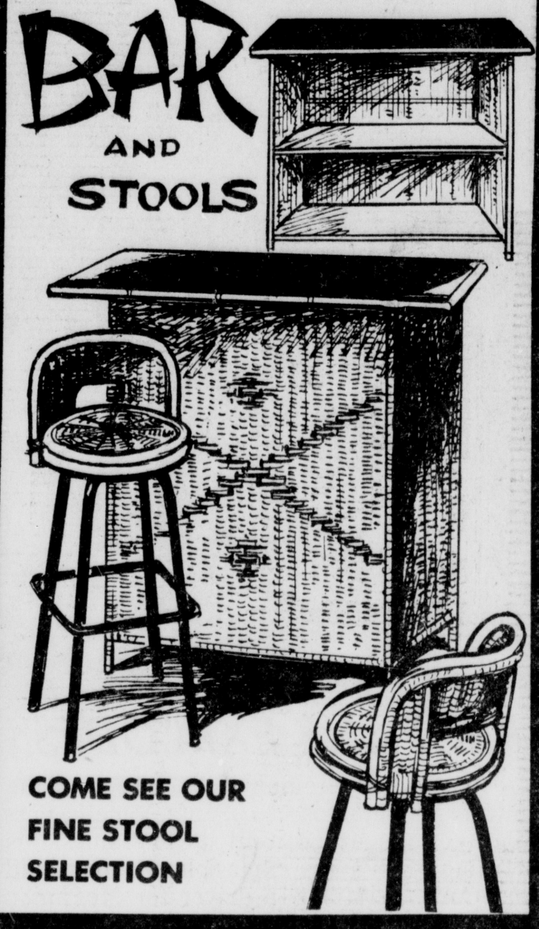

Cargill President Fred M. Seed said Thursday that the Minneapolis-based company was making its books public for the first time to counter charges of windfall profits.

"While Cargill lost...on sales to Russia, the increased value of U.S. farm crops and increased marketings of all major U.S. grains will benefit all segments of American agriculture, including Cargill, and we look forward to a profitable year," Seed said in an open letter.

Several critics of the grain deal claimed some companies and persons made windfall profits by knowing of the deal before it was announced pubicly.

Cargill said it paid an average of $2.009 per bushel for what it sold to Russia for $1.621. An average export subsidy of 33.4 cents and wheat futures trading profits of 7 cents offset the gap, but operating costs of 2.5 cents brought a "computed statistical loss" of 0.9 cents a bushel.

Feud Erupts Within Marin City Board

press, including the Independent-Journal had been informed in advance of the meetings called "secret" by Miller, and that the I-J had announced the ones on Aug. 29, Oct. 26 and Sept. 5. The Oct. 30 meeting he referred to did not involve the entire board, but only its two-member personnel committee which had tried, unsuccessfully, to meet with Winters to discuss board dissatisfaction with his work. The I-J was also notified of that meeting.

The question of the legality of the meetings arose in early October after Miller, who was acting board chairman at the time, said only he was empowered to call board meetings and attempted to cancel sessions which had been scheduled by a majority of the board. Three board members asked for the meetings after Miller refused to call them.

The board had sought advice in the controversy from its attorney, Deputy County Counsel Thomas G. Hendricks. Hendricks informed the district by letter that the sessions in question were legal, since a majority of the board had the power to call a meeting if the chairman would not do so.

The board also pointed out last night that Winters himself had asked for the Aug. 29 meeting and requested board members to attend because the executive director needed approval of a grant application for federal funds for a community park by a Sept. 2 deadline. "He called it and now he says it was illegal," said Phillips.

In his press release, Miller also charged that a "local profit-motivated development team" was attempting to take over the district. "This group feels it can. . . disrupt the redevelopment process by utilizing the district for personal gain," he said.

Although Miller did not mention the group by name, he apprently referred to the Marin Urban Development Association, a citizens' group, which has sought, unsuccessfully, to become the community's official developer to complete redevelopment of Marin City. Williams and Mrs. McKinney are members of MUDA.

MUDA and segments of the community have been engaged in a long-running feud with Shepherd of the housing authority and redevelopment agency over what firm or group should be charged with redevelopment of the community. Shepherd and his board of directors have selected an outside firm. Miller is a supporter of Shepherd's views.

Miller also accused the board of meeting "in secret" last week to elect Phillips chairman, "in defiance of a resolution passed in 1971," stating that election of chairman was to be held in December. Phillips was chosen to replace C. J. Williams who died in June.

Although accusing the board of appointing persons who did not live in the district, Miller did not say what appointments had been illegal in this respect.

He concluded by saying that "it is time the citizens of Marin City decide what kind of government they desire" and said the recall would give them that opportunity.

The other directors declined to answer Miller's allegations until he has presented "some proof to back them up" but brought a few charges of their own against Miller.

They accused the vice chairman of drawing $75 out of the district's bank account for a Halloween party which had not been authorized by the board and said he had often contradicted board directives and told district employees to ignore them. They voted to remove Miller's name from the district's check cashing card, making it impossible for him to draw money from the district account.

Phillips stated that Miller, who is a member of the housing authority board, had "twice invited another member of that board, Mr. Phillip Erhlich, outside during meetings and threatened to blacken both his eyes." Phillips said, "I think the board of supervisors should be made aware of his conduct."

The board also took on Winters, saying he is not doing his job properly.

"There are so many things he (Winters) should be on top of that he has let go unattended," Mrs. McKinney said. "He's been here two years and yet, not one of the district's employees has a job description."

The board also charged that Winters had:

1. Failed to show up at board meetings.

2. Signed a lease to rent office space in the Manzanita Center to the redevelopment agency's project area committee without authorization, later told the board he was negotiating for an annual rent of approximately $1,200, then went ahead on its own to rent the office space for $600.

3. Had not taken steps to have the district's boundaries extended, although repeatedly told to "get moving on this" by the board.

4. Had been derelict in his duty to see that the Manzanita Center was kept in proper condition.

5. Had authorized payment to some employees for times when they were not on the job.

6. Was guilty of conduct "unbecoming someone in his position" and had been "nasty and mean" to persons who dealt with him on various matters.

PLAN

"absolutely no time to be lost" in adopting it. As for the financial loss it would mean to land speculators, he said, "they took a risk, and they suffer by that risk."

Paul H. Sedway of San Rafael, whose firm drafted the plan, cautioned that "what may be legally possible may not be politically feasible." Wornum added that ABAG was "run by politicians."

Objecting to details of the plan, John Rannells of the Tomales Bay Association said its earmarking of 1,100 acres in his area for development would allow too much development. At most, only 800 acres could be developed and still preserve steep, scenic lands, he said.

Daniel Davis of Petaluma, speaking for the Environmental Law Fund, said maps showing how the plan would work were "so vague that they were "totally inadequate."

Marshall property owner Herbert H. Angress, who has proposed development of 108 acres, objected that the plan incorrectly assumed open space could continue to be used as grazing lands. The economic return, which he said came to roughly $2 an acre a year after taxes, was too low to justify continued use of grazing land.

Robert P. Danielson of the William Kent Estate Co. objected to the plan's proposal that further development of the company's property at Seadrift be prohibited because of erosion and earthquake dangers. He argued the development was safe.

The prospect of buying up open space in West Marin was raised by Rudolph R. Platzek of Terra Linda, ABAG's planning director. Since the coast was a national asset, the government could consider buying it, he said.

Concessions like Camp Curry in Yosemite could be provided by the government to serve visitors, Platzek suggested.

The next hearing on the plan will be at 7:30 p.m. Thursday in the Sonoma County Administration Center, Santa Rosa.

Tavern Marriage On The Rocks

A marriage which got a sudsy blessing in a San Anselmo bar almost two years ago has not proved to be a lasting one.

In December 1970, Charles Hughes, 48-year-old San Rafael painter, took Betty Baily, 40, of San Anselmo, as his bride in the first wedding ever held in the Escrow Bar.

Toasts followed a five-minute ceremony, held in the light of the Hamm's beer and Calvart whisky signs.

This week Mrs. Lewis filed a petition in Marin Superior Court for dissolution on the customary "irreconcilable differences" grounds. She said she is living on welfare and asked attorney fees from her self-employed husband but no alimony.

Talk For McGovern

Former U.S. Sen. Ralph Yarborough of Texas will speak on behalf of Democratic presidential nominee George S. McGovern at 6:30 p.m. tomorrow at a fund-raising cocktail party and supper at the Kentfield home of Lola Hanzel, 100 Goodhill Road. The event is sponsored by the Marin McGovern for President Committee.

Health Products

MENLO PARK, Calif. (UPI) —Worldwide sales of health products are expected to more than double in this decade from $30 billion in 1971 to $65 billion by 1980, the Stanford Research Institute reports after a study of markets and trends in 100 countries.

said of tentative proposal worked out with Hanoi.

After Nixon spoke Thursday night, Democrat McGovern, campaigning in Michigan, said the administration's peace plan is "falling apart." McGovern added that he was "highly skeptical the Nixon administration will ever restore peace to Indochina."

After the Chicago appearance, Nixon visits Tulsa, Okla., and Providence, R.I., for airport rallies before returning to the White House tonight.

Nixon met with his Vietnam negotiator, Henry A. Kissinger, before leaving the White House this morning. Kissinger then walked with Nixon from the President's office to a helicopter on the south lawn.

Nixon told his TV audience that a "major breakthrough" had been achieved with "substantial agreement" on most of the war issues.

He said he is "ready to conclude" a settlement which would meet his objectives for an all-Indochina cease-fire; release of the prisoners of war and the right of self determination for the 17 million South Vietnamese.

"There are still some issues to be resolved," Nixon said. "There are still some provisions of the agreement which must be clarified so that all ambiguities will be removed. I have insisted that these be settled before we sign the final agreement."

be broadcast at 10:30 p.m. EST on CBS.

McGovern scrubbed an appearance in Lansing, Mich., and another in East Chicago, Ind., to spend time on the preparation and taping of his Vietnam speech. Mankiewicz indicated it would be a major statement.

McGovern, a minister-turned-politician, told the clergymen in Grand Rapids that the Nixon admministration was morally lax because of alleged political espionage and failure to end the war.

Yesterday as McGovern was shaking hands along a fence at Kellogg Airport in Jackson, Mich., a young man wearing Nixon buttons told him:

The young man leaned forward.

"Kiss my —-," McGovern said.

"The same to you," the startled man replied.

DEVELOP

tricts will receive added income from developments elsewhere, particularly in Northgate which is in the high school district but not within the elementary school district).

The school districts' "fact sheet" says: "Local taxes provide 75 per cent of the revenues of the school districts. The maximum authorized tax rates available to the board of education are already being levied."

The current year's budget of San Rafael Elementary School District totals $5,661,985, of which $2,915,939 comes from property taxes. This is 51.5 per cent from property taxes. The high school district's current year's budget totals $6,007,598, of which $4,527,334 comes from property taxes. This is 70.3 per cent from property taxes. (The high school district will benefit next fiscal year from increased tax revenues resulting from new construction in Northgate, including the Sears Roebuck and Co. store.)

San Rafael High School District this year levied its maximum general purpose tax rate of $1.75 per $100 assessed valuation. The elementary district has a maximum general purpose rate of $2.25, of which it levied $1.49. (Total rates are $2.335 for the high school district and $3.41 for the elementary district.)

"The school districts stand to lose, not gain, if redevelopment is not carried out," declared Greene, since declining sales and closing of business downtown will force downward appraisals of downtown property.

Alarmed by the schools' campaign, carried out through the P-TAs, the chamber of commerce yesterday published a flyer addressed to "businessmen, property owners and citizens" urging attendance at the city council's continued hearing on the redeveopment plan Monday at 7 p.m. in the city council chamber.

"Now is the time for businessmen and property owners to speak out and not be outlobbied by the P-TA, CTA and school unions," it declared.

Rain Today, But Skies Will Clear

The dying gasps of typhoon Olga today brought intermittent rain to Marin and Southern Sonoma along with predictions of snow for higher parts of the Sierra.

The storm center was passing over the Pacific Northwest. The Bay Area was expected to catch only the fringes of the disturbance that originated in the tropics of the Pacific Ocean, weather experts said.

Eastward passage of the storm was expected to bring clearing skies during the weekend. U.S. forecasters predicted 40 per cent chance of rain tonight and 30 per cent tomorrow.

By 8 a.m. today, Sausalito had received .09 inch of rain, Woodacre .1 inch, Novato .07 inch and Petaluma .12 inch. San Rafael had .16 inch by 11 a.m.

JOSEPH LAZIO

Joseph Lazio, father of Frank P. Lazio of San Rafael and uncle of Mayor Joseph Alioto of San Francisco, died yesterday in a San Francisco Peninsula convalescent hospital after a long illness. He was 70.

A native of California, Lazio was a retired fish merchant.

He also is survived by a brother, Russell Lazio; a sister, Mary Lombardo, and five grandchildren.

New Novato Downtown Panel Doesn't Get Off The Ground

Novato's newly revamped downtown implementation committee committed organizational suicide yesterday at its first meeting.

City council members sat on the committee for the first time and joined other members in requesting that the committee be reconstituted without them or be dissolved.

The meeting had an "Alice in Wonderland" touch as the councilmen were voting to request themselves as members of the city council to remove themselves as committee members.

"With the city council involved it's a hopeless sort of arrangement," said chairman Charles Lewis.

Planning Commissioner James Picchi, a committee member, said the committee was advisory to the council and councilmen serving on it would be "advisers to themselves."

Councilmen voted in September to appoint the entire council to the committee. Lewis at the time wondered how independent the committee could be with councilmen on it.

The committee, with 12 members, five of them councilmen, was formed to make recommendations to the council on how to go about applying the city's plan for the downtown area.

Member George Barnwell made the motion that the committee request the council to reconstitute the committee without councilmen as members or dissolve it. The committee should be advisory with a regular meeting time and place and meetings should be opened to the public, Barnwell moved.

Councilmen indicated a new committee would be formed.

Members agreed the downtown plan would have to be restudied since it was based on an expected population of 170,000 by 1990 and the aim of the new general plan is to hold population at 90,000 by 1990.

The downtown plan calls for a regional shopping center but Lewis said a lower population makes such a center unlikely.

The Pinheiro Ranch and nearby land north of downtown has been designated for a regional shopping center, but committee members believed it unlikely that sufficient land for such a center could be aggregated.

Mayor F. Wayne Sartain, Philip Coady and Marin County Planning Commissioner William B. Lynch were absent.

S.F. State Names Yorke's Successor

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Don Scoble, 35, has been named director of public affairs for California State University, San Francisco.

Scoble, an assistant to President S. I. Hayakawa since 1968, Thursday succeeded Harvey F. Yorke, who was recently appointed chief of information services in Sacramento.

Joint-Use Opposition Reaffirmed

Novato city officials had little quarrel last night with the concept of the proposed countywide general plan, but restated opposition to joint civilian-military use at Hamilton Air Force Base.

City councilmen, planning commissioners and an audience of eight including County Supervisor Arnold M. Baptiste gathered at the community house to hear the plan reviewed, third in a series of hearings being given in Marin communities.

"The city has opposed joint use and you do not follow this. You do not take a position," Mayor F. Wayne Sartain said to county planning director Werner Von Gundell.

The county proposal is to defer consideration of joint use pending an environmental impact study. "If you adopt the countywide plan you can add a rider stating your position on Hamilton," Von Gundell said.

Councilman George C. Quesada said neither the Marin board of supervisors nor Marin County Aviation Commission should be making decisions on the use of Hamilton. "The use of Hamilton Air Force Base should be made by Novato," he said.

Sol Silver, county chief of advance planning, said it has been assumed that Hamilton will be used primarily by the military, and if the military leaves, use should be reevaluated.

The revised Novato area general plan, now in the hearing stages, and the proposed countywide plan are generally consistent, Silver said.

One of the differences is that the Novato plan is aimed at a populalion of 90,000 by the year 1990 while the county plan aims at 70,000, he said.

Planning commissioner James Picchi said the county's proposed rate of growth "just isn't realistic at all," and Silver replied it was wiser to go slow on growth than "to let the market produce all the housing it can."

Von Gundell said that rapid, uncontrolled growth "does have serious repercussions in a community" and is expensive in terms of schools, police and fire protection. "Slower growth makes for a better community and is much less disruptive."

Quesada moved that the council adopt the plan's concept of three population corridors for Marin — eastern urban, inland rural and coastal recreation — and the introductory sentences to three broad goals, but there was no second to his motion.

Silver said the county planning staff will present the plan at 8 p.m. Monday at Nicasio School and at 8 p.m. Wednesday at West Marin School at Point Reyes Station.

The Novato Planning Commission will conduct its third public hearing on the revised Novato area general plan at 8 p.m. Monday at the Novato community house.

The Novato City Council went into closed session to consider appointment of a city planning commissioner to succeed James L. Gordon. No appointment was made.

Planning Session

San Anselmo's citizen advisory committee on the general plan will meet at 8 p.m. Nov. 13 in the Robson House at Robson-Harrington Park, committee chairman Pieter Toal has announced.

CHOICEST BLOOMS FOR THE BIG SHOW

Norman Stroyd of Fairfax, a professional gardener whose hobby is raising chrysanthemums on a quarter-acre at his home on Bolinas Avenue, lovingly loaded his fairest flowers into his van yesterday for a trip to Oakland. The occasion was the National Chrysanthmum Society's annual show, opening today at the Lakeside Park Garden Center and to run through Sunday. Stroyd entered 120 blooms, the fairest he could find among his 550 plants, some of which suffered damage in recent rains.

Redevelopment Plan Hearing Set Monday

A public hearing on Corte Madera's proposed redevelopment plan will be held at town hall at 7:30 p.m. Monday.

Town planning consultants Sedway and Cooke will present proposals on the area to be affected by redevelopment.

At its Aug. 30 meeting, the town planning commission recommended an area including the 78-acre parcel on which developer Ernest W. Hahn proposes a regional shopping center and the Muzzi property to the east, plus acerage to the south and northwest expected to be involved in road expansion for the shopping complex.

Public agencies which have already announced they will oppose the redevelopment plans include the Larkspur-Corte Madera School District and the Marin Community College District.

Under redevelopment, or bond-financed public improvement, assessed valuation in the target area is frozen, with taxes from any improvements going to the agency for bond redemption.

In Corte Madera's case, this means that taxes to be paid by the shopping center would go toward retiring the bonds, instead of contributing to local taxing agencies, such as school districts and the town's general fund.

The town council, sitting as well as the redevelopment agency, will preside at Monday's hearing. Also on Monday's council agenda is a proposal to extend the town's building moratorium four months, and a report on revenue sharing by Town Treasurer Frank Bigley.

Artist Displays

Oils and watercolors by San Rafael artist Walt Green will be on display through Wednesday at the Social Security Gallery, 549 Northgate Drive, San Rafael. Visiting hours are from 8:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. Monday through Friday.

Judge Orders Viet Vet To Undergo Drug Tests

Judge Henry J. Broderick of Marin Superior Court ordered Charles E. Bonner, 25, of San Francisco to the state facility.

Former Judge Thomas F. Keating had earlier suspended the criminal proceeding to determine if Bonner is an addict and Judge E. Warren McGuire ruled that he is.

Bonner was convicted in April of assault with a deadly weapon and robbery. He and Henry Johnson, 32, also of San Francisco, were accused of shooting a Lagunitas man and beating his wife Jan. 20 in an apparent search for drugs and cash.

The fleeing gunmen were captured in Fairfax after a 100-mile-per-hour chase down Sir Francis Drake Boulevard.

Johnson failed to make court appearances and is being sought on a warrant of arrest.

Bonner is an Army veteran of Vietnam who began using opium while overseas, according to his probation report. Upon his return to the United States he developed a heroin habit that reached an expense of $150 a day and required hourly injections, the report said.

Rail Rights-Of-Way Purchases Are Backed

A committee of Golden Gate Bridge District directors yesterday recommended buying abandoned railroad rights-of-way in Mill Valley and Corte Madera.

A public hearing on an application for a federal loan for the purchase was set at 8 p.m. on Dec. 14 in Toll Plaza offices. The full board will consider the recommendation on Nov. 10.

The rights-of-way long have been eyed by the district for future transit use, but the narrow strips of land are in danger of being sold by the railroad or reverting back to descendants of the original owners.

The transportation committee appealed to the City of Mill Valley not to protest the district's application for the federal loan. Any local opposition probably would kill the prospect of a loan, committee members agreed.

The city's master plan for the area calls for abandonment of the railroad right-of-way because it slices through the future small craft harbor and a recreation area and behind a new school.

The committee directed the district staff to seek a "memorandum of understanding" with the city to ward off its opposition. The agreement should promise the city its views will be considered, the committee said.

San Francisco Supervisor Peter Tamaras said the district would do nothing injurious to the city's welfare. The district's interest was in "a sglution best for us and best for them," he said.

Gen. Mgr. Dale W. Luehring noted that the district's long-range transit plan no longer depended on use of the Mill Valley right-of-way as a truck line. But it may be needed as a feeder line, he added.

The likely alternate to using the Mill Valley line as the trunk, Luehring said, was to run a transit route up Highway 101 from the Richardson Bay Bridge to Corte Madera.

The route would depend on using the railroad bed from Corte Madera north to Novato. Corte Madera town officials assured the district that their plan to use part of the right-of-way for a road still will leave room for transit.

Board president Lowell Edington of Napa County, noting that estimates range from $1 million to $6 million for the abandoned right-of-way, called a closed-door session to hear new appraisals. The new information was not disclosed when the committee reconvened 30-minutes later.

The committee also recommended that Kaiser Engineers be asked how much complete appraisals for the right-of-way would cost.

The transportation committee also discussed the probability that planning to refine the long-range transit plan will not be ready next June as asked by the Legislature last year. A bill will be needed to extend the deadline.

The committee also was told that the San Francisco Board of Supervisors soon will consider a proposal that district buses provide feeder bus service between the Ferry Building and the financial and Union Square areas.

Luehring, noting that district commuter buses already were filled to capacity, said that the feeder service in downtown San Francisco would encourage more commuters to use the Sausalito ferry.

Trial Set In Burglary Case

A jury trial for John Gregory Vigno, 20, of San Rafael on a burglary charge has been set for the week of Nov. 27.

Vigno is charged with the burglary of a home on Upper Road in Ross. Three rugs valued at $2,100 and television and stereo equipment valued at $900 were reportedly taken from the house April 16.

Pleads Guilty To Reduced Charge

Michael C. Wardell, 21, of Sebastopol, who had been charged with a felony, has pleaded guilty in Marin Municipal Court to a misdemeanor count of trying to burglarize a San Anselmo market.

Sentencing was set for Dec. 11.

Wardell was arrested Sept. 2 by officers who received an anonymous call about someone trying to break into the Bill and Beth Grocery Store at 1513 San Anselmo Avenue. Police said they found Wardell trying to enter a rear window.

Trustee Areas Redistricting On Board List

The Marin County Board of Education has invited members of the County Committee on School District Organization to its meeting Tuesday at 8 p.m. at the county schools office to discuss redistricting trustee areas.

Asst. Supt. Robert E. Spain said the committee decided at its meeting Wednesday to proceed with reapportionment of the county board's areas under the one-man one-vote edict.

The committee intends to draw up the new lines in time for the April election, said Spain, when three county trustees' terms on the board expire - those of Patrick W. Pollock, Arnold Dolcini Jr. and Glen E. Robinson.

The board also will be asked to approve a children's center at Pilgrim Park, San Rafael, a federally funded project that has been delayed for 18 months awaiting state approval.

Marinites Display

The Upstairs Gallery, 1457 Grant Avenue, San Francisco, is featuring works of two Marin artists, painter David Nacamulli of Mill Valley, sculptor Peter Ronzone. A tapestry by the latter's wife, Barbara, is also on display.

Taiwan To Get Training Subs

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Nationalist China will receive two World War II vintage submarines from the United States for use as training vessels.

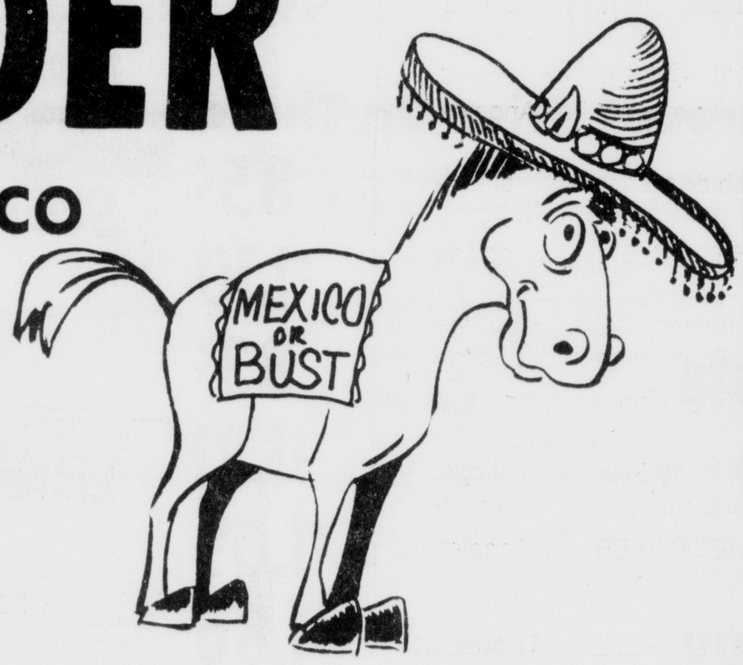

Defense Department sources said yesterday the diesel-electric attack submarines would be sold to Taiwan for about $400,000. Last March, the U.S. Navy started training 82 Nationalist Chinese officers and enlisted men at the Navy submarine school at New London, Conn.

The submarines will be the first underwater vessels in Chiang Kai-shek's navy.

Black Canyon Park May Be 'Barbier Park'

San Rafael's Black Canyon Park soon may be renamed Harry A. Barbier Memorial Park.

News of the possible name change —aimed at honoring the veteran city councilman who died Sunday — came at ceremonies yesterday in which the federal government dedicated the Nike Battery 93 site to the city. The parcel is adjacent to Black Canyon and about one mile northeast of the downtown area.

Vice Mayor Fred E. Jensen said the missile site would become part of the Black Canyon facility and added the council would consider renaming the entire area in Barbier's memory.

In brief ceremonies, Rep. William S. Mailliard, R-Sixth District, handed over deeds to the Nike parcel to the city. Other officials at the sparsely attended dedication included Frank E. Sylvester of the Department of the Interior and Maj. Gen. A. E. Milloy, chief of staff of the U.S. Sixth Army.

Mailliard — praised by Sylvester as helping place more than 100,000 acres of state lands into open space —told the group he had hiked Black Canyon 40 years ago.

The congressman said President Nixon's Legacy of Parks program deserved credit for the deeding of the $45,000 parcel to the city.

The land became available last January when the government declared it surplus. The city applied for it several weeks later.

In concluding the ceremonies, Mailliard read a brief note from Nixon lauding the "preservation of our priceless heritage."

Films On Nature To 'Be Available

Elementary schoolchildren will be able to see redwood forests, streams and salt-water marshes in three 10-minute films being produced by the Marin Audubon Society.

The films will feature naturalist Elizabeth Terwilliger and young children in informal exploration of the area environment. The first two films will be available in January, one showing a salt-water marsh, the other a redwood forest and fresh-water spring to a sandy beach.

The third film, to be shot in the spring, will show a ravine trail, chaparral, grassland and wildflowers.

Copies of the films will be available from Standard Oil of California's public relations department in San Francisco, which furnished a grant for them. The films may be borrowed on a short-term basis or bought at cost by school districts.

Heroin Case Sentence Given

Two men, arrested after a hitchhiker reported seeing them use heroin while he rode with them, have been sentenced to the 70 days already served while awaiting trial.

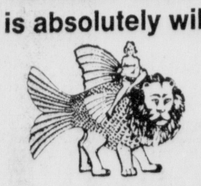

Judge Samuel W. Gardiner also placed Leroy Glenn Jeffery, 19, of Vancouver, Canada, and Harry Woodford Swingler, 19, of nearby Surry, on one year of unsupervised probation. The sentence was arranged in a plea bargain, after which the two pleaded guilty Wednesday to possessing heroin.

They were arrested Aug. 23 on Highway 101 by sheriff's deputies on information from the hitchhiker that they had heroin and injecting equipment in a refrigerator in a house trailer behind their car.

Deputies said they found six bundles of white powder in the refrigerator.

NO ON OBSCENITY! ON CENSORSHIP!

Proposition No. 18, a Statewide Initiative Statute, is the most drastic censorship law ever attempted in California.

It will appear on your November 7th General Election ballot under the title "Obscenity Legislation."

MAGAZINES THREATENED BY CENSORSHIP

Many of America's most popular magazines would be censored. Three recent issues of Time would have been banned because of art reproductions and news photos expressly prohibited by No. 18.

Unbelievable? It's true! It's raw censorship, and it's coming to California, NOW!

PRESS WARNS AGAINST NO. 18

"It's a bad case of overkill... The way would be clear to set up little censorship boards all over the State." — KNXT (CBS) Television, Los Angeles

"It deserves... the vigorous opposition of the librarians, educators, lawyers, district attorneys and church groups..." — THE CHRONICLE, San Francisco

"Local jurisdictions would be free to have widely differing standards... the State would become a patchwork of varying laws... Proposition No. 18 is too extreme." — KPIX Television, San Francisco

"... the most drastic censorship law ever proposed in the State... paintings, sculpture, records and even libraries would be affected if Proposition No. 18 were to pass." — HERALD-EXAMINER, Los Angeles

FILM CLASSICS BANNED! TV SHOWS BLACKED OUT!

"TRUE GRIT"

"LOVE STORY"

"ROMEO AND JULIET"

It would ban the re-run of these and scores of other films on TV.

And it would also prevent the broadcasting of episodes of "Marcus Welby, M.D." and other television serials and plays which ran afoul of the Initiative's harsh strictures.

Transylvania Coal Mine Blast Kills 36

VIENNA (UPI) —The Romanian news agency Agerpres said Thursday that 36 men men died in a coal mine explosion in Transylvania, one year and three days after 45 men died in a similar explosion in the same area.

Agerpres said the latest explosion occurred at the Uricani coal mine in Hunedoara County, Romanian Transylvania. It did not say what caused the explosion.

Schools Chief Supports Plan For Student To Join Board

By PAT PERRY

A proposal to seat a student on the Tamalpais High School District board has drawn enthusiastic support from the district's superintendent, Wilber D. Hawkins, and the district's management council, composed of administrators, teachers and students.

The five elected trustees will be asked at their meeting Monday night to consider the proposal.

The student wouldn't be allowed to vote on matters before the board, not having been elected by taxpayers. But the student would have an advisory vote, which would be recorded, and would have all the rights of trustees, except access to confidential matters and attending closed sessions.

Bonbright told the management council at its meeting this week that a district-wide student advisory board would give students a voice in district affairs.

"Many things happen at the district level which do affect the students," he said. "Unfortunately, there has never been an organized method of student government at the district level."

Bonbright told the Independent-Journal the proposal was revised and approved by student government at all the district's five high schools — Redwood, Tamalpais, Sir Francis Drake, San Andreas and Mewah Mountain.

The student advisory board he proposes would have 14 members, four each from Tamalpais, Drake and Redwood, and one each from the two alternative schools. The board's president would sit on the trustee board.

"One of the biggest problems is students don't have faith," said Bonbright, "but I think the board of trustees' recognition of the students is phenomenal."

As to whether a student would be bored sitting through the long board meetings, Bonbright said, "I think it would be his or her responsibility to sit through, thick and thin."

The most radical change in the Tamalpais district in recent years has been its decentralization, with the three major high schools gaining more autonomy. The idea of students joining in a district wide venture might appear to contradict that concept but, Bonbright says, "I don't think the students are aware of decentralization, besides, the needs of the superintendent and the administrators might be different to the students' needs. We need a stronger voice at the district level."

Trio To Exhibit At Art Gallery

A meet-the-artists opening will be given from 5 to 8 p.m. tomorrow at Torrance Galleries, 128 Greenfield Avenue, San Anselmo.

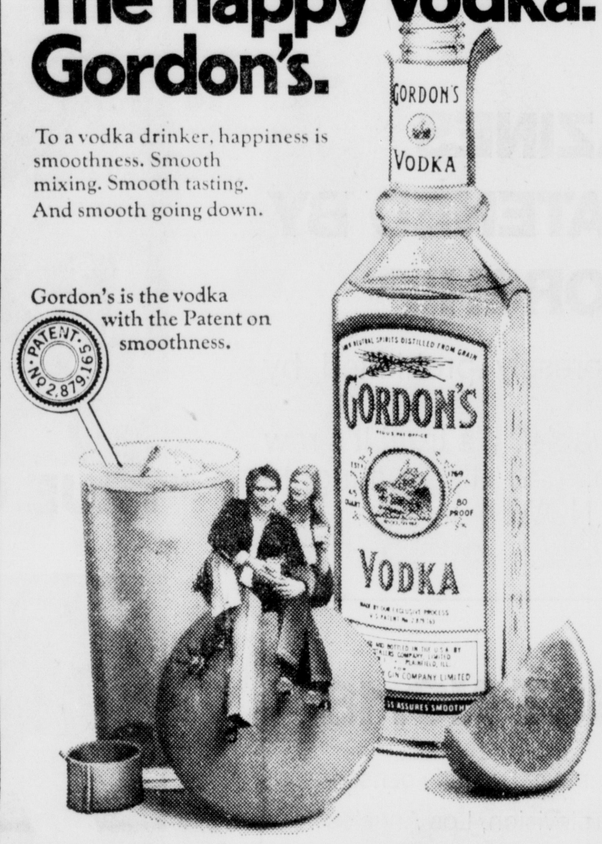

On hand to greet visitors will be Robert Bell, who will have watercolors on display; Melita Coombs, whose oils and pastels will be shown, and Andrew Lester, whose photographs will be shown.

The gallery will also be open from noon to 5 p.m. Sunday. Regular gallery hours are 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. Wednesdays through Saturday.

Corte Madera Gets Full Fire Protection

Corte Madera has now 'round-the-clock fire protection with the addition this week of six new full-time firemen.

Until Wednesday, Corte Madera had only received daytime protection from full-time firemen, with volunteers called out at night.

A fire in East Corte Madera last September in which two houses were destroyed and a third badly damaged was blamed in part on the delay of fire trucks in reaching the scene. And it led to fire budget increases by the city council.

The six additional firemen, who have been in training for the past few months, bring the town's force to 11 men, including the chief and assistant chief. Firemen will work on a rotating basis, on call 24 hours a day.

However, the town's second firehouse in East Corte Madera will remain unmanned. Cousultants hired after the September fire called it useless, too small and improperly located. There are no current plans to place men in the station, which is used as a garage for two fire trucks.

Carmichael Sees Rioting For Jobs

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Stokely Carmichael, a black activist of the civil rights movement in the 1960s, says white workers will riot in the streets for jobs in a few years if President Nixon is reelected.

"The inflation is sky-rocketing and Nixon is doing nothing about it," said Carmichael in an interview with Paul H. Wyche Jr. of National Black News Service. Carmichael, the former chairman of the Student Nonviolent Coordinating Committee, left the United States to live in West Africa in 1969.

Senator Reveals Contractor Scheme

WASHINGTON (UPI) —Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis., says the Pentagon has a new plan already in draft form which would double profit rates of defense contractors with taxpayers footing the bill.

Proxmire said Thursday "the Pentagon is giving defense contractors an opportunity to use loaded dice in a procurement game that has already been rigged in favor of the contractors. As usual, the taxpayers will be asked to ante up in order to pay the higher stakes." The Pentagon said its plan would result in only a small increase in profits.

Car Lot Is Approved Over Cotati Protest

Despite charges that the development would be a blight on Cotati, the city council last night upheld a use permit for Lazy Me Motors, a used car lot.

A group of residents appealed planning commission approval of the permit, but managed only one supporting vote from the council.

Councilmen Geoffrey Dunham and Frank P. Dolinsek endorsed the permit, while Stephen Laughlin opposed it. Mayor Annette Lombardi abstained since her family owns the property at 7981 Old Redwood Highway. Councilman Herbert Miller was basent.

Dolinsek said the used car lot would be a good producer of sales tax revenue for the city and Dunham believed the council had no real grounds on which to reject the permit. He said landscaping requirements and the strict sign ordinance would improve the appearance of the lot.

Lot owner Robert Elliot abandoned the property last year after pressure from the council to improve its appearance. He had moved temporarily to Petaluma.

The Cotati City Council Also:

FIREARMS — Adopted a resolution prohibiting the firing of guns within the city limits.

AMENDMENTS — Approved minor amendments to the general plan.

WELL — Heard a report that extensive testing for the new water well in the Holiday Park subdivision showed it would produce quality water in abundance.

CROSSING — Heard a request for a stop sign on East Cotati Avenue at Adrian Drive for the safety of children walking to school, but asked that the Cotati School District board consider using crossing guards instead.

PROCLAMATION — Heard Mayor Lombardi approve a proclamation marking November as "Good Dog Neighbor Month," despite her objections to "sexist descriptions of dogs as "man's best friend" and the disregard for cats as also being loving pets.

SUBDIVISION — Was prepared tohold a public hearing on the application of Morrison Homes for a 13-acre subdivision at 1040 East Cotati Avenue, but no representative of the developer appeared.

Philippine Fish Export Record

MANILA (UPI)—Philippine exports of fish and other fishery products reached a record 29 million pesos ($4.15 million) in the first half of 1972, the Philippine Bureau of Fisheries reports.

Last year's exports for the same six-month period was only 16.7 million ($2.4 million) making the increase this year 73.6 per cent, said Fisheries Commissioner Andres M. Mane.

Jets Loaned To U.S. For Vietnam Use

WASHINGTON (UPI) —The Pentagon said today it is borrowing jet fighters from three other countries to beef up South Vietnam's air force quickly. It also said it was sending the South Vietnamese previously unscheduled C130 transports.

A Defense Department spokesman, Jerry W. Friedheim, said the purpose behind the program was to "enhance the possibilities" of a cease-fire in Vietnam and stability after the fighting stopped.

Friedheim gave no numbers of planes involved but other sources said the goal was to rush approximately 100 F5s and 32 C130s to Saigon before a cease-fire.

Friedheim said F5 fighters were being provided by South Korea, Nationalist China and Iran. He said deliveries already had started.

The fat-bellied C130s are being provided partly from U.S. National Guard units, Friedheim said.

The move was interpreted as a "carrot-and-stick" approach toward both Saigon and Hanoi.

Toward Saigon, there was the threat the air power buildup would be cut off if President Nguyen Van Thieu refused to go along with cease-fire terms.

Toward Hanoi there was the threat that unless a cease-fire agreement was completed soon, South Vietnam's air power would increase.

Boxer Funds From Park Party To Be Returned

Supervisorial candidate Barbara Boxer said today her campaign committee will return to San Anselmo all proceeds of a city-approved fund-raising party held Saturday in the Robson-Harrington Carriage House.

The move comes in an attempt to save the popular park from reverting to the Robson Trust, she said.

In granting approval for the event, as well as a similar party held last summer for former supervisorial candidate William J. Filante, the city violated the will governing use of the facility.

Robson Trust attorney Robert J. Dreher, in a letter mailed yesterday, asked the city to provide him with a complete account of political uses of the facility within ten days. If the city can show it approved political use as the result of an honest mistake, reversion of the facility is unlikely, he said.

Mrs. Boxer, a candidate for the second district seat on the board of supervisors, said she was "very concerned" abut the city's "honest mistake" in granting her campaign use of the house. "It seems to me that if I can obtain monies equal to the profit we made that night and give it to the city, then our fund-raising will have been nonprofit, and thus the city will be clear of at least one violation," she said.

Mrs. Boxer said about $400 was raised at the party, which was thrown in her behalf by Dorothy Blinder, wife of San Ansemo City Councilman Martin G. Blinder.

The candidate said she believed the flap was politically motivated. "The timing of the whole thing leads me to believe it has political motivations," she said. "The city knew about our party since last August."

Dreher, who interprets the will as exempting nonprofit uses, said today Mrs. Boxer's offer has little bearing on the issue. "The issue is the city's approval and the use itself," he said.

The 2.65-acre parcel was willed to San Anselmo in 1968 by the late Kernan Robson on condition the city pay back taxes and insurance, reserve use of the facility for park and playground purposes only, and not sell the land.

Third Satellite Aerial In Service

LONDON (UPI) — A third satellite communications aerial has been put into service at Goonhilly Downs in Cornwall, the British Post Office announced.

It said the new installation, valued at $5.6 million, makes Goonhilly "the world's first earth station to operate simultaneous commercial service through three satellites."

The new aerial, locked into Intelstat IV F2 satellite over the Atlantic, is providing telephone traffic between the United Kingdom and Jamaica and Trinidad, the Post Office said.

More Complaints On Welfare Fraud

SANTA ROSA (UPI) —Ten more criminal complaints charging welfare fraud were issued today by the Sonoma County district attorney, bringing to 177 the number of complaints issued since Jan. 1.

District Attorney John Hawks said the total amount of alleged overpayments to welfare recipients in the complaints issued this year is $173,016.

VOTE NO ON PROPOSITION NO. 20

Proposition No. 20—the so-called Coastal Initiative—doesn't make one dime available for new access roads to California's beaches, or for any expansion of camping, picnicking, boating, and other recreational facilities for the public.

Actually, Proposition No. 20 could clamp down on any new recreational development on the beaches by public agencies for as long as five years, just as it could stop a lot owner from building a home on his property, or a city from building a sewer treatment plant.

It imposes a virtual moratorium on building for any purpose—public or private—within a permit area that extends as far inland as Sacramento and Stockton. It does this by superimposing a time-consuming, cumbersome new permit procedure, controlled by appointed State Commissioners, on top of existing local permit procedures; and by allowing any person—who need not even be a resident of California—to tie up in the courts, without even posting a bond, any proposed project, large or small.

All of the California shoreline up to the mean high tide is publicly owned by the State, or if privately owned, is subject to a public trust.

Of the half mile land area along the Pacific Ocean, more than 75 per cent is in open space and more than 41 per cent is in public ownership.

But only a small fraction of the Coast—less than 1 per cent—has been opened to the public for camp grounds, picnic areas and accessible parks.

The problem is to get to the beach.

Proposition No. 20 doesn't unlock any of this vast area for the public enjoyment—it does just the opposite. It can prevent development of beach parks by public agencies. It can lock up the beaches from the public.

North, South In Viet 'Land Grab'

SAIGON (UPI) —Three major battles were reported today in South Vietnam where both the North and South Vietnamese were trying to grab as much land as possible before any cease-fire goes into effect, field reports said. There were heavy casualties on both sides and many civilians were killed.

In one of the major battles, the South Vietnamese backed by U.S. planes captured the war battered town of Que Son on the central coast 345 miles northeast of Saigon and 30 miles south of Da Nang. A South Vietnamese spokesman said the 1,000-man attacking government force suffered "heavy casualties." Communist losses were reported as at least 81 dead.

In a second major fight the Communists struck back hard at the town of Hau Duc, 30 miles southwest of Que Son, and the battle took a heavy toll of civilians, field reports said. There were 95 civilians killed and wounded in addition to the military casualties, according to UPI reporter Edward Bassett.

The predawn battle left at least 29 Communists killed and South Vietnamese troops lost 15 dead and 20 wounded, military sources reported.

In the third major battle Saigon troops pushed into a Communist stronghold near An Loc, 50 miles north of Saigon, the first big clash of a South Vietnamese operation launched Aug. 19 to retake the vital Quan Loi airfield just east of the town. The two-day battle that ended today resulted in 194 Communists killed with government casualties placed at seven killed and 32 wounded.

The heavy fighting at Que Son and Hau Duc was significant because the towns are two points in the "Que Son triangle" which controls the infiltration routes below Da Nang, Vietnans second largest city.

Quan Loi's airfield is needed if the South Vietnamese want to recapture Communist-held Loc Ninh to the north. Loc Ninh is one of the six important towns in border areas still held after being captured in the Communist Easter offensive.

Fighting also continued in the Central Highlands mountains, where allied planes Thursday night slammed recently captured Duc Co ranger camp 25 miles southwest of Pleiku. UPI reporter Matt Franjola said two artillery pieces abandoned when the camp was overrun were knocked out by the planes. South Vietnamese rangers reported numerous contacts around the base during the day.

Murder Indictment Due Study

I-J Special Report

SAN FRANCISCO — The San Francisco Grand Jury will consider Monday a murder indictment in connection with the drug death of a San Francisco High School student whose body was dumped in a West Marin gully in April.

Inspector Gus M. Coreris of the San Francisco police homicide bureau said today the jury will be asked to charge Willie Joe Slocumb, 31, of San Francisco, with murder and furnishing drugs to a minor.

Slocumb was arrested Oct. 15 in Binghamton, N.Y., after being traced through Los Angeles and New York City, according to Coreris. Slocumb's sister lives in the upstate New York City, he said.

Coreris said Slocumb had been sought in connection with the murder of 17-year-old Carolyn Fay Mayfield, a junior at Balboa High School in San Francisco.

Her body was found April 22 in a gully off shoreline Highway three miles south of Stinson Beach. The Marin coroner's office said she died of a heroin overdose.

Investigators said she apparently went to a party in a San Francisco hotel room three days before her body was found. They said she may have had three different drugs during the evening.

After she died, her body was wrapped in a blanket and sheets from the hotel and driven in a station wagon to West Marin, according to investigators.

Shamrock Finally Freed From Santa Cruz Beach

SANTA CRUZ (UPI) —The Shamrock VI, a 120-foot two-masted sailing schooner, was successfully freed from the beach today after a 25-day effort.

The ship, then owned by Dr. Jeremiah John Wolohan of Kentfield, was washed aground in a squall Oct. 8 and was in danger of breaking up throughout the intervening weeks while painstaking efforts were made to pull her back into the water.

At high tide early today, with a couple of fishing boats tugging at the Shamrock VI with cables and a bulldozer shoving her from the beach, the vessel suddenly slipped away from the sand.

A cheer went up from the salvage crew which has been camping on the beach throughout the ordeal. The morning bracer of brandy-coffee was dumped from cups, and champagne was opened to celebrate.

The Shamrock's new owner, Rocco Cardinale, of Moss Landing, said he would check some leaks in the hull and then tow the ship to San Francisco. He bought the schooner for an undisclosed price from Wolohan shortly after the grounding.

Jobless Rate Unchanged; 4.8 Million Out Of Work

WASHINGTON (UPI) —The nation's unemployment rate remained unchanged in October at 5.5 per cent, but the number of persons with jobs went up 260,000, the government said today.

The Bureau of Labor Statistics (BLS) of the Labor Department said the jobless rate showed no improvement despite the increase in employment. It said that the higher number of jobs was offset by a continuing influx of new workers into the labor force.

October was the fifth consecutive month that unemployment had held at about 5.5 per cent after hovering around 6 per cent for 19 consecutive months.

Coming four days before the presidential election, the report's possible impact on voters was difficult to assess.

White House Press Secretary Ronald L. Ziegler said, "We are pleased by the continued strong rise in employment. Total civilian employment is at an all-time high. There are more people on payrolls today than ever before in the history of this country. That's encouraging."

"These figures are deceptive and misleading," McGovern's headquarters said. "Two million more people are unemployed now than when Mr. Nixon took office. These meager gains cannot offset that truth."

In today's report, the BLS said the number of unemployed workers remained unchanged in October at 4.8 million, while the number of workers with jobs hit 82.5 million with the 260,000 increase.

There was little or no change in the jobless rates for most categories of workers: adult men 3.9 per cent; adult women, 5.5 per cent; white workers 5 per cent; blacks 10.1 per cent; heads of households, 3.4 per cent, and married men, 2.8 per cent.

But joblessness among teenagers dropped from 16.5 per cent down to 15.3 per cent. The rate for workers in service occupations declined from 7.3 to 6.2 per cent. But unemployment among construction workers increased from 9.2 up to 10.6 per cent.

Joblessness among Vietnam era veterans dipped slightly — from 6.6 in September to 6.4 per cent, which was below the non-veteran rate of 6.6 per cent for the same age group.

Vitamin E May Aid Gum Disease

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Heavy doses of vitamin E may help fight gum disease that causes most tooth loss in adults, a University of California researcher said yesterday.

Dr. Jo Max Goodson of the university's San Francisco medical center said production of chemicals involved in gum disease was cut back by giving patients 30 times the amount of vitamin E estimated to be the normal daily requirement.

At the end of 21 days the amount of inflammatory fluid around the patients' teeth was significantly decreased," Goodson said in a university news release.

TOYS FOR TINY TIM — Marine Sgt. George W. Rochester turns to watch Robert Collins (right), "Tiny Tim's Christmas" coordinator and San Rafael fireman Reid Mellor unload toys for tots barrels. A new name has been chosen for the annual effort to make sure there are toys under all Marin's Christmas trees and food on the holiday table, but the spirit's the name.

Drive For Happy Holiday For Needier Children Is Under Way

"Tiny Tim's Christmas" is the new name this year for community effort that for years has provided toys and a Christmas dinner for Marin's needier children.

Robert Collins, a young man who has led the program for three years, said "Tiny Tim's Christmas" will again be a volunteer effort involving many groups.

Huge barrels in which new and good used toys can be placed went out this week, delivered by Marine Corps Reserves under their Toys for Tots program.

All Marin fire stations, McDonald's restaurants and Sierra National Bank branches will be drop-off points for toy donations, as well as the Tiny Tim headquarters in San Anselmo at 647 San Anselmo Avenue.

Also participating in the drive will be Emporium employees, radio station KNBR, Scouts, various clubs and groups as well as individual volunteers, Collins said.

In addition to trying to provide a choice of toys for any child who needs them, "Tiny Tim's Christmas" will also attempt to provide fixings for a festive holiday dinner for needy families.

Nonperishable foods, such as cranberry sauce, canned pumpkin and vegetables, cake mixes, juices and desserts, may be dropped off at the San Anselmo center or collected through various school programs.

Collins hopes a frozen turkey or canned ham will be on hand for each family, "but this is our major problem," he said. Funds which helped with these purchases last year are not available this year, he explained.

"We will have to be supported this year entirely by the community," Collins said.

Turkey and ham are the only part of the program for which money is needed.

Donations, which are tax deductible, may be made to Tiny Tim's Christmas at the center in San Anselmo.

When the toys and food are collected, the county Department of Social Services, Red Cross, Marin Volunteer Bureau and other organizations will refer families in need to the center, Collins explained.

On Dec. 21 and 22 the center will turn into a "combination toy and food store," where parents will be allowed to choose a certain number of toys from shelves and food to make up a dinner.

Collins said the program is taken on so "that Christmas will be celebrated by all the children of Marin."

10 Drivers Sentenced For Drinking

Ten persons have been sentenced in Marin Municipal Court for drunken driving.

Sentenced Monday by Judge Peter Allen Smith was John David Davies, 32, of 118 B West Street, Sausalito, arrested July 10 on Highway 101, placed on probation for one year and fined $302.

Sentenced Tuesday by Judge Robert A. Smallman were:

Terry Lee Debardeleben, 20, of Pacifica, arrested June 9 on Highway 101, placed on probation for six months and fined $302.

Robert Parker Seal, 33, of Tamarack Drive, San Geronimo, arrested Sept. 18 in San Rafael, placed on probation for one year and ordered to work 10 days for the Marin County Parks and Recreation Department.

Sentenced Wednesday by Judge Smallman were:

Robert Earl Williams, 47, of 108 Oak Drive, San Rafael, arrested Sept. 22 on Highway 101, placed on probation for one year and fined $250.

Barbara Jean Keller, 35, of 6 Valencia Street, Apt. 11, San Rafael, arrested Sept. 15 on Highway 101, placed on probation for one year and fined $200.

John Edward Simpson, 37, of 1541 Chapman Lane, Petaluma, arrested Oct. 5, on Highway 101, placed on probation for one year and fined $250.

Virginia Sharp Mitchell, 51, of San Francisco, arrested Aug. 30 on Highway 101, placed on probation for one year, fined $302 and sentenced to five days in jail.

Robert Herrera Oliver, 19, of Santa Rosa, arrested Oct. 28 on Highway 101, placed on probation for one year and fined $200.

Peter John Braal IV, 32, of 33 Bay Vista Drive, Mill Valley, arrested Oct. 25 on Highway 101, placed on probation for one year and ordered to work 10 days for the public defender's office.

Edwin Dudley Coverly, 56, of 46 Estates Court, San Rafael, arrested Aug. 4 on Highway 101, placed on probation for one year, fined $302 and sentenced to five days in jail.

Syndicates Turn Toward Australia

SYDNEY, Australia (UPI) — International syndicates are turning more to Australia to peddle narcotics, Customs Minister Don Chip told Parliament.

Chip said seizures of hashish had doubled each year for the past four years. But that, he said was only about 10 per cent of the drugs smuggled into Australia.

California Man Acquitted Of Slaying On Ice Island

ALEXANDRIA, Va. (UPI) — A federal jury has acquitted Mario Jaime Escamilla, a government weather researcher, in the 1970 killing of a colleague on an ice island floating in the Arctic Ocean.

Escamilla, 35, of Santa Barbara, was charged with involuntary manslaughter in the death of Bennie B. Lightsy, the leader of a research team on the floating ice mass. According to testimony, Lightsy's death came during an argument over whether to give a drunken Eskimo some homemade raisin wine.

It was the second time Escamilla, a father of five, had stood trial on the charge. He was convicted last year but the ruling was overturned by an appeals court on the ground that U.S. District Court Judge Oren R. Lewis had improperly instructed the jury.

The jury of six men and six women deliberated for three hours Thursday before returning the not guilty verdict.

Escamilla had testified that Lightsy went to his trailer in July, 1970, to try to persuade him to give the Eskimo more wine. Escamilla said he armed himself with a rifle to scare Lightsy out of the trailer.

The prosecution contended that Escamilla made up the story after shooting Lightsy. It said Escamilla was grossly negligent with the rifle.

But Escamilla, who testified that the Eskimo had threatened his life when drunk, said he loaded and cocked the weapon but never touched the trigger.

"You have to bear in mind," said defense attorney William E. McDaniels, "that what is gross and negligent in the Eastern District of Virginia could be quite reasonable, and even necessary" on the ice island.

"There, there is no policeman to call, no place to go to get away from a threat. There is law there but no law enforcement. What happened in that camp was a breakdown of discipline and the fabric of law. How else was Escamilla to protect himself?" McDaniels said.

The first trial was attended by legal observers from many parts of the world because of the unique international questions of jurisdiction over an island that floats in the open sea.

FIRE CALLS

YESTERDAY:

11:53 p.m., San Rafael — False alarm from box at D Street and Antonette Avenue.

Reserved Parking Is Challenged

A San Rafael attorney, who was fined $5 for parking in a reserved stall at the Marin Hall of Justice, yesterday appealed to Marin Superior Court maintaining the reserved spaces are unconstitutional.

Randolph E. Heubach said he is challenging the privilege of close-in all-day parking enjoyed by judges, department heads and journalists.

The attorney's car was tagged May 24 in a slot reserved for the public defender's vehicle and challenged the ticket in Municipal Court. He had no luck and is wondering how successful he will be on appeal.

After all, the three judges on the appeal panel have reserved parking privileges, he said.

ARTIFICIAL FLUORIDATION WILL COST YOU PLENTY!

ARTIFICIAL FLUORIDATION IS SHOCKINGLY WASTEFUL.!

Less than 1/10th of 1% of fluoridated water goes to children said to benefit. 99.93% goes down the drain, creating more pollution. Original equipment costs thousands of $$$'s; maintenance and the fluoride chemical cost thousands of $$$'s yearly. If you think water rates are high now, wait until you get your bills if Measure B passes.

ARTIFICIAL FLUORIDATION IS NOT SAFE!

All drugs have side effects and react with other drugs. Fluoride is a drug. Don't be fooled by fancy descriptions of it as a natural nutrient. No long-term studies exist anywhere which prove the safety of artificially fluoridated water. The U.S. Public Health Service has refused to make such studies, as Ralph Nader charges. Claims and endorsements are based on propaganda, not scientific facts.

PHONY CLAIMS AND SAN FRANCISCO!

Assurances of effectiveness and safety of fluoridation in San Francisco are personal opinions. Public health officials, when interviewed this year, admitted that no official surveys have ever been made. So-called lower dental bills are statistical "jiggery-pokery" — contrived and false.

ARTIFICIAL FLUORIDATION AND RAMPANT DECAY!

Despite "statistics" glorifying it, the scheme isn't lastingly effective. In many cities having fluoridation for years, tooth decay is rampant and alternative measures are being tried in desperation. (For example, Baltimore, Md., Newburg, N.Y., Puerto Rico — where tooth and gum diseases are a scandal.) Promoters don't include these grim statistics in their propaganda.

OTHER COUNTRIES: "NO MORE FOR US!"

After trying it and watching the experiment in the U.S., on the advice of leading authorities, Sweden, Denmark, Italy, Spain, and West Germany, have banned — discontinued fluoridation. They found dosage control is impossible; tooth decay is only delayed, not stopped; the total amount of fluoride ingested by everyone is unknown, unpredictable; fluoridation adds to the environmental pollution crisis. Too much fluoride is in the food chains of most people everywhere.

THE GREATEST TRAGEDY OF ALL:

Artificial fluoridation threatens the ill, the hyper-sensitive and the elderly. Kidney patients, diabetics, arthritics — should be taken off fluoride, including fluoridated water, says medical literature. But how about the people who don't know they have these diseases? And claims that fluoride helps senior citizens have been exposed as cruelly false propaganda. Bone diseases are now known to be caused by fluoride. How unconcerned can proponents be?

CAUTION: DRINKING FLUORIDATED WATER CAN BE HAZARDOUS TO YOUR HEALTH . . . (AND YOUR POCKETBOOK)

VOTE NO on B

Last Moon Shot Ready To Go

CAPE KENNEDY (UPI) — The Apollo program director says Apollo 17 "is ready to go" Dec. 6 on the nation's last flight to the moon this decade.

Rocco A. Petrone gave launch crews permission to proceed with final flight preparations after reviewing the readiness of all aspects of the mission at a day-long meeting Thursday.

Navy Capt. Eugene A. Cernan, 38, Cmdr. Ronald E. Evans, 38, and Dr. Harrison H. "Jack" Schmitt, 37, will carry out the 13-day expedition. Cernan and Schmitt will land in a valley on the northeastern side of the moon's front face while Evans remains in lunar orbit.

Minipark Idea Wins Support

The Marin Estates Homeowners Association board last night was shown preliminary plans for a minipark which the Marin Municipal Water District hopes to put in around its water tank at the top of Endeavor Drive, Corte Madera.

Association secretary Jan Hogan said the directors liked the idea of a minipark for the smaller children and thought it would beautify the tank. They agreed to work with the Hilldwellers Association in persuading the town council to share the costs of the minipark with the water district, and decided that members might help construct playground equipment.

Mrs. Hogan said the board also hopes to buy some new equipment for the tiny tot park at the end of El Camino Drive.

Giant Gas Pact With Russia Near

WASHINGTON (UPI) —The United States is "on the verge" of agreeing to buy $45.6 billion worth of natural gas from the Soviet Union, the Washington Post reported today.

A spokesman for the Commerce Department, which is conducting trade talks with the Soviets, confirmed that a gas deal is in the works but said its size might be substantially less than the figure quoted by the newspaper.

Academy Sale Will Boost Scholarships

A clean-sweep sale aimed at raising scholarship funds will be held by the Marin Academy in San Rafael from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. tomorrow.

On sale will be furniture of five dormitories, 200 khaki shirts and kitchen equipment as well as military buttons, patches and insignia from the bygone days of the San Rafael Military Academy.

The military academy closed its doors in 1971 due to sagging enrollments. The Marin Academy, a coeducational college-preparatory institution, began operations on the 9.5-acre site at Fifth and Cottage avenues in September.

William McCluskey, headmaster of the new school, said furniture on sale tomorrow was bought by the old military academy 18 months ago in an attempt to spur enrollment by refurbishing. The military academy closed soon afterward, and the assortment of desks, drawers, dressers, beds and mirrors has since been collecting dust.

"We don't need the stuff since we aren't a boarding school," McCluskey said. "We have absolutely no use for it."

He said the Marin Academy expects to net about $5,000 from the sale, all of which is slated for scholarship use. Twenty-three per cent of the academy's 66 students receive partial scholarship aid.

The academy is not selling artifacts connected with the former military institution's history, he said.

Drug Charge Is Dismissed

A felony charge against a 42-year-old San Rafael man arrested after an off-duty sheriff's deputy thought he detected a drug sale has been dismissed for lack of evidence.

Judge David R. Baty of Marin Municipal Court killed a charge of selling dangerous drugs against Earl Eugene Butler after codefendant Roxanne Lynn Baldi, 21, also of San Rafael, testified he did not sell her drugs.

The two were arrested July 11 after Deputy Warren Wright thought he detected a sale in a booth at Anjo's Bar, 535 Fourth Street.

Miss Baldi, whose purse contained white pills when she was arrested, pleaded guilty to a misdemeanor charge of possessing dangerous drugs.

Dope Dealers 'Will Be Out Of Business'

ATLANTA (UPI) —The U.S. Treasury Department's top law enforcement officer has predicted three-fourths of the nation's major heroin dealers will be put out of business by next June, using the "Al Capone method" of nailing them on income tax evasion charges.

Assistant U.S. Treasury Secretary Eugene Rossides said nabbing the heroin traffickers on tax evasion charges is the most successful method used by the federal government to stop them. He estimated there are 1,007 major dealers in the country.

Guilty Plea By Fergerstrom

Harry Francis Fergerstrom Jr., 23, of Larkspur, who had been charged with burglary, has pleaded guilty in Marin Municipal Court to a misdemeanor count of malicious mischief.

Judge Robert A. Smallman scheduled sentencing for Dec. 1.

San Anselmo police arrested Fergerstrom Oct. 9 after security guards at the Lion's Share restaurant reported finding him in a van outside the nightspot. He said he was looking for a coat, according to police.

Turkish Opium Flow 'Will Be Halted'

AIR FORCE ACADEMY, Colo. (UPI) —Brig. Gen. Veahbi Parlar, head of the Turkish national police force, predicted Thursday the flow of opium out of his country would be brought to a halt within two years.

Parlar said his country was purchasing heroin-producing poppies from farmers at a price equal to that paid by illicit drug traffickers in the government's drive to end the traffic.

College Board Hopefuls Give Views

By DAVID DIETZ

Ten of the 11 candidates for two seats on the Marin Community College District board turned out last night to address themselves largely to the issues of trustee responsibility and student involvement in school operations.

The occasion was a candidates' night sponsored by six organizations at the Mill Valley Outdoor Club, attended by about 60 persons.

Overall, it was a low-key evening, with the crowded field of aspirants voicing only occasional dissent, none of it caustic.

Candidate Harold W. Reimer, a 44-year-old training and development manager for a San Francisco indemnity firm, failed to appear. Two others, Henry L. Hicks and Robert C. Walker, left the meeting after opening remarks were delivered.

Other aspirants in Tuesday's election who spoke were James Kimo Campbell, Janeanne B. Doar, Gregory C. Fearon, Dr. William J. Filante, Lyman B. McBride, Cyr N. Miller, Dewey W. Roberts and Gene E. Turtle. Up for grabs are the seats of incumbents Charles W. Gray, who is leaving Marin, and Charles Read Best, elected as a Marin Superior Court judge in June.

Candidates chosen at the polls Tuesday will serve until April 1975.

Most of the speakers devoted opening statements to twg of six questions posed by the sponsors in advance: What should be the role of students in decision-making and the responsibility of a board member as one whose influence reflects community's wishes?

The candidates, ranging in age from 24 to 62 and representing diverse occupations, largely supported greater student participation in such matters as curriculum, budgeting and hiring practices and saw a need for striking a balance between exercising trustee leadership and heeding community opinion.

Walker, a 52-year-old Mill Valleyan who is in the food service business, cautioned, however, against excessive student influence in College of Marin affairs.

While joining other candidates in support of student involvement, Walker added: "I do not believe they should have a vote, especially in... .hiring. I think students are on campus too short a time to have a say on policies and procedures."

Hicks, before he left, endorsed "constructive suggestions and recommendations" from students, but believed the "final vested authority" rested with "management."

Campbell, a 25-year-old prelaw student and a College of Marin alumnus, thought the answer to the student question obvious in view of the fact that young people are "old enough to vote and to fight and die in wars. . ."

Upholding a student voice in faculty selection, Turtle, a 40-year-old management consultant, said students are "adults and should be treated as adults and to treat them any other way is irresponsible."

Roberts, 52, a San Francisco Community College District administrator, was wary, meantime, of wielding too much influence as a board member. "I don't think the community wants me to do much leading up there," he said.

Fearon, 24-year-old former College of Marin student body president, said the position should be viewed in the context of motivating persons both on campus and off, while McBride, a 62-year-old newspaper advertising sales representative, and Filante, a 42-year-old physician and former supervisorial candidate, seemed to voice the consensus that the job meant both influencing and reflecting community views.

Miller, a 37-year-old Health, Education and Welfare official, recognized a role of "calling to issues and calling to people" and as an advocate for the "educational arm of the entire community."

Mrs. Doar, a 46-year-old teacher, noted that the danger in attempting to reflect community views was the inevitably varied outlook in the college district's large geographical area.

Filante's was a dissenting voice on continued development of Indian Valley Colleges, the district's planned campus in Novato. While expressing support for the facility, the physician said he wouldn't support further development if Proposition 1, the $160 million community college bond construction measure on Tuesday's ballot, failed.

He favored better use of space at the Kentfield campus, in part through an improved public transportation system for students which would reduce parking needs.

Even with forecasts of decreased enrollment from secondary schools, others viewed Indian Valley Colleges as still essential, noting an expanding adult enrollment in the community college system. It also was observed that population forecasts for College of Marin had erred before.

Miller offered an option. "Golden Gate University uses existing buildings (in the community). It's something to keep in mind."

Candidates expressed these other views:

McBRIDE: "I don't agree with the opinion that the authority of top administrators should be diminished in favor of faculty-student committees." And on the board's role in curriculum: "Ik a trustee started lobbying for pet courses, we'd have some pretty weird programs."

FEARON: He said he was striving for lower fares for students on Golden Gate Bridge District buses. Placing priority on good curriculum, he said achievement in this area depended on motivation of campus and community alike, providing a "spark of energy" which he said seemed generally lacking among current board members.

MILLER: "The primary concern is curriculum because the primary concern of the college is community education," he said. He called for increased use of community resources. Development of an educational program should revolve primarily from the interest and needs of students, he said.

TURTLE: While generally praising the "committee system" at the College of Marin, he said some were "frustrated" with its mechanics. He envisioned smoother functioning if group missions and responsibilities were clarified. Raising the importance of curriculum, he said, "I'm not going to be a very happy board member at all if all the talk is about budgets and bricks and mortar." On teacher evaluation: the "real hooker" is not the evaluating process, but how to gain better teaching once the review is over.

ROBERTS: Teacher evaluation policy should rest ultimately with the board, he said, since 70 per cent of the district budget is spent on personnel. He endorsed involvement by incoming secondary students in curriculum, as well as a regional approach to course advisory.

CAMPBELL: Citing public apathy to district affairs, he said there was a need for board members with drive and commitment and with resistance to rubber-stamping of administrative recommendations. "The need is for someone who cares for education. . .particularly someone who has been a student," he said.

30 Food Stamp Fraud Cases

The Marin County Administrator's office has reported that 30 suspected food stamp fraud cases were referred during 1971 and 1972 to the district attorney's office.

Michael A. Chrystal, senior administrative analyst, said 20 cases subsequently were dismissed by the district attorney because of a lack of evidence, five cases are pending, and one defendant was found guilty in court.

Four other cases were settled through a citation process which usually involved restitution instead of prosecution, Chrystal said.

He estimated there are about 1,200 food stamp recipients in Marin.

The information was requested in September by county supervisors after an Independent-Journal reporter — masquerading as an unwed, unemployed mother — was given $63 worth of food stamps by the county welfare department.

Resentencing Of Speck Scheduled

CHICAGO (UPI) —Richard F. Speck, convicted in 1967 for the murder of eight nurses, will be resentenced in a hearing beginning in Peoria, Ill., Nov. 21, it was announced Thursday.

Speck's death sentence for the 1966 murders in Chicago was overturned by the Illinois Supreme Court Sept. 20. The state court made the ruling after the U.S. Supreme Court ruled the death sentence was "cruel and unusual punishment."

Child Care Panel Is Accepting Applications

The Marin County Child Care Planning and Advisory Committee, a group charged with coordinating plans for more child day care centers, is accepting applications for five vacant seats.

There are about 100 licensed day care homes in Marin now, and officials estimate about 50 more will be needed in the next six months.

The committee, a part of the Family and Children's Services Advisory Committee, is made up of those who operate day care homes, parents who use them and agencies which oversee them. It meets on the second Monday evening each month.

Persons interested in applying for appointments to the committee may contact Donna Huckins in the Department of Public Social Services at the Marin Civic Center.

Panama Populace

PANAMA CITY (UPI) — The population of Panama in 1970 totaled 1,428,082, an increase of 352,541 over the 1960 census of 1,075,541, the Statistics Division of the Comptroller General reports. Panama is the most sparsely populated of the Latin American countries.

Doctors all over the country dispense over 50,000,000 of these tablets to their patients each year.

There are many medications a physician or dentist can prescribe for pain. Some are narcotic, many are available only on prescription. But there is one pain reliever, available without prescription, doctors dispense again and again... Anacin.

Each year, doctors give over 50,000,000 Anacin tablets to their patients in pain. If doctors think enough about Anacin to dispense all these tablets, what better recommendation can you ask when you are in pain?

You see, Anacin contains more of the pain reliever doctors recommend most than any other leading tablet.

Headache and dental pain is relieved incredibly fast; minor pains of arthritis are dependably eased for hours; even the aches and pains of colds and flu respond to Anacin. So the tension and depression that can be caused by such pain will be relieved too. And millions take Anacin without stomach upset.

When you're in pain, why don't you follow the practice of so many doctors and take the tablet a doctor might give you in his own office. Take Anacin®.

Priest Stabbed To Death During A Confessional

LOS GATOS, Calif. (UPI) —A Roman Catholic priest was stabbed to death Thursday while hearing confession at St. Mary's Church.

Police said Rev. Henry Tomey, 65, an assistant pastor, suffered four knife wounds in the upper body and was pronounced dead on arrival at a hospital.

A witness told police the assailant was seen fleeing from the church. The attacker was described as about six feet in height, wearing dark clothing and in his late teens or early 20s.

Artifacts On Display In S.F.

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Priceless pre-Columbian artifacts dug up during excavation for one subway are being displayed at another one.

Office Will Check Election Violations

The office of the U.S. Attorney in San Francisco will be staffed Tuesday to receive inquiries or complaints in connection with any federal election law violations, according to James L. Browning Jr., U.S. attorney.

Citizens in 15 northern counties, including Marin and Sonoma, may call the office if they observe such violations as vote buying, ballot stuffing and intimidation of voters.

Consultant Sets Study Timetable

Corte Madera's 42-member General Plan Study Committee, at its first meeting last night, was told by planning consultant Tom Cooke that its work should be completed by February.

Town Mgr. Ronald E. Bartels said each of the five subcommittees will hold a series of public meetings on specialist subjects — community appearance, housing, open space, community service and transportation.

In early February, the committees and the consultant will "digest the whole thing" and the new proposed general plan should be presented to the planning commission by March.

The work timetable leaves the town well within the July 1973 deadline set by the state for adoption of mandatory elements in a town's general plan, said Bartels. These include, housing, conservation,land use, circulation, scenic highway, public safety and safety.

'70 Census May Aid GOP Ballot Chances

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Among other things going for the GOP in the current election is the 1970 census. But not nearly as much so as the Republicans hoped.

It was generally assumed that the decennial head count would reflect a population shift from the liberal Northeast to the conservative Southwest, and from city to suburb, with corresponding shifts in House seats and probable GOP gains in the House.

Some of that happened.

A total of 11 House seats was reassigned from one state to another in reapportionment based on the census. Nine states lost one or more seats and five states gained one or more.

Republicans had figured to be the main beneficiaries, and might have been except that Democrats in 1970 won control of enough legislatures and-or governors to preclude the kind of in-state redistricting that would have nailed down the Republican gains.

So on balance, according to a study by Congressional Quarterly, probable net gains in the House resulting purely from the 1970 census reapportionment, and redistricting generally, dwindled to possibly five seats.

That could be a significant number, but only if Republicans win big enough to pick up House seats generally. They need a net gain of 39 seats to capture control of the House.

New York and Pennsylvania were the big census losers, with two House seats each. Losing one seat each were Alabama, Iowa, North Dakota, Ohio, Tennessee, West Virginia and Wisconsin.

Big winner was California, which picked up five seats as a result of the previous decade's western migration. Florida, another target area for the golden dreamers, gained three. Other gainers were Texas, Colorado and Arizona, with one each.

Mississippi has an average rainfall of 54 inches per year.

World Oil Output

TULSA, Okla, (UPI)—Free world production of crude oil is expected to pass the 44 million barrel per day mark for the first time this year, according to the Oil and Gas Journal. # 900 Indians In Capital Protest, Win Promise From White House

WASHINGTON (UPI) — About 900 American Indians ended a 24-hour occupation of the Bureau of Indian Affairs today, winning a promise of White House consideration of their protest of a "trail of broken treaties" by Washington.

The Indians accepted an offer to move to an auditorium in another government building after a possibly violent confrontation with police was averted.

Bradford Patterson, a White House aide, agreed Thursday night to respond in writing to demands drawn up by a coalition of representatives of more than 200 Indian tribes.

The 900 protesters were allowed to spend the night in the building in the 1900 block of Constitution Avenue, and many used the time to repair the damage caused during a forcible takeover shortly before Thursday's 5 p.m. EST daily closing of the building.

The protesters claimed they barricaded doors and windows of the six-story building as "purely a defensive action" because they feared police would be called "to remove us with their clubs".

A large number of police were on the scene when negotiations successfully avoided a showdown.

When the Indians began leaving the BIA at midmorning, they had put most of the building's furniture back in place, swept floors and collected trash in containers.

One of the Indians' demands was reorganization of the BIA, an agency that controls the destiny of the nation's nearly 800,000 Indians but is controlled by whites and has been criticized by Indians for over 100 years.

They asked that its two top administrators, both of whom are white, be fired and that the agency be taken out of Interior Department jurisdiction.

They also asked for enforcement of treaties, protection of land, mineral and water rights.

"We're trying to bring about some meaningful change for the Indian community," said Dennis Banks, national field director for the militant American Indian Movement (AIM). "If this is the only action that will bring change then you can count on demonstrations like this 365 days a year."

Russell Means, an Oglala Sioux, warned that Indians were ready to "go back on the warpath" because of frustration with the American government.

"You can see the frustration here, in the young people, and even in the old," he said. "Our fullbloods—the chiefs of our tribes—are saying it's time to pick up guns."

Help cure the doctor shortage. Vote Yes on proposition 2.

Did you know that we lose more doctors by death and retirement every year than we train? You can feel the shortage yourself in the jam-packed waiting rooms in so many doctors' offices. And it's getting worse. We also need more nurses, pharmacists, veterinarians, dentists and other health care professionals.

If enough people vote yes on proposition 2, the University of California will start training almost twice as many doctors and other health care professionals as they can now. That alone will help a lot to lower the cost of health care.

And a yes vote on proposition 2 will provide the medical research needed to find ways to prevent diseases which might otherwise strike you and your family. Think of the families who've saved thousands of dollars and years of suffering because their children didn't get polio.

We've got to pass proposition 2. It'll cost you only about 50¢ a year and not one cent of that will come from property taxes. That's less than the price of a bottle of aspirin. And this 50¢ will cure a lot more than a headache.

All of these public officials, leading citizens and major organizations are actively supporting Proposition 2. Now, Proposition 2 needs your support and your vote. It's the best health care investment you can make. Vote Yes on 2!

Redevelopment Financing Means Opposed By P-TA

The San Rafael Parent-Teacher Association has embarked on a petition campaign aimed at consolidating opposition to means of financing the city's redevelopment plans.

Association members are circulating petitions asking the redevelopment agency to exempt the San Rafael school system from financial participation in the plan, according to Ellie Zengler, association president.

She said she hoped to present the city council with about 4,000 signatures at a hearing Monday at which the plan is expected to be adopted.

The petition claims that it will be "impossible to maintain a reasonable standard of education in our community" if tax increments that would normally accrue to the school system are not returned, she said.

"The scheme the agency has devised would freeze school tax income at the 1972 tax level for as much as 45 years," she said, adding the petition urges the agency to seek other means of financing the plan. She said the petition was drafted by Valerie McMullen, wife of city board of education member, Paul K. McMullen.

William J. Bielser, agency executive director and assistant city manager, said that the concern of the school sytem is understandable but added that state law provides for freezing assessed valuation and using future increases to finance redevelopment.

"We recognize that school districts are in some cases hard-pressed," he said, adding that the city council will determine whether to return any money to the San Rafael school system.

Bielser said redevelopment would mean a loss of only 1 per cent of the combined budget of the elementary and high school districts. He noted the agency has said that the tax freeze will not be in effect for the full 45-year life span of the redevelopment agency.

The city council and the board of education will meet in joint session at 7 p.m. Monday to discuss redevelopment and the finance question, Bielser said. The joint session will precede the redevelopment hearing at 8 p.m.

Mrs. Zengler said she hoped to recruit at least 200 teachers and P-TA members for a mass appearance at the hearing. She said that phone efforts in a similar recruiting drive before the agency's Oct. 26 public hearing had turned out about 60 "school people," although she later reduced the figure to "only 16."

Some San Rafael officials have charged that school officials loaded the Oct. 26 hearing with teachers and P-TA members, resulting in apparent rejection of the plan and its financing method by most of the audience.

Conditional Approval Of Footbridge

The Enchanted Knolls Homeowners Association has been told by Pacific Gas and Electric Co. it can build a pedestrian-bicycle path across the utility's Alto powerhouse property, connecting Enchanted Knolls to Mill Valley Middle School.

According to association president Louis Millen, the company set four conditions: The Association must provide the company with architectural and engineering plans for the proposed footbridge; permits from the Bay Conservation and Development Commission; an environmental impact study, and an acceptable insurance policy covering the company.

The Association asked for permission to convert the company's abandoned railroad siding and bridge pilings into an improved, narrow pathway for the 30 children who cut across the property on their way to school each day.

Millen said his association will take its proposal to the City of Mill Valley for consideration.

U.S. Payments Seen As On The Recovery

GENEVA (UPI) —The United Nations Economic Commission for Europe (ECE) yesterday predicted an improvement in the United States payments position this year and some deterioration in Japan and Western Europe.

It said the beginning of a more vigorous economic growth in Western Europe has so far done little for American exports because it is based on private consumption.

1st State Black Congresswoman?

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (UPI —Californians seem certain Tuesday to elect their first black congresswoman — a charming beauty described by one colleague as "the woman who will make the world forget Shirley Chisholm."

State Assemblywoman Yvonne Brathwaite, seen by millions of television viewers last July as she presided over the Democratic National Convention as its vice chairman, is running for Congress in a newly-created Los Angeles district.

It is a district tailor-made for a black Democrat: 52 per cent black and 72 per cent Democrat. Her Republican opponent is conservative caucasian businessman Gregg Tria.

Not only does Mrs. Brathwaite appear destined to become California's first black congresswoman — the nation's only current black congresswoman is Rep. Chisholm of Brooklyn—she also will be the first woman of any race to represent her state in Congress since 1950.

That was the milestone year Rep. Helen Gahagan Douglas, wife of actor Melvyn Douglas,

YVONNE BRATHWAITE
Tailor-made district

was defeated in her bid for the Senate and retired from politics by ambitious young Rep. Richard M. Nixon.

"The woman who will make the world forget Shirley Chisholm," as she is described by Assemblyman John L. Burton, D-San Francisco, was elected California's first Negro woman legislator in 1966, representing a district bordering on the black area of Watts.

The daughter of a movie studio laborer and an attorney by profession, she is 39, looks much younger, wears stylish clothes and intends to change her name after the election to "Burke." She recently married Los Angeles businessman William Burke but decided to keep the name Brathwaite for awhile because it is more familiar to voters.

Mrs. Brathwaite's views are liberal. But, as she puts it in her low-key, softspoken way: "I don't think I'd call myself a radical."

She believes the federal government should finance all elementary and high schools and raise the money by closing "tax loopholes," every four-member welfare family should get $5,400 annually, marijuana smoking should be penalized "like a traffic ticket" but not completely legalized because "I'm not yet ready to turn pot over to Madison Avenue," and there should be "abortion on demand" until the fetus is 24 weeks old, then "that child has a right to exist."

In the California legislature she was chairman of the Urban Development and Housing Committee. In Congress, she intends to work for legislation requiring financial institutions to lend home construction money in all areas—not just white communities.

She disavows any interest in higher office, such as the Senate.

"I'm a liberal and a black," she says. "What I'd have to go through in a statewide race just wouldn't be worth it for me."

Japanese Women Grow Older, Fatter

TOKYO (UPI) — Japanese women grow fatter with age, according to a recently published government survey of 18,000 persons in 4,300 households.

It showed that among women in their 20s 10.6 per cent were overweight, in their 30s 22.9 per cent, in their 40s 30.8 per cent and in their 50s 36.9 per cent.

THE FIELD OF AGING

Observations Of 25-Year Career

By BETTY FROST

"Older people need to be cared about as well as cared for," said Florence Vickery, "the older person needs more than the special skills of a professional social worker. He needs to be recognized as a worthful person, to be loved and needed in life."

Miss Vickery brings to these observations a background of 25 years of work with the aging. In 1947 she became the professional director of the San Francisco Senior Center, the second such center established in the United States. The first one was in New York City.

Her interest in the field was sparked when she studied for the master's degree in human development at the University of Chicago. The course encompassed all of the behavioral sciences, such as anthropology, psychology and sociology, that influence human development. However she found the subject well covered for children, "but nothing happened after adolescence". The problems of the middle and late years of the human experience continued to absorb her.

In 1942 she moved to Mill Valley and began to work at the Young Women's Christian Association in San Francisco. 1947 was a year of decision for Miss Vickery and the senior citizens of San Francisco.

THREE FACTORS launched the pioneering program for the aged. An older man who spent his days in Union Square, calling it his "office," lived in a hotel room in downtown San Francisco. The rainy days when he couldn't go to the park, he found particularly lonely. He contacted the United Crusade to ask if something could be done for the city's elderly.

At the YWCA, workers found that old ladies would come early in the morning and spend the whole day in idleness, sitting in the lounge. The YWCA leaders went to the city officials to point out this situation.

The American Women's Voluntary Services, who had given their energies to assisting servicemen and their families during the years of World War II, had active volunteers, some funds, and, after the war, they were looking for a new project. AWVS leaders went to the city's mayor, Elmer Robinson, to see what was needed.

The San Francisco Recreation Department made Aquatic Park facilities available for a senior center. Florence Vickery, who had been associate adminisrator of the San Francisco YWCA, was asked to be its professional director. At first the center was financed with foundation funds and voluntary gifts, then the United Bay Area Crusade and the city lent support. Assistance also came from the Adult Education Department and the city's Mental Health Department. Gradually the resources of the city were joined together in an effort to help the aged.

"At that time there were no courses to take in the field," the Mill Valley woman said. She attended national conferences offered by the National Council for the Aging in New York, and the Social Work Education Association.

SHE HAS also attended three international conferences on the problems of the aging. "This problem," she said, "is facing every industrial country, where people are retiring while there is still much life ahead of them."

The former director says that it is not enough to present a program to the aging, but that they must have a chance to initiate a program of their own. They need a chance to make new relationships. At the San Francisco Senior Center, the members were encouraged to bring their own leadership to programs. They taught language classes, painting, ceramics, led discussion groups, and used their own skills and abilities.

Trained case workers helped those who had suffered a crisis in life— the loss of a life-mate or a job, or a severe illness.

An outreach program was begun to call on people holed up in cheap hotel rooms in the heart of the big city. "Isolation, despair and frustration can all cause what we call 'senility'," Miss Vickery said.

Retirement takes a lot of preplanning. For many their total life thrust is their job. Men have a hard time adjusting to a meaningless leisure, and it is hard for the wife, too.

The concept of former years when the old folks lived with their grown children does not work out well today.

"Our whole way of life is so different — the noise of teenagers' music, their dress patterns and life style are hard for an older person. It is good for the older person to be independent," she said.

Miss Vickery is from Evansville, Ind., and is a graduate of De Pauw University of Greencastle, Ind. She returns to Evansville once a year for an extended visit with her own elderly mother.

Last year when Miss Vickery left the San Francisco Senior Center, which she had pioneered single-handedly, there was a staff of 10. Throughout the United States there are now thousands of such senior centers. Her satisfaction in this growth is tempered by many things she sees that still need to be done.

"WE MUST find alternative to long term custodial care," Miss Vickery said. She strongly believes that volunteers can be of great help in such a program. The human contact of a local telephone service to reach the elderly housebound once a day, the Meals on Wheels program, where the personal contact is almost as important as nourishing food, are, she thinks a good beginning. She forsees a whole development of services to older people such as driving patients to doctor's appointments, assistance with housekeeping details, and home repairs. Such helpful services would permit the aging to remain in their own homes.

"In Marin, we should be proud of what Ed Ryken is doing for senior citizens as executive director of the Marin Senior Citizens Coordinating Council.", Miss Vickery said. The program, she finds, is especially valuable for those who are able to get about easily and attend recreational activities. For the county she sees the need of an outreach program to ferret out the lonely oldsters living in single rooms or tiny apartments.

For Florence Vickery, her own "retirement" is merely a change of activity. She has written a book, "Creative Programming for Older Adults," which is a text for those going to work with the aging. She teaches at California State University, San Francisco, and at the University of California Extension Division, and is a consultant in her field. Research is underway in her cheerful Mill Valley office, which might lead to further publications.

As a member of the Mill Valley Community Church, she is serving on the board of directors of the church-sponsored retirement center, the Redwoods, now under construction in Mill Valley. The Redwoods, will offera pleasant residence, then increasing levels of care, depending on the individual's health.

She was a panelist at last week's "SOS — Stress In Our Society" program at the College of Marin, co-sponsored by the College, and the Marin Association for Mental Health, and talked Wednesday about the Redwoods at the Mill Valley Community Church Club meeting.

For her own refreshment she swims every day, enjoys gardening, sketching and travel. Last summer she spent a month in Switzerland, capturing the scenery on her sketch pad.

FLORENCE VICKERY, a pioneer in programs for the aging in the United States, wrote "Creative Programming for Older Adults" in her Mill Valley home. Published last spring, the book is a text for those who are going to give direct service to senior citizens.

Nancy Bea Kimberling Is Engaged

NANCY KIMBERLING
To wed next June

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Lee Kimberling of San Rafael have announced the engagement of their daughter Nancy Bea Kimberling to Gerald Robert Joiner of Forest City, Iowa.

The couple are planning to be married next June 16.

Nancy is the sister of Susan and Lori Kimberling of San Rafael. She is a senior at California State University, Chico. Nancy is a graduate of Terra Linda High School and the College of Marin.

Gerald is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert E. Joiner of Roseville and the brother of Larry, Karen and Sherri Joiner. He was graduated from Roseville High School and CSU, Chico. He also was graduated from Sierra Junior College.

Gerald is employed with Winnebago Industries, Forest City, Iowa.

The Soaring Losses Of Inventory

Retail losses from internal theft, inefficient paperwork and other shortcomings in employee performance account for from 50 to 70 per cent of inventory losses, according to Women's Wear Daily.

An employee's average theft is $1,500 compared with about $10 for a shoplifter's average theft. Nationwide employees steal from $8 million to $10 million a day, an annual aggregate of $3 billion.

Retail management has been reluctant to admit the extent of the problem, inhibited by pride, ego and fear of impairing the store image and endangering the morale of the honest majority of employees.

To combat the trend, Anne Saum, retail training specialist, has created a program, "Positive Shortage Prevention," which offers a four unit package of sound and color films for store personnel. They are "The Dollar Drain," "First Line of Defense," "Who Me?" and "The Loser". Films are shown in connection with discussion programs, under qualified leaders.

Sally Stanford Issues A Call For An Active Political Life

By DOROTHY NEWELL

"Men have screwed the world up," and it's a woman's place to get out and do something about it, said Sally Stanford, colorful Sausalito restaurant owner and member of the city council.

Her topic was women in politics. She spoke before a crowd of 91 women attending a meeting sponsored by the Novato Federated Women's Club.

Women should have the chance of having the same tax write off and other benefits as men when they are head of a household, she said.

MRS. STANFORD said she'd been running for the city council in Sausalito for 14 years, but "snuck in this year." She said she hadn't gotten over the shock of it yet, but added she came by it honestly and fairly.

With regards to planning in Sausalito, she said Sausalito had a lousy waterfront and she felt even if the city made mistakes it should do something about it, not waiting for R-3, R-4 and R-1 zoning changes.

Most of her talk was audience participation with questions from the floor.

Asked if she would open the playground on her parking lot, she said "Hell, no." She said she put up a fence for $15, then put up her signs during the election and they were taken down twice and that was the end of the playground.

Someone asked her what she thought of Charles Brown, former city manager of Sausalito and city manager of Novato. "He doesn't speak (to me) and neither do I (speak to him). I'm glad he has his nosebag in the stall in Novato."

As the questions continued she was asked again, "What's wrong with Charlie Brown?" She answered, "Jesus, don't get me started on that, I don't want him back in Sausalito."

WHAT DOES she think of houseboats in Sausalito? They have beauty and charm, she answered, if they are connected to sewers and maintained properly.

Mrs. Stanford is all for saving old buildings, but the property owner should have a tax break, she said. Among them she said "castle by the sea" should be saved with perhaps community support.

Another woman in the audience asked if it was necessary to rope off Vina Del Mar in the center of Sausalito.

Mrs. Stanford said it was necessary. "Kids were smoking marijuana, tromping down the flowers and doing other unmentionable things."

What about the flower boxes in Sausalito, someone else inquired.

"Damn flower boxes should be auctioned off," she said vehemently.

QUESTIONED ABOUT her thoughts on the marijuana issue, she said she would vote no on Proposition 19. "I haven't known a hophead that didn't start on marijuana."

She added that she believed the offense should be a misdemeanor. Those selling it should be penalized, she added.

Asked her opinion on women's liberation she said women have been treated unfairly, particularly on probate. "Women have to get up and do something, even if they make mistakes. . ." She advised women if they go to Israel with money not to marry. She said if a woman marries in Israel, the husband claims all her money and if he leaves her, can take it all.

On Proposition 18, the obscenity initiative, she said it's nothing new. No one has to look at pornography and it takes away freedom of expression, she said.

Other women in politics attending the luncheon were Mayor Jean Barnard of Mill Valley, Councilman Joan Sestak of Larkspur, Councilman Jewell L. Osterloh of Ross and Councilman Dorothy Young.

HELEN HELP US!

By HELEN BOTTEL

Navy Wives Have Right To Beef; Luxurious Ships Are Just Too Much

DEAR HELEN:

Will you please give Navy wives a little space before all their marriages go down the drain?

A recent news release stated Navy admirals were wringing their hands over "the deterioration of American seapower." They plan to "strengthen" it by equipping officers' staterooms with carpets, planter boxes, audio units, dimmer switches, air conditioning and "other comforts suited to the social, physical and psychological needs of personnel."

The plan also calls for crews' quarters to get quite similar luxuries, and enlisted men will have sharp new uniforms, longer hair, etc.

It all sounds real cozy — like honeymoon ships — and, in reality, aren't they getting ready for women sailors? (What gets to me is those dimmer switches!)

Really, Helen, it is another assault on our homes. Taxpayers are being asked to provide luxuries so that fighting ships can become floating lovenests! Navy wives, unite and tell the President he can't "bring us together" by temptations which will pull man and wife apart! — NAVY WIVES OF SAN ANTONIO

DEAR WIVES:

Perhaps you should write, "Dear Mr. President: A girl in every port was bad enough; a girl on every ship? — Never!"

But somehow I think a trustworthy husband can withstand women sailors — even if his stateroom is equipped with a dimmer switch. — H.

DEAR HELEN:

My neighbor on the right told me all about this woman who lives on my left.She says the man she is living with isn't really her husband, and her children are all by different men.

She says she fixes herself up every morning like a model so she can entertain whatever repairman comes along. And just watch: salesmen stay longer there. I haven't met her yet, but —

What do you think of a woman like this? — NEW NEIGHBOR

DEAR NEW:

I think she's a gossip.

The woman on your left? Why don't you keep an open mind until you meet her and find out for yourself? — H.

DEAR HELEN:

This is for the man who complained that doctors' answering services put you on "hold" before you can say "emergency." He suggests the operator ask each caller if the call is urgent, before making him wait.

He doesn't know people too well. As an operator for such a service, I can tell him: everyone thinks his call is an emergency. We have over 800 phones to answer. You can see the problems we would run into if we asked such a question.

Besides rudeness, I am amazed at the lack of common sense most people display in calling a doctor. At 2 a.m., they'll consider a sore throat or even "an unhappy turtle" an "emergency."

In case of a real time problem, it's foolish to waste precious seconds calling a doctor's answering service — or even his office nurse. The rescue squad should be alerted first, so the ill person can receive emergency treatment while being rushed to the hospital. Everyone should have the number of the nearest rescue squad printed near his phone. — CONCERNED OPERATOR NO. 4.

DEAR MS. BOTTEL:

Your correspondent's remarks on doctors' telephone answering services comes at a propitious time as we are starting to work on some practice management training material which will include the subject of "telephone answering."

The telephone is one of the doctor's biggest problems. It is reported that the average general practice office receives 65 calls per day. This does not excuse negligence... but it may provide some measure of sympathy for the very busy doctor who is trying to see as many patients as he can. — M.L.H., AMERICAN MEDICAL ASSOCIATION

Small World—Browns 'Commute' Between Kenya and Mill Valley

By MOLLY MARIN

It is a small world for Mr. and Mrs. Walter Brown who moved to Nairobi, Kenya, last year and have been commuting to Mill Valley to conclude business arrangments on their travel and car leasing agencies in Marin.

They have acquired a 15-room home on five acres of land from a former vice president of Kenya. Mrs. Brown's mother, Mrs. Ruth A. Dowd, a long-time Mill Valley resident, is living in the family's African home now with the Browns' daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. John Griffin. The Griffins, who are planning to build a home on adjacent property in Nairobi, opened a crafts boutique there this week.

The Browns returned from Kenya in June, and will go back for Christmas with their daughter, Mrs. Janet Oates of Mill Valley. Their trip in December will be by way of Rio de Janeiro and Johannesburg. They will come back to Marin in January with a side trip to Europe. Already enchanted with their new residence, Mrs. Brown says the weather is about 72 degrees the year-round and offers a healthy climate at 6,000 feet above sea level.

Once settled in their new home, the Browns will not be idle. Mrs. Brown will use her travel experience as assistant manager of a safari company, and Brown will have an automobile dealership. Nancy Brown has been elected president of the American Women's Club in Nairobi.

The Browns' youngest daughter, Mrs. Kathy Schroers, lives in San Diego.

A NUMBER of Marin residents are actively involved in tonight's Ski-Do '73. The preseason ski party, a benefit for the U.S. Ski Team and the Far West Ski Educational Foundation, will be held at the Lincoln-Mercury showroom at Van Ness and O'Farrell in San Francisco.

Coordinating for Marin County is Mrs. Paul Taylor of Ross. Carol Schneider of Larkspur in charge of group ticket sales, and Linda Friedman of Sausalito has arranged the musical entertainment.

Two rock groups will provide music for dancing. Ski fashions will be modeled, and actor Hugh O'Brian will auction ski merchandise and services. Ski movies will be shown continuously.

Tickets will be available at the door.

SEN. RANDOLPH Collier, 70-year-old dean of the state Senate, has announced that he and his wife, Barbara, are expecting a child in May.

Collier, chairman of the finance committee, said he and Mrs. Collier, 34, are "extremely happy". They were married in May 1971 in Winnemucca, Nev. Collier has three grown children from a former marriage and Mrs. Collier has two teenage daughters from a prior marriage. He has served in the Senate since 1938.

VICE PRESIDENT of the University of Bergen, Norway, Sigismund Koester and his daughter Kari are visiting Mr. Koester's brother-in-law and sister Mr. and Mrs. Robert Nielson and their children Lori and Christi in Loma Verde. Tam Thomsen, a neighbor girl of the Nielsons, invited Kari to attend Novato High School with her last Friday. Kari was impressed with the school, according to Mrs. Nielson, and with the freedom the students have compared with those in Norway. On their first visit to the U.S., the Koesters toured San Francisco and Marin County. They also took trips into the Napa Valley wine country and to other areas. Mrs. Koester was unable to accompany them here because of illness in her family.

MJR. (RET.) and Mrs. James S. Murphy of Novato attended the wedding of their son, Stephen Edward Murphy to Rebecca Paulette Zuzma at Williamsburg Presbyterian Church in Virginia on Oct. 14. Stephen is a graduate of Novato High School and is a helicopter pilot with the Army at Ft. Eustis, Newport News, Va. The couple will live in Williamsburg, Va., where the bride is employed at the Eastern Rehabilitation Center. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Mick Zuzma of Williamsburg.

THIRTY TENNIS friends will have cocktails at the Tiburon home of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Colletto on Saturday night before Tiburon Peninsula Club's annual tennis awards dinner.

Golden Anniversary Celebrated By Couple

Mr. and Mrs. Laurence R. Leach were married Oct. 30, 1922, at Old St. Mary's Church in San Francisco. The couple celebrated the 50th wedding anniversary Sunday at a small dinner party for family members.

At the party were the couple's sons and daughters-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Laurence R. Leach Jr. of Merced and Mr. and Mrs. Robert N. Leach of Honolulu. Robert and Doris Leach are returning to Hawaii via the Amtrak train to Los Angeles.

Laurence Leach and his wife, the former Glendene E. McBride, are both natives of Oakland, but they met in San Anselmo at the summer home of her aunt and uncle. The Leach family moved from Oakland to San Francisco in 1900 and lived there until their home was destroyed by fire in 1906, when they moved to Marin. Mrs. Leach grew up in San Francisco, where she lived until she was married. She is a graduate of Dominican Upper School in San Rafael.

The Leaches have lived all of their married lives in Marin, first in San Anselmo, then moving to their present home in Peacock Gap nine years ago when Leach retired from the wholesale jewelry business. His brothers started Leach Realty in San Anselmo in 1907, and he was associated with them in business for several years.

The Leaches are the grandparents of Ronald Leach of San Rafael; Michael Leach of Houston, Tex.; Jeffrey Leach, who is in college in Oregon, and Robin Leach, a college student in Colorado. They have a great-grandson and a great-granddaughter.

Child Care Panel Has Vacancies

The County Child Care Planning and Advisory Committee has announced that it has four vacancies for parents interested in planning child care programs in the county.

The committee includes providers, consumer and agency members who meet the second Monday of each month at 7:30 p.m. at Sir Francis Drake High School faculty room, San Anselmo.

Workshop For Single Mothers Is Scheduled

The Family Service Agency of Marin is sponsoring a single-parent mother's group workshop for 10 weeks beginning Tuesday. The meetings will all be at 2 p.m. at the agency's office, 1005 A Street in San Rafael.

Discussion will center around the single mother and problems of her situation, according to Chester F. Villalba, executive director of the agency.

Registrations Taken For New Classes

Barbara Figone, youth program director for the center, is in charge of registration.

ON BEING BLACK

The 'Black Blitz' Of New Organizations

By SANDRA HAGGERTY
(Distributed by Los Angeles Times Syndicate)

Next to clotheshangers and rabbits, black organizations are most prolific. Ranging from the long-established National Association for the Advancement of Colored People to the recently organized Brothers and Sisters United, the emergence of these associations is found in the smallest as well as the largest communities.

There is nothing new about organizations — it is the great American way. Collective efforts are infinitely more effective than individual efforts in bringing about changes and making one's ideas, interests and needs heard.

Blacks as a group with "something in common" have discovered that getting organized is fairly simple. You simply get together with people who have a common interest or an ax to grind, come up with a name (preface it with "Black" if it will increase sales and/or encourage participation), abusiness card ($3.95 per thousand) and a letterhead (influential people always read first the letters with the fancy letterheads) and boom, you're an organization.

IF AFTER the first meeting you discover the group is singing the same song, but not in your key, you simply break off, reorganize and rename yourself, thus becoming a specialized special group. Be cagey and never reveal the exact number of your members. That way, no will ever know you're an organization of one.

There have always been black organizations, but many of them were underground. The ExDusters and the Alabama Free Men's Assn. were active during slavery days. The Association for the Study of Negro Life and History and the NAACP are the oldest openly recognized and accepted black associations.

During the contemporary black blitz, many new organizations have come and gone. The younger blacks have frowned on the use of the words "Negro" and "colored," but many are coming around to appreciating the older organizations by putting them in proper historical sequence.

Some of the older associations considered changing their names. The National Association of Colored Women's Clubs talked of changing "colored" to "black" in an effort to attract more younger black women. Reasonably, they decided against this move, realizing the change would render them unidentifiable historically.

The fervor of the times dictates the continued success of any organization. CORE, SNCC, and SCLC no longer have the strong national thrust they once had, but they are continuing to concern themselves with the fight for human rights. On a more specialized level, almost every job and profession now has an association of its black members — the Association of Black Morticians, the Association of Black Coaches and so on. A few of these still operate underground, but others are taking full advantage of the sparse financial gains of the black blitz. Whites still remain the major financial profiteers of the black blitz.

WHILE SOME organizations remain local, a few have mushroomed into national and even international prominence. The Black Panther Party is probably the most famous and infamous national black organization on the contemporary scene. Several groups have splintered from it.

Jesse Jackson is pushing PUSH (People United to Save Humanity). Interestingly, and probably very calculatively, there's no "black" in the title — an indication that the more political black organizations become, the more astute they become in getting organized. (My daughter was all set to join until she found out Jesse wasn't one of the Jackson 5.)

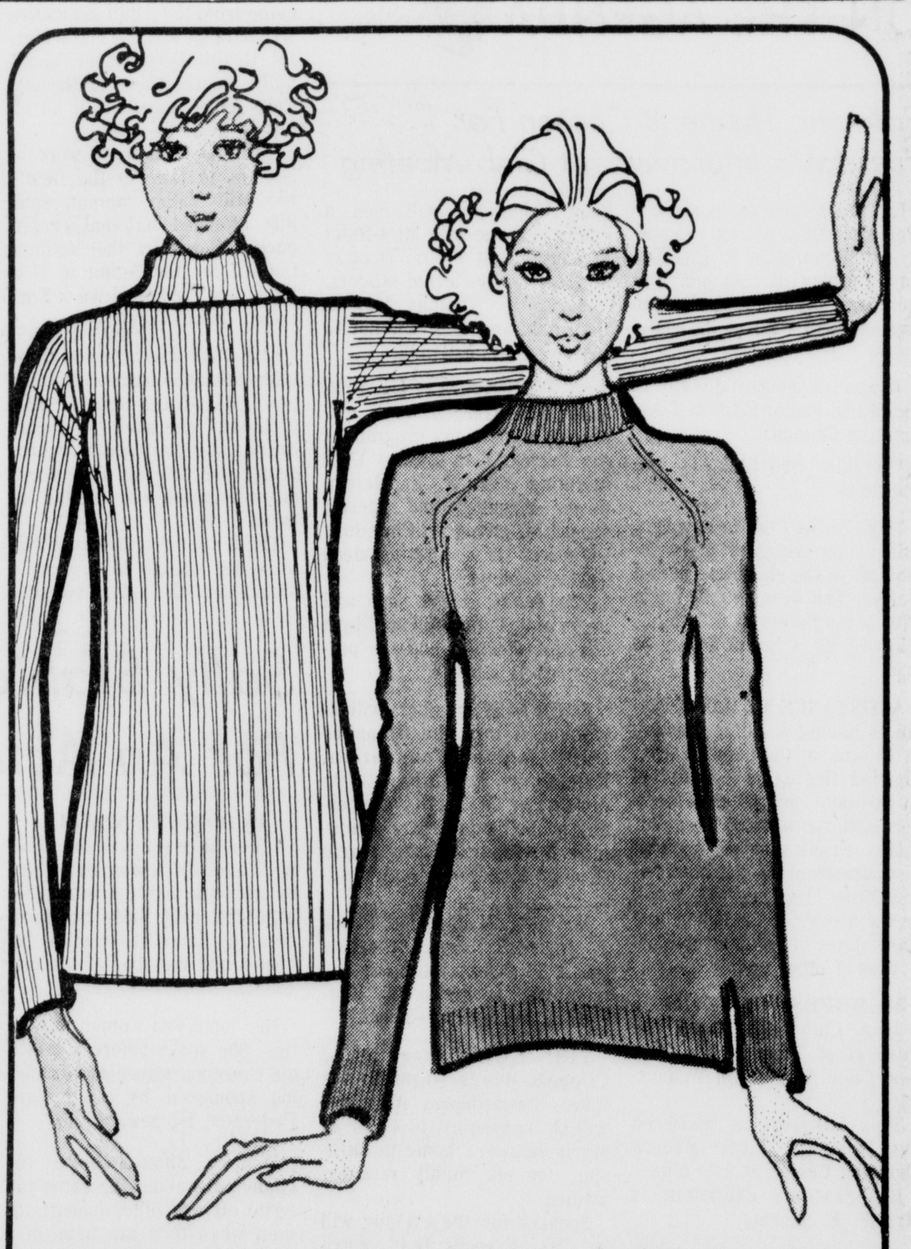

One very worthy organization, Black Families for Adoption, has experienced faulty support and should be salvaged at all costs. In comparison, it is more important than the Association of Black Porsche Owners — black capitalism at its peak.

SPRING FASHIONS

Paris Look; Soft And Casual

By ALINE MOSBY

PARIS (UPI) — The Paris Look for next spring's fashions is as casual and soft as an old shoe.

After two weeks of spring ready-to-wear collections shown to press and buyers from around the world, the Paris girl for spring of 1973 emerged with a party sweater and skirt or trousers or casual, limp shirtwaist dresses.

The sweater fad that Yves Saint Laurent launched has spread. Short, blousy sweaters, long belted sweaters, extra long cardigans ending below the rear, sweaters with balloon or kimono sleeves—just so you wear sweaters. The designers added pleated, swinging skirts or wide, soft-looking trousers, full jackets gathered at the waist or longer tailored jackets.

The dress is back in full force to give a fresh look of traditional femininity and legs after all those seasons of limbs hidden by trousers. The big dress is the shirtwaist, pleated and flowing with a scarf neckline and full sleeves.

TENNIS DRESSES popped up all over town. The most talked about by buyers was the 1920ish short, pleated white tennis dress banded at the v-neckline and hem with navy blue that Japanese designer Kenzo Takada presented (for his firm "JAP").

Another idea in several shows was the "nurse's uniform", a dress with short sleeves and patch pockets topped by a white sweater. Some houses showed 1939ish dresses with bias-cut skirts and puffy sleeves.

Some designers made a new set of rules for pants. Kenzo contributed extra wide clown's pants. Saint Laurent presented over-knee golf knickers, long harem pants and track suits gathered at the ankle.

DOROTHEE BIS ignored the trend for wider trousers and surprised buyers with narrow, skin tight pants rolled up at the hems. Sonia Rykiel emphasized ankle-length pants with wide cuffs and pockets stitched low on the leg.

Among the hundreds of manufactureres, designers and boutiques that exhibited clothes, most of the trousers were wide but fitted snugly over the derriere and upper thighs, which as one buyer grinned is the fit that makes Paris clothes still the best.

Spring trousers usually were white or ivory which contributed to the sporty, tennis look in flannel, cotton, shantung, twill, wool pin-striped with colors, linen.

The midi and mini both were back but no one need think that's an edict. Paris is not concerned about any one hemline which translates into liberation for women to choose any length they want.

HEMLINES RANGED from way above the knees at Andre Courreges to mid-knee at quietly elegant houses such as Givenchy, Dior and Jean-Louis Scherrer, to midi at more far-out firms such as Saint Laurent, Sonia Rykiel and Jean Muir. Evening hemlines ended their just above the ankle, mid-calf or at the floor. Short evening dresses were on the missing list.

Colors were soft pastels or clear and bright at most houses with lots of white. Some designers such as Saint Laurent, Kenzo and Emanuel Ungaro still liked the darker, muddy colors.

OTHER TRENDS spotted in the ready-to-wear collections:

—The "wrinkled look". white or colored trousers of pure linen that, naturally, wrinkles. Paris has decided it's chic.

—One-piece knit swim suits, fewer bikinis

—Three-quarter coats or long sweaters or jackets replacing the traditional coat

—Dirndls appeared from inexpensive skirts at Cacherel sportswear to long Dirndl peasant dresses at Saint Laurent

Free Babysitting On Election Day

Free babysitting on election day, Nov. 7, will be provided by members of the Vallecito Junior High School Discovery Club from 3:30 to 6 p.m. at Terra Linda Recreation Center.

The Consumer Movement Is Here To Stay

The consumer movement may undergo superficial changes, but it's here to stay and retailers must respond positively to protect their interests.

Speaking at the World Conference on Distribution in Brussells, Ira Millstein, partner in a New York law firm, urged retailers to recognize and become constructively involved in the consumer movement, not only to forestall drastic measures which would severely affect them, but also to protect the consumers' own interests.

Among steps Millstein said retailers can take to "join" the consumer movement are to handle safe products, avoid questionable items from shoddy manufacturers; seek products which provide such information as content, quantity, use, care. Determine who will service the product, advertise accurately, be prepared to substantiate claims, and have the merchandise on hand.

Add Turban, Scarf

For dash to any outfit, add a sleek turban and a black fox scarf.

'PLAYBOY OF THE WESTERN WORLD'

Policeman Fired Over Mustache

MIAMI (UP) — Police Chief Bernard Garmire fired Danny Zell yesterday because the award-winning policeman refused to trim his mustache and hair. Garmire said Zell was fired for "insubordinate conduct in failing to comply with a lawful and reasonable order given to him by his superior officers."

Zell, 26, Miami's 1969 "outstanding officer," said he will look for another job while Attorney Paul Pollack appeals the case to the Civil Service Board.

"What does his hair and mustache have to do with how he protects our homes and families?" Pollack asked.

Hand Cut-Off Incident Reported

NAHA, Okinawa (UPI) —An Okinawa newspaper said today that six black U.S. Marines tied up a white Navy enlisted man and cut off his left hand with a knife.

The report appeared in the Okinawa Morning Star, which said its information came from unofficial U.S. military sources.

There was no comment from the U.S. military spokesmen here.

The newspaper identified the victim as Hospitalman 3rd class Richard M. Bridges, 22. It said Bridges was in "serious" condition after a team of doctors failed in a four-hour operation to re-attach his hand to his arm.

FAMILY

"Dumbo" — A reissue of the 1941 animated full-length cartoon produced by Disney.

"Funny Girl" — Partly fictionalized biography of Fanny Brice is more a play with music and songs and elaborate Ziegfield numbers. It is Barbra Streisand's film all the way.

"Legend of Lobo" — The world is seen through the eyes of a legendary wolf as he grows from a delightful cub to responsible maturity and becomes leader of his pack. Great entertainment.

"On A Clear Day You Can See Forever" — A silly college student who possesses amazing mystical powers and can reveal her past lives is interwoven with lavish sets and excellent music and songs.

"The Yearling" — A welcome reissue of a film that relates the joyous and tragic experiences of a frontier family in a Florida woodland, especially the affection between a boy and a pet fawn.

ADULTS AND TEENS

"Butterflies Are Free" — A blind boy's striking out for independence from a domineering mother is both funny and touching. It presents both youth and parents point of view and can lead to a discussion of values.

"Dr. Zhivago" — Pasternak Nobel Prize winning novel portrays the lives of a handful of people before, during and after the revolution. Superb photography.

"You Only Live Twice" — James Bond again saves the world from destruction by locating the launching site of a missile that is destroying U.S. and Russian space ships. Usual violence but with an oriental twist.

BORDERLINE
(Most Sources Say Adults Only)

"Bullitt" — A San Francisco police man assigned to protect a prime witness in a Senate crime hearing are both brutally killed. The Terrifying pursuit through the streets and the bloody shoot out at the airport are unforgettable. Very violent.

"Cabaret" — A cabaret singer in Berlin in the 1930s leads a life of "divine decadence." Her love affairs lead to a pregnancy where paternity is unsure. Well-made film, but sophisticated and bawdy with foul language and sex.

"The Go-Between" — A turn of the century love story, a high born beauty and a handsome lower class lover and their doomed affair as seen through the eyes of a 12-year-old boy. Sex scenes.

"Slaughterhouse Five" — Unusual production that mixes tragedy of war, trivia of middle-class life and fantasy of science-fiction. Fine acting and direction save it from being just slick satire. Some nudity and cursing.

"Thunderball" — In daring hijack of a NATO plane, SPECTRE has stolen two atomic bombs to use as blackmail against large cities. James Bond using sex and violence solves the problem. Very brutal.

ADULTS ONLY

"Bonnie and Clyde" — A chapter in the gangster history of the 1930s brought to vivid life. Some broad humor is overpowered by explicit sex and sadistic violence.

"Catch 22" — Film graphically depicts the immorality and unreason war breeds. Sexual license, depravity, brutality and sheer stupidity are the order of the day. Bloody, gruesome deaths are shown explicity. Episodic structure with flash forwards and back are very confusing.

"Everything You Always Wanted To Know About Sex" — A satire, seven vignettes, taken from Dr. Reuben's best seller, are answers to sexual questions. Will appeal to Woody Allen fans, off beat and frequently bizarre humor.

"Female Animal" — Dubbed in English this Spanish-Italian coproduction's leading lady, Arlene Tiger, digs into the perversion barrel and comes up with heterosexual sex, lesbianism, cunnilingus with a cat and masturbation. (Boxoffice Magazine)

"Hot Box" — The saga of four nurses who become tortured objects of lust in the hands of jungle revolutionaries who kidnap them and then in the hands of government troops who rescue them. Much nudity and bloodshed. (Catholic Film Newsletter)

"Last Summer" — Two boys and two girls at a seaside resort with their families seeking to escape boredom experiment with beer, pot and sex. Film moves from youthful activities to depravity and destructive impulses that are devastating.

"Night Call Nurses" — In this comedy-drama three nurses work as psychiatric nurses. Freaked out transvestites, nude sensitivity sessions, black revolutionaries and unsavory psychiatrists woven into this film. (Boxoffice Magazine)

"Oh! Calcutta" — Photographed during an actual performance of Kenneth Tynan's erotic stage review, its poor visual quality is further exaggerated by being shown on wide theater screen. (Catholic Film Newsletter).

"Virgin Witch" — Two beautiful sisters, one a model, have an assignment to be photographed in an old English mansion. They become involved in a secret witches initiation rite complete with virgin sacrifice. Nudity, lesbianism, etc. (Boxoffice Magazine).

Problem Of 12 On ICC Panel Solved

WASHINGTON (UPI) —Interstate Commerce Commissioner (ICC) John Busch Friday solved a problem which left the agency with 12 members, but only 11 seats, by announcing he will quit.

Busch, a Democrat, said he did not want to get caught in the middle of any possible quarrel between the Senate and the White House over the recess appointment by President Nixon of Tennnessee Democrat Alfred MacFarland to succeed Busch on the 11-man Commission.

The problem arose when Busch indicated he was not planning to step down immediately despite Nixon's appointment of MacFarland. Under the law, an ICC commissioner is appointed by the President, but with the approval of the Senate —something MacFarland did not have since he is a recess appointment.

Busch said he wanted to wait and see how the Senate felt about the White House action. But today he said he "was vacating my office."

Busch said he does not want to be caught in the middle of a battle between Nixon and the Senate.

Even though MacFarland is a Democrat, his loyalty had been questioned by the Democratic-controlled Senate since he helped head a campaign to elect Sen. William E. Brock, one of Tennessee's two Republican senators.

According to Busch, the Senate Commerce Committee failed on a 9-9 vote to recommend MacFarland for confirmation.

Officer's Strike Ties Up Ships

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — The deck officers' strike has tied up 26 merchant ships in West Coast and Hawaiian ports, the Pacific Maritime Association reported Thursday.

The walkout began nine days ago when negotiations on a new contract ended in a stalemate.

J. Curtis Counts, director of the Federal Mediation and Conciliation Service, was trying to bring union officials and PMA representatives back to the bargaining table in New York City.

The PMA and the Masters Mates and Pilots Union broke off peace talks Wednesday.

Woman Killed In Bridge Leap

The California Highway Patrol said the body of Jane Killebrew, 21, was recovered by the Coast Guard minutes after a bridge employee saw the leap at 2:12 p.m.

The witness, Rudy Cardona, told officers the girl was walking on the span's east sidewalk near the tower when she stopped, took off her sweater, put down her purse and vaulted over the railing.

Miss Killebrew was identified from a driver's license found in the wallet, according to officers. No note was found.

Russians Resume Cosmos Launchings

MOSCOW (UPI) —The Soviet Union resumed launching single Cosmos-series satellites today, but hurled number 536 about 200 miles further out into earth orbit than usual, the Tass news agency said.

Demo Leaders See Increase In Assembly Control Tuesday

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Democratic leaders predict Tuesday's election will increase their margin of control in the Assembly, although substantial seat-swapping may occur between the parties.

The outcome is still highly volatile, however, with many of the 80 races considered tossups, particularly in a dozen districts where the incumbents are not running for reelection. Democrats currently have a 4336 margin with one seat vacant.

By contrast, most of the 20 contests in the Senate appear to be lopsided. But the few close races could result in Republicans wresting control from Democrats, who now have a 2019 edge in the Senate.

Cory's opponent is former Assemblyman William Dannemeyer, who switched to the GOP after losing a 1966 bid for the Senate. He has won strong financial backing from conservative groups in the county to oust the more liberal Cory.

More than two-thirds of the district's registered voters are Democrats. The Democratic candidate, Santa Barbara educator Gary Hart, hopes to receive strong support from the student community at UC Santa Barbara.

Another close race is in San Diego where Assemblyman Bob Wilson won his seat in a special election earlier this year in a traditionally Republican district. He is opposed by Ron Del Principe, a San Diego sales manager.

Among the Assembly races where the incumbents aren't running, one of the hottest contests is between Modesto City Councilman Raymond C. Simon, a Republican, and Stanislaus County Supervisor John E. Thurman Jr., a Democrat.

There also are two women, both Democrats, who are waging uphill battles to be the first female in history to be seated in the Senates fancy red and gold chambers.

One of the key Senate races is between Assemblyman Ernest LaCoste, D-Modesto, against former Assemblyman Clare Berryhill, a Ceres Republican.

Both want the seat of retiring Sen. Stephen P. Teale, D-Rail Road Flat, whose gold country district blankets much of the Northern Sierra.

The other major Senate contest is between Milton Marks, a Republican incumbent, and Democrat Ronald Pelosi, president of the San Francisco Board of Supervisors.

The two women hopefuls are Catherine O'Neill, an urban programs coordinator in Pacific Palisades, and Suzanne Paizis, an Aptos education consultant.

Mrs. O'Neill is running against Sen. Robert S. Stevens, R-Los Angeles, and Mrs. Paizis is battling Sen. Donald L. Grunsky, R-Watsonville.

Marcus Welby 'Spirit' Hits Med Students

The California Medical Association reported Thursday that more than a third of current freshmen medical students plan to go into "general or family practice." In 1969, only 10 per cent of the freshman medics had that in mind.

WORD-A-DAY

Three More Sought For Ukiah Murders

MARTINEZ, Calif. (UPI) — Contra Costa County authorities said Thursday they were seeking three more men wanted on two counts of murder in connection with the discovery of bodies on a ranch owned by the Hell's Angels.

The three—identified only as Paul F. Mumm, Rollin B. Crane and Richard A. Barker—were the subjects of an all-points bulletin on two counts of murder.

Four members of the motorcycle club were already in custody. They were arrested earlier in the week after the discovery of the bodies buried in wells on a 153-acre ranch about 100 miles northwest of Martinez. Authorities hinted there may "possibly" be more arrests.

Arraigned on two counts of murder in Mt. Diablo Municipal Court were Edward (Junior) Carter, 24, and William J. Moran, 38, both of Richmond, Calif. William (Zorro) Mitten, 32, Alameda, Calif., and Chester M. (Festus) Green, 29, Richmond, were charged with being accessories to murder.

Carter and Moran were ordered held without bail while bail was set at $100,000 each for the other two men. Arraignment was set for Nov. 10.

The bodies—two men and a woman—were found late Monday and Tuesday after authorities acted on a tip. The farm was near the coastal community of Ukiah and had been purchased three years ago with Hell's Angel funds.

The California attorney general's office called the farm in rolling hills a "burying grounds" for the motorcycle club.

Fire Radio Stolen From Director's Car

A portable Plectron fire radio worth $130 was stolen from the car of Kentfield Fire Protection District director Raymond J. Mullen yesterday morning at the Natalie Coffin Greene Park in Ross.

Ross police said Mullen, of 21 Oak Knoll Road, Kentfield, left his car for an hour in the park, and when he returned a wing window had been opened and the radio stolen.

Judge Orders Angel Boss To Trial Despite Ukiah

OAKLAND, Calif. (UPI) — Hell's Angels leader Ralph (Sonny) Barger and three others were ordered Thursday to stand trial next week on murder charges despite "recent inflammatory publicity" about three bodies found near Ukiah.

"I have read articles about the 'Hell's Angels burying ground' and I think they (authorities) will try to link my name with that now and a year from now," Barger told Alameda County Superior Court Judge William J. Hayes. "I can't get a fair trial."

James Crew, Barger's lawyer, asked the judge to dismiss the murder charges on grounds the leader of the motorcycle gang could never get a fair trial because of publicity. He said a change of venue anywhere in California wouldn't help.

"That is an interesting theory that anyone in this republic cannot get a fair trial on grounds of the freedom of the press to comment on the case," Hayes said before rejecting the motion.

Barger also lost an effort to be freed on bail while awaiting trial when a San Francisco federal judge rejected his writ of habeas corpus Thursday.

Barger and the three other Angels were ordered by Hayes to go on trial next Monday on charges of slaying a Texas narcotics dealer whose body was found May 21 in the bathtub of a burning house in Oakland.

One co-defendant in the trial is Donald Duane (Whitey) Smith, 32, who also faces prosecution in Marin County on a charge of assault with a deadly weapon. He is accused of beating two women in Novato in October 1970 in a dispute over alleged narcotics dealings.

Crew was unhappy over published reports that Barger had made statements about the graves unearthed Monday near Ukiah to a former cellmate who is dying of cancer and has turned police informer.

Banks In U.S.

NEW YORK (UPI)—There are about 14,000 commercial, state and national banks in the United States, employing a total of more than 1 million persons.

Smoother Ride Ahead On Richardson Span

Motorists driving over the Richardson Bay Bridge, at least southbound, experienced a smoother ride today, according to a spokesman for the Division of Highways.

The improvement was due to installation of an asphalt concrete leveling course on both sides of new hinges, which permits expansion and contraction with temperature changes.

Paving in the northbound lanes will begin next week, according to the division. Although the installation of the hinges is not expected to be finished until after another couple of weeks, the spokesman said the leveling course will eliminate bumps which motorists have been experiencing.

Widening work on the southbound direction of the bridge should be completed in six to eight weeks, if the weather permits, the spokesman said, and four full lanes will be opened southbound.

Ross School Board Sets Special Meeting

A special meeting of the Ross School District board will be held Monday at 7:45 p.m. at Ross School to discuss a $18,500 recreation program for the town proposed by the council-appointed Recreation Advisory Board.

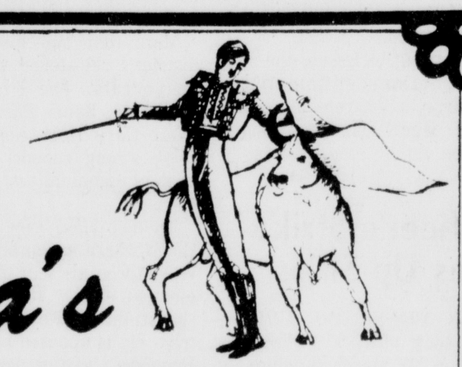

Representatives of the Ross Recreation Committee, the Parent-Teacher Association board and the town council are expected to attend the meeting when Robert Braghetta, chairman of the advisory board, will explain his group's proposals.

The word democracy is from two Greek words, demos which means people, and kratos, power. People-power means that you are vested with the power to choose your leaders and to approve or reject certain propositions. You will fulfill that important right on November 7.
Between now and Election Day, you will find careful coverage of the issues and the candidates in the I-J. The entire Marin Magazine, published with the Saturday, November 4th I-J will be devoted to the election.

DINING OUT AND INNS

By HARRY CRAFT

A Nostalgic Look At Sabella's Over The Years And The Changes

It was 22 years ago that Angelo Sabella opened his seafood restaurant on the flats bordering Richardson Bay.

It was not his first restaurant (originally he opened in Santa Barbara and later returned to the Bay Area). And it is said that he was the first of the famous Sabella family of fishermen to become a restaurateur.

Subsequently other members of the family tried out their luck in San Francisco and also succeeded. That's why you have a Sabella's in Marin and another one in San Francisco. No connection between the two except blood ties.

To this day people speak nostalgically of that first Sabella's in Southern Marin. Some have never quite accepted that it was necessary to give up the old place and build the present, more grandiose establishment about a quarter of a mile further south.

Sometimes I feel the same nostalgia when thinking of that first rambling structure built close to the ground with several individual eating areas separated by glass partitions and little ells. It was constantly being changed and supplemented with new additions. The last, I believe, was the glassed-in outdoor patio which became so popular. There was a little pool in the center which attracted the youngsters, who had to be watched closely lest they end up in it as part of a seafood cocktail.

But in those days construction on the tide flats was far from perfect. Constant early-corrective work was necessary and often interrupted service. Angelo and his wife Vita, his son Lou and daughter Angela, who all worked with him, voted to bail out and build a new place. That was 12 years ago.

I have yet to find a large restaurant that can capture all the intimacy you get in a small place. But you can't eat your baked flounder gourmet and have it, too. Almost every successful restaurateur eventually has to make a choice — expand or stay small. And one way or the other, something has to be sacrificed.

The Sabellas selected the high road — and undoubtedly it was the wise choice. Somehow or other they have managed to maintain some feeling of intimacy in spite of the size of the present restaurant. That has continued even since Angelo's death a few years ago. It was always a family business. Lou, who manages it today, has been with the operation 20 years and was in the family fishing activities before that.

I have never seen a large restaurant in which so many of the patrons are known and called by name — one reason why it remains a very warm place. You get the feeling that as long as there is a Sabella to run it, it always will.

GATE 5 RESTAURANT on Harbor Drive, Sausalito, after eight months ownership by Joe Kara and Ben Ackerman, presents a much more pleasing picture than it did before.

Joe and Ben redecorated it in a nautical theme and have changed the menu to something more Continental. Dishes are rotated often, but you can usually find veal paprikash, veal scallopini, chicken liver saute, curried prawns, coq au vin, filet of sole meuniere and both Hungarian and German offerings according to the whim of the owners. Wines are all imported, as are the beers. Price range of complete dinners is about $2.95 to $5.

There's outside dining on the terrace in good weather and a roaring fire inside when it's cold. You'll find things attractive and comfortable and the food to your liking.

Open from 11 a.m. to 3 p.m. for lunches and from 6 to 11 p.m. for dinners (no dinners served Monday nights). Open for breakfast and brunch from 9 a.m. on Saturdays and Sundays.

NOW THAT DAYLIGHT SAVINGS TIME is off, darkness is here earlier by the clock and those old-time movies are being shown again at Cal's Steak House in San Rafael.

THERE HAVE BEEN CHANGES at the Villa Rafael Restaurant on Lincoln Avenue, San Rafael, now under the proprietorship of Sid Davidov and Bob Grosso.

New dinner menu features steaks, chicken, scampi, stuffed cabbage rolls and several other new items — also a children's menu. Regular dinners are in the $4-$5.95 range, including choices from the salad bar. And there is a "football" spaghetti special now on Monday nights at 99 cents.

Sid and Bob are considering having entertainment in the cocktail lounge, but are a little fussy about getting the right music for the acoustics. Something may develop soon.

AS FAR AS I KNOW, up to now there hasn't been a Marin restaurant specializing in Armenian food.

But today the House of Kebab was expected to open at 4200 Redwood Highway in San Rafael. This is in the Northgate area where the Terra Linda Steakery (sometimes known as just the Steakery) used to be, east of the highway. Steakery owners Emitt Taylor and Bill Canary sold out and have gone to Sacramento.

The new project is one of John Ohanian and Bedros Maronian of Walnut Creek and has been planned as a pilot restaurant for a series of similar establishments. Open Mondays through Saturdays (Sundays for parties and banquets only), it will feature breakfast, lunch and dinner service from 7:30 a.m. to 9 p.m.

Lunches and dinners will offer such dishes as lamb kebab, luleh kebab (seasoned ground lamb and beef), beef kebab and even a burger kebab — along with bulgar pilaf, lavash bread (Armenian cracker bread, served hard or soft), paklava and bourma (pastries with honey and chopped nuts) and semi-sweet Armenian coffee. Wines and beers will be served.

Rally Disruptions Laid To McGovern

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Assemblyman Robert T. Monagan, top official of President Nixon's Northern California campaign, has charged that Sen. George McGovern planned and financed disruption of Republican rallies in Sacramento and Fresno.

Monagan, Tracy, Northern and Central California chairman of the Committee for ReElect the President, said McGovern gave $52,500 in campaign contributions to Cesar Chavez' United Farm Workers Union and paid UFW demonstrators who disrupted the rallies.

Marin Dining And Wining

Friday, November 3, 1972 — Independent-Journal, 27

Entrees for lunch are the same fare, but in sandwich form. Prices are from 85 cents to $1.50. Dinners will run from $1.85 to $2.95, served with soup or salad and pilaf.

THERE IS ONE ADVANTAGE to early dinners at the Fujiyama restaurant on the San Rafael Miracle Mile.

Between 5 and 8:30 p.m. a glass of hot sake will be included with the meal. This goes for Tuesdays through Fridays.

If you haven't had lunch here you should give it a try. Owner-chef Akitoshi Takagawa is turning out four or five good midday dishes priced from $1.35 to $1.50. Service is from noon to 2 p.m.

GATSBY'S in Sausalito now has the Nat Johnson Trio for entertainment Wednesday through Sunday evenings. Nat is a former president of the Sausalito School board.

Mitch Wood and his Red Hot Mama appear Monday and Tuesday nights. Look for Mose Allison to be there Nov. 13 (for one night only).

And what of Gatsby's rambling co-owner, Charlie Peet? Last heard, he was in Cape Town, South Africa. Arrival home will be in March — so he says.

FORMER MILL VALLEY RESTAURATEUR Mary Harkins, who gave up El Paseo to go into large scale production of her popovers, is moving ahead faster than ever.

Besides her bakery at Northgate Industrial Park, she is now planning another in Los Angeles for distribution in that area.

COME TO FIND OUT, this weekend is the second anniversary of Alvarado Inn at Ignacio. You can celebrate either on Saturday or Sunday.

At 4 p.m. Sunday Jimmy Diamond and his Dixieland Jazz Band will make their 24th Sunday appearance. Informal — no cover and no minimum.

You'll have to see and listen to believe the following they now have.

Inmates Cleared In Stabbing Case

SACRAMENTO (UPI) —A Sacramento County Superior Court jury Wednesday acquitted two Soledad Prison inmates on charges of stabbing two prison guards more than 20 months ago.

The inmates, Edward Whiteside, 28, and Raymond Marquez, 23, contended that the guards had provoked them.

Guards Robert F. Dunn and Daniel M. Meusch were stabbed on Feb. 1, 1971, in the prison's wing, a maximum security section that had been the scene of previous violence and deaths.

Library, Firehouse Join For Event

The Larkspur library and the Larkspur Fire Department will join for the first time in the city's "open house" on Sunday, announced Sue Schaefer, president of the Larkspur Chamber of Commerce.

City Merchants have held an open house for 17 years, said Mrs. Schaefer, but this year the library and firehouse also will be open from 11 a.m. to 5 p.m. Refreshments will be served visitors.

Japan-Hanoi Shipping Service Pact Announced

TOYKO (UPI) — A Japanese shipping company said yesterday it has concluded a contract with North Vietnam to start regular shipping service when the war ends.

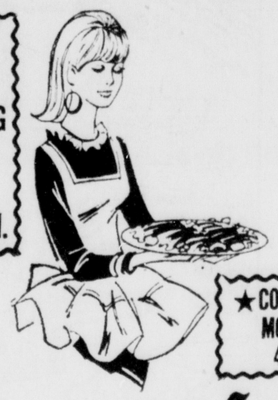

The Seiwa Shipping Co. said it will assign one ship to a Haiphong run for two voyages every month.

A Seiwa spokesman said the contract was concluded in March when a North Vietnamese trade mission visited Japan, but was not made public at the time.

Japanese ships have not called at Haiphong or other North Vietnamese ports since 1966.

The two countries have carried on a small wartime trade by use of ships of third countries.

Difficult Choice For College Board

When candidate filings for the election closed, we expressed pleasure that 15 persons had filed for two vacancies on the Marin Community College District board. Such a field, we felt, showed a commendable amount of interest in this important public body — interest that has not always been present.

Subsequently, two of the 15 withdrew. This still left an extra large field. We looked forward to a lively campaign.

THAT LIVELY campaign has not developed.

Except for a candidates' night last night, public appearances by the college district contenders have been virtually non-existent. Most of them have confined their campaigning to closed groups. Some have not campaigned at all.

In this situation, the voter is placed in a quandary. Unless he personally knows a couple of the candidates, he may be "flying blind" when he reaches that part of the ballot. And most of them are not personally known to very many Marinites.

As the campaign (or non-campaign) has progressed, most attention and headlines have been grabbed by the two "youth candidates": James Kimo Campbell and Gregory Fearon, both former student body presidents at College of Marin.

Four other candidates — Janeanne B. Doar, Dewey W. Roberts, Gene Edward Turtle and Robert C. Walker — are employees of the public schools, in Marin and elsewhere.

WE THINK THAT a conflict of interest arises when a student or school employee serves on a school board. However hard he may try to be impartial, such a person naturally views the issues within the narrowed frame of his own role as student, teacher, or other school employee.

For this reason we would eliminate these six from consideration. That still leaves seven among whom to choose.

FROM OUR personal knowledge of some of the candidates, and from reviewing the rather limited information that has become available from the campaigns, we favor Lyman B. McBride and Harold W. Reimer to fill the two vacancies on the Marin Community College District board.

We realize that this does not provide representation for Novato, which is entitled to it because of Indian Valley Colleges, but we do not regard any of the three Novato candidates as being as likely to provide sound leadership for the district.

McBride, a newspaper advertising representative in San Francisco, is the only candidate with school board experience, having served on the Marin County Board of Education, where he performed creditably.

Reimer, manager of training and development for Industrial Indemnity Co., holds an M.A. in educational administration, so has professional qualifications. He should bring to the board an understanding of industry's needs in the career training of young people.

Therefore we recommend McBride and Reimer for election to the Marin Community College District board.

In The Garden, Please

According to the U.S. Department of Agriculture, waste production by domestic animals in the United States is equivalent to that of a human population of 1.9 billion. If this manure were divided equally, each family would receive 25 cubic yards a year as fair share.

"This would be enough to fill the average 9x15 living room to a depth of five feet, or about chin level on most adults," says the Department of Agriculture.

Please, kind sirs, let us have ours in the garden. Little Freddie is only four feet tall.

Here Are I-J Recommendations

For President ..... RICHARD M. NIXON
For Congress, Sixth District ..... WILLIAM S. MAILLIARD
For Assembly, Seventh District ..... WILLIAM T. BAGLEY
For Supervisor, Second District ..... PETER ARRIGONI Jr.
For Supervisor, Fourth District ..... GARY GIACOMINI
For Marin County College board ..... LYMAN B. McBRIDE and HAROLD W. REIMER

State Propositions:

Prop. 1: Community College construction bonds ..... YES
Prop. 2: Health science facilities bonds ..... YES
Prop. 3: Bonds to build, lease pollution control facilities ..... NO
Prop. 4: Two-year legislative sessions ..... NO
Prop. 5: Permits permissive school legislation ..... NO

WHAT OUR READERS SAY

Fluoride In Water Blamed For Inflammation

Since to have or not to have fluoridation is soon to be voted on, I would like to add my sad experience to what others have written in against it.

Several years ago I returned to the town in the Middle West where I had lived for many years. While living there fluoridation had been turned down twice, but since I had left, it had been put in the water.

I found when bathing in the water the inflammation of my skin — the itching resulting from it unbearable. Evidently whoever had the responsibility of fluoridating the water had put in too much.

Now, it can be argued that this might not happen more than once in ten million times, but once in ten million times would be more than too much for me after my experience. . .

It seems such a waste of money when one considers the many ways water is used, such as watering lawns, laundries, the bath room, kitchen, especially when it can be obtained so easily for those who want it . . .

Would Doctors, Dentists Recommend Poison?

In the Letters to the Editor column, in leaflets and in the fears voiced by my neighbors and friends I am hearing, once more, the inflammatory and irresponsible arguments of the violently anti-fluoridationists.

These false arguments claim, among other things, that the pro-fluoridationists are really the aluminum, steel and fertilizer companies, fluoridation equipment firms, and the manufacturers who have fluoride as a by-product.

When I inquired of the Marin Citizens Committee for Fluoridation why they had not mounted a strong publicity campaign a long time ago, they said it was because they didn't have much money and must wait a while before giving out what material they have. Why haven't these supposed stooges of the aforesaid organizations gotten more money from their alleged cohorts?

And who, by the way, pays the bills for the Pure Water Association of America, Inc.?

Getting down to the oft-repeated argument that fluorine is a poison. It is indeed, as are all the halogens of which fluorine is one. Therefore, following this argument to its logical conclusion, let us stop using all the halogens: no chlorine in our water supplies, or sodium chloride on our tables, no iodine for thyroid conditions, no bromides for sedatives. . .

Can the antis show one single case of fluorine poisoning due to a fluoridated water supply? Can they show one single case of heart, bone, kidney, or other disease directly attributable to fluorine in the water supply?

Do you really think that the vast majority of doctors, dentists, and scientists in the U.S. would endorse a poison for your water? Think!

Water Fluoridation Exceedingly Wasteful

Has anyone really considered the wastefulness of water fluoridation? 99.93 per cent of our water goes down the drain, only .07 per cent of the water supply is used for drinking purposes — and only .01 per cent is consumed by children under 10 whom the opponents claim might be benefited.

According to the Marin Municipal Water District, fluoridation will cost the Marin County citizens $61,200 in 1973. Of that only $52 worth would be used by children under 10.

Fluoride can be provided in tablet form at the cost of $1 per year per child, even free for those who cannot afford it. In other words, anyone who desires fluoride can easily obtain it in controlled dosage without imposing more taxes on the already overburdened taxpayer.

Marin In Anomalous Position On Fluoride

As one who has had a long-standing concern for the environment and the health of my family and other Marin County residents, I congratulate those who are sponsoring the ballot measure to permit fluoridation of Marin water supplies.

It has always seemed anomalous to me that Marin County has held out as a small island against this proven technique for dental hygiene in the face of massive medical evidence of its great value.

Proposition 14 Seen As Conservation Threat

For those still wavering on Proposition 14, the Watson Amendment, I would like to call attention to Section 10, which would have a crippling effect on conservation work. This section would provide that such organizations as the Nature Conservancy would be required to pay property taxes on lands unless the voters decided, at a statewide primary or general election only, to grant that particular parcel of land tax-exempt status. Obviously, this would greatly hamper acquisition of land, particularly where there is an immediate threat of development.

Section 10, which appears on page 16 of the appendix to the gray booklet sent to all voters, has received no attention, it seems.

Simplistic Solution To Housing For Elderly

At the Oct. 25 candidates' night at Red Hill School, Second District Supervisor Peter Arrigoni and challenger Barbara' Boxer were asked how they would reconcile the housing needs of senior citizens and students with citizen preference for low density housing in Ross Valley. Ms. Boxer stated that she saw no objection to the addition of non-conforming apartment units to single family residences in areas zoned for single family use.

I am appalled at such a simplistic solution to a complex problem. Marin County certainly needs adequate low price housing for elderly and low income individuals but we cannot consider a proposal that might well be the first step in converting single family residences into rooming houses . . .

THE NEEDLE

By HAROLD COFFIN

President Nixon promised to campaign only on week ends but, like all other workingmen, he seems to be taking longer week ends.

Dick refuses to play politics. But that doesn't keep him from working at it.

The Nixon-Kissinger Team: An Assessment Of Roles

WASHINGTON — Events have moved so fast and come so far in the last nine months that it is hard to see where Henry Kissinger leaves off and Richard Nixon takes over — or vice versa.

Kissinger is getting most of the headlines — and deserves them.

An imminent cease-fire agreement in Vietnam.

BY ANY STANDARD these are tremendous achievements. To have them realized in a single year is breathtaking. Who made them possible, who primarily brought them off — the President of the United States or his assistant for national security affairs?

Perhaps it doesn't matter who did most or who did what. They are reality and that is what counts above all else. But before opinion gets too fixed on this subject, I would like to venture a judgment, not in any attempt to assign relative credit, but to assess the differing roles played by the President and Henry Kissinger.

The reason it is difficult, bordering on the impossible, to assign relative credit is that each is indispensable to the other. If Mr. Nixon hadn't found Kissinger, he would have had to invent him and it would have been hard to invent somebody as able.

President Nixon picked Kissinger just a few weeks after the 1968 election. They had never known each other until they talked at length at a meeting in Mr. Nixon's working suite at the Pierre Hotel in New York. On the basis of that conversation the President knew he wanted Kissinger for the job.

WHAT DID KISSINGER have to offer the President? He had two decades of study and immersion in foreign policy, mostly from a theoretical standpoint. He had a lucid analytical and creative intellect. He loved his work and could hardly wait to move from theory to practice.

What did the President provide Kissinger? He provided a cool, pragmatic, independent mind. He provided a venturesome willingness to break with the past, if breaking with the past seemed wise and necessary. He knew where he wanted to go and he was more than willing to encourage Kissinger to conceive the best means of getting there.

What did Nixon want Kissinger to help do? He wanted to end the war in Vietnam in the best possible way, he wanted to dissolve the long hostility between China and the United States, he wanted enlarged co-operation with the Soviets, he wanted to replace confrontation with negotiation.

KISSINGER DID NOT plant these goals in the President's mind. These were the goals which Mr. Nixon began to discuss with Kissinger before the inauguration, and the first assignment he gave him was to devise step-by-step approaches to enable Peking to see that Washington was ready to "play ping-pong."

Kissinger provided Mr. Nixon with a choice of solidly conceived options and the President made the decisions. In the main they have turned out to be wise.

Presidential Campaign Leaves Legacy Of Political Immorality

WASHINGTON — So the 1972 campaign seems all over, and in fact it can be reasonably argued that it was over at midnight on July 12, when the votes of the Illinois delegation sealed George McGovern's nomination at Miami Beach by one wing of the Democratic Party. Unless we are in for a surprise dwarfing the one in 1948, all the bile and money spent in these past months is not going to change the face in the White House, and it may not make much difference in the balance of Congress, either.

What, then, will historians see as the main results of this autumn's peculiar mixture of nastiness and apathy?

OBVIOUSLY, FIRST, the end of our part of the war in Vietnam, if it materializes. Election pressure — more on the enemy than on Mr. Nixon, as it eventuated — brought Dr. Kissinger and his counterparts to where they stand today. In theory, that should begin an era of shifted priorities, healed animosities, and holding hands together into the future. But don't count on it.

Also obviously, a painful trauma for the Democratic Party, comparable to the one that rent the Republicans in 1964. The GOP, aided by the antiwar demonstrators, recovered neatly from its Goldwater debacle. Neither the issues nor the party machinery seem now to be aligned in favor of quick Democratic recovery from its McGovern debacle, however. There is no guarantee that the trauma will pass in time for a change of administrations in 1976.

But what may be the most lasting effect of this campaign is not so obvious. If the current administration was as slick as it has tried to be, the public would not even be aware that it is happening. But it is out, partly in the open, for all to see, and you do not have to be Miss Goody Twoshoes to recognize its potential. It is the matter of political morals.

AT THIS POINT, I will exercise the columnist's right of saying once (but only once) in each campaign, "I told you so." Thus I quote my column of last June 11, which was six days before various Republican-paid spies were arrested burglarizing the Democratic National Committee's headquarters:

". . . It is strongly possible that in their very eagerness, the Murray Chotiners, John Mitchells, Lyn Nofzigers and Chuck Colsons of the Nixon entourage will be like the batter who mistakenly swings from his heels at a fat change-of-pace pitch that looks like a guaranteed home run . . . The Nixon tacticians, merciless enough when outside clawing to get in, are operating now for the first time with the power of an incumbent administration. Together, those circumstances may be more than they can handle . . .

"And if the result is a vicious campaign that dredges 'the old Nixon' up out of Democratic memory to match the old Nixon who will appear on television this fall, many of the disgusted traditional Democrats are . . . going to feel deeply obliged to vote against Mr. Nixon, one last time."

WELL, I CONFESS the Nixon tacticians took the whole thing far beyond my wildest imagination. People and techniques unencountered even in political novels have come to light since that was written. And if I underestiamted what the incumbents were capable of in the dirty tricks department, I must confess also that I apparently overestimated many Democrats' reaction to it.

My current hunch is that with the war seemingly disposed of, some of those Democrats who were going to vote against McGovern on Vietnam are now going to vote against Mr. Nixon on dirty tricks. Not enough to them to matter. Most seem not to care very much. But the important part is not the short-range effect on next week's vote, anyway.

It is that this administration, to a degree unprecedented and very likely still undisclosed, has crossed and recrossed the line of propriety in using the people's tax money to preserve itself in office. This is separate from and worse than concealing and lying about tremendous sums of campaign money, which also is happening. It is separate from wiretapping, hiring campaign saboteurs and lavishly paying off big contributors with favors that cost all of us dearly.

It includes, but goes beyond, the open campaigning carried on by the cabinet and virtually every other Nixon appointee whose name is recognizable to the public, no matter how nonpolitical his job theoretically is. It eventually reaches the assignment of the FBI itself to perform blatant political chores at the request of Mr. Nixon's right-hand man, John Ehrlichman himself. In normal times, execution of those chores should dictate the sacking of both Ehrlichman and the FBI director, L. Patrick Gray.

But that is the point. They not only are displaying total disregard for morality, ethics and legality, but they are getting away with it. What is more, in the polls and the likely election results they no doubt perceive that they are being rewarded for it. That is positive reinforcement for an extremely dangerous inclination. And once next Tuesday is past, they never again will have to face the people to account for it. The potential in all those facts taken together makes the rebuilding of the Democratic party, for instance, seem pretty small potatoes.

Nov. 3, 1962

India was reported reactiving World War II U.S. air bases to speed the flow of arms from the United States to meet the Chinese invasion along India's northern border.

County Health Officer Favors Fluoridation

As the county health officer I wish to speak strongly in support of fluoridation of the public water supply as a safe, effective, and desirable public health measure for the reduction of tooth decay. . .

I recommend fluoridation on the basis of what is known today of its safety and effectiveness as a public health measure. If I thought it were not in the best interest of the public's health I would not for one moment recommend it; in fact, I would have used every avenue open to me as health officer to keep it from even getting on the ballot.

There are many persons in Marin County today who are beyond the age at which they would receive maximal benefits from consumption of fluoridated water. There is also undoubtedly an infinitesimally small percentage of the population who probably should not drink fluoridated water — those with an uncommon type of kidney disease who drink large quantities of water, and those who work in very hot environments that lead to truly excessive water consumption, of the order of eight or 10 quarts daily. There may actually be none in Marin who fall into the latter category. The former can be readily identified medically; there are perhaps fewer than a dozen of such cases in Marin now. . .

Marin residents who work in San Francisco are already drinking fluoridated water, as that city has had fluoridation since the early 1950's. (Unfortunately, young children, who benefit most from fluoridation, are not the commuters to San Francisco.)

If the voters approve fluoridation in Marin, it will be my responsibility as the county health officer to see that there is continuous monitoring of the level of fluoride in our water supply, to assure that the public gets what is recommended and what it voted for — no more and no less. It will also be my responsibility to investigate meticulously any bona fide medical claims of ill effects possibly due to fluoridated water. . .

Execution Horrible; Not Answer To Crime

Proposition 17 is on the ballot this November for the reinstatement of the death penalty in California.

It seems incredible to me that this bill is even a point of controversy. We are taught that it is wrong to kill — yet this is essentially what we are condoning.

Is our society so sick that it can only cure its problem children by killing them? I abhor the Oswalds, Mansons, and the Sirhans, but we are merely closing our eyes to our own failure when we take the cruel and inhumane but easy way out by executing them. . .

Our responsibility as members of society should be to see that our misfits are guided into becoming productive individuals or, if this is not possible, to protect society from them. . .

An execution in California required 12 witnesses. The following is what they see: A man is dragged to the chair and strapped into it. Sometimes the victim breaks loose and has to be strapped down again. When death is initiated, the victim arches his back and his head falls back. All muscle control is lost and he defecates and urinates. Eyeballs have been known to pop out of their sockets. Occasionally in hangings the first attempt has failed and the person was hanging but not dead. It has been necessary to reopen the electrocution and gas chamber sometimes and restrap the victim again. This revolting spectacle, were it made public, would have been recognized as barbaric and sick revenge long ago. Does a private exercise make it any more civilized?

A bill to reinstate this grotesque practice must receive a no vote. It is dehumanizing to all who must be a part of any phase of the event — from the jurors to the executioner. There has to be a better way to punish even the most vile crimes that is less expensive, offers less chance of mistakes, and does not demoralize the rest of our society.

Signs On Telephone Polls Don't Get Votes

I can't understand how an incumbent supervisor who says he is a conservationist can permit his campaign signs to be hung on telephone poles and public property.

Fluoridation Opposition Starts Sounding Like Plot

Regarding fluoridation, years ago when the subject first came to public attention, critics went around hinting darkly that it was part of a big conspiracy to addle our brains. Fortunately we outgrew that.

But lately I'm beginning to wonder if the opposition to fluoridation isn't part of some sort of conspiracy to weaken our children's teeth so that they can only eat soft foods, thereby turning us into a nation of flabby weaklings.

Paranoid? Maybe, but what other reason can there be for all the obfuscation and fright propaganda on this issue?

There are miles of statistics to prove that fluoridation prevents or at least substantially reduces tooth decay in the young. The process has been used for at least 20 years to my certain knowledge by cities all over the U.S. with excellent results.

If fluoridation has any harmful effects on human health, certainly that would have been discovered by now, but competent medical authorities are as nearly unanimous as they ever get that it is absolutely safe. . .

So why the attempt to confuse the issue with such esoteric claptrap as the argument that fluoridation of drinking water is an infringement on individual liberty? If that's the case, so are requiring sewage treatment, prohibiting open burning, zoning a private property owner's land and lots of other things we do in the general public interest. . .

Insurance Companies Get Free Tax Ride Also

The "Editor's Notebook" by Jack Craemer concerning insurance companies was right on the money, but he left out one important fact — the freeload treatment insurance companies receive when it comes to paying their fair share of taxes.

Insurance companies are exempt from paying personal property taxes and all license fees, and deduct their property tax payments from the gross premiums tax they pay. The only way to stop this inequity is to vote yes on Proposition 14, the Watson Tax Shift Amendment, on Nov. 7.

Under Proposition 14 insurance companies will pay taxes like other corporations in California — and it's about time!

Not All Could Vote Under Proposition 22

Your Proposition 22 editorial of Oct. 24 bothers us. Your last and most telling point states "they (meaning the farm workers) are entitled to have a say as what union represents them — if any — just as other workers have." Our reading of the proposed law is that it denies the vast majority of the migrant and seasonal farm workers even a chance to vote whether they will be represented by a union.

The right for unions to exist and organize is now a part of our history. Why shouldn't the farm worker have this same choice?

This initiative is bad legislation. It makes striking a crime. It prohibits 85% or more of the migrant farm workers from voting in a union election. The whole election procedure is most undemocratic.

Experience In China Proves Fluoride Value

I am deeply distrubed by the irresponsible attacks on the referendum for fluoridation of Marin's water supply by those who lack either experience or training.

My own childhood experience supports the proponents' claim of a lowered decay rate. I spent the first 15 years of my life in the American community in Tientsin, China, where our water came from an artesian well which had been analyzed as having a rather high amount of fluoride. Until the age of 35, I had no cavities. My sister and all those with whom I grew up and still have contact have just as good a record. We have no mottling and we have had no ill effects.

People without my experience do not relize how totally without foundation are the negative claims of those opposing the addition of fluoride to our water. I sincerely hope our citizens will not be misled by the spurious arguments of the opponents to Proposition B.

I wish my own children had had the benefit that I had. Unfortunately, they grew up in non-fluoridated Marin. . .

Candidate's Mailing Prompts Two Questions

"On June 29 Barbara presented a detailed budget indicating how she would spend and save your tax dollars."

I find Mrs. Boxer's approach to the disposal of my tax dollars somewhat questionable.

1. Why was her "detailed budget" presented six days after the close of the Marin County budget hearings?

2. Why did Mrs. Boxer choose not to present her proposal to the board of supervisors where it properly belongs? . . .

Water Fluoridation Not Optimal Method

An acceptable public health program for the non-communicable disease of dental caries should be directed at getting fluoride to the teeth of children and keep it from the stomachs of adults (who drink more water) where there is a finite probability (however small) of doing specific harm in selected individuals with kidney disease.

Despite endorsement by professionals (organizations and individuals) it is my conviction that the vast majority simply have not bothered to examine the alternative methods, nor the evidence. And more regretably to re-examine the status after almost two decades of water fluoridation trials. Reversal of position is almost unthinkable.

Milk fluoridation has long been used in Switzerland and Austria. There are school programs involving direct fluoride to tooth application, or fluoridation of the school's water only (urban and rural).

Water fluoridation is simply not the optimal way to accomplish the assumed public health goal, and certainly is an important departure from the role of communicable disease prevention.

Surprisingly, public interest groups sometimes fail to apply their same motivating logic here, and uncritically support water as the optimal vehicle.

Medical-dental professiocals recognize that the public looks to them for scientific guidance in public health matters, and blind support of unstudied alternatives and issues will not add to the credibility.

ARTHUR JAMPOLSKY, M.D.

Amazed That Anyone Opposes Fluoridation

As an interested party, taxpayer and mother of 10 children ages 5 years — 14 years, it amazes me that anyone could oppose the fluoridation of our public water supplies in the face of overwhelming support of regional and national studies, statistics and medical authorities. The list of national organizations endorsing fluoridation, including both the American Dental Association and the American Academy of Pediatrics, reminds one of the old saw about "fifty million Frenchmen can't be wrong".

One Good Argument For Proposition 2

On Sept. 18, 1970, the Independent-Journal published news of my daughter's scholastic and social potential, and the community's interest in and support of her. Her name is Courtney Simkins.

Courtney was the recipient of several scholarships and grants, federal, on the state level, and locally . . . She announced at that time that she wanted to become a doctor and has systematically worked towards that goal ever since. She is a constant recipient of Economic Opportunity grants and various University of California grants in aid, and has the Redwood Scholarship Foundation's continued backing. She has never taken a break or a vacation and has gone to school at U.C. Berkeley straight through two summers. She is obtaining a B.S. in biology before applying to U.C. San Francisco Medical School. She wants to attend U.C. San Francisco Medical School in particular she told me . . .

In fair competition, i.e. enough room for qualified candidates, I know she would have a good chance to be accepted at the state medical school where she feels she can gain the best background for her needs.

What about our part? If Proposition 2 does not pass, Courtney and others like her, i.e. pre-med students who are taxpayer-supported because of merit, good potential for future public service, and financial need, may after this much investment on the part of the people, be driven out of the profession as Peter Behr suggests . . .

Fluoridated Milk Would Provide Choice

To force fluoridated water upon so many people who adamantly dislike it is not a part of our democratic society. It is more democratic to provide fluoride for the age group, the first 12 years, which primarily benefits from it, than to force the great majority over 12 to drink it.

We all must have water to survive. What right have any of us to add a substance to water which many older people with certain health problems cannot drink and which many other people just refuse to drink?

Why not add another category to milk: non-fat, low-fat, homogenized, or fluoridated? Then we have a choice.

Chaos In Taxation Already With Us

The mansion in Robson Park (which costs the taxpayers of San Anselmo $141 per day to maintain — $53,000 last year alone) was rented to the wife of the newest councilman, Mrs. Martin Blinder, for $25 the other evening for a money-raising party for Barbara Boxer, a candidate for political office.

The taxpayers of San Anselmo now have the highest tax rate of any city in Marin, thanks to the councilmen who forced the discussion on the budget open at the last minute specifically to raise the rate 10 cents.

The San Anselmo school board thought they had a surplus of funds, spent an extra hundred thousand or two, and then discovered they really had a deficit, at which time the tax rate went up 17 cents. Total for the two local taxing entities — 27 cents.

Mr. Mike Mitchell, auditor-controller of Marin County, told the members of the Irate Taxpayers of Marin that he favors passage of the Watson Amendment, Proposition 14, since "it will put some of the taxing power back in the hands of the people where it belongs."

We are grateful to hear from a man of Mr. Mitchell's status. To those who cry "chaos" if the Watson Amendment passes, we ask, "Do you prefer the increasing chaos as outlined above?"

Balmer Hates Those Lunches But Feels He Has To Eat Them

The Independent-Journal's disclosures of sloppy expense accounts among public officials raise at least one interesting question: Does anything constructive take place at those mysterious "business lunches"?

Tiburon City Mgr. Bert A. Balmer, who charged at least 34 lunches last year to his expense account, steadfastly maintains he's doing the city a favor when he eats out.

"What the city is buying (for the price of my lunch) is one and a half hours of my time which I don't owe the city. I should be on my lunchbreak and I'd be hundreds of dollars ahead if I was paid for my time rather than for my lunch," declares Balmer.

"I don't enjoy the lunches, but I take them because in my business I have to."

He said an undisturbed hour and a half over drinks and lunch, with one or two people, is often the most constructive period of the day.

"The office is a lousy place to work. There are always phone calls and people to speak with.

"In fact, if I really have to turn out something major for the city council, I have to leave city hall."

He says he usually accomplishes a great deal when he eats and meets with a department head, developer or official from another city.

"If it's honestly used," he concludes firmly, "the business lunch is the best thing in the world for the taxpayers."

MEANWHILE, everyone in municipal government has a wisecrack to make about those environmental impact studies, including Stan Bala, city engineer for Mill Valley and Tiburon.

Buried beneath a ton of engineering reports, he recently grumbled, "They'll have to cut down an entire forest to make the paper for all those studies. That's the real environmental impact."

Speaking of impact studies, it's curious that the Mill Valley City Council, which so diligently established guidelines for requiring impact studies, forgot the subject when it approved the plans for the Miller Avenue extension moments later.

What's the matter, council? No impact study needed for the city's biggest construction project in years?

THE ROUGH WOODEN drydocks in the middle of Richardson Bay were transformed into an outdoor restaurant recently, complete with crystals and china, white tablecloths and strolling musicians.

The festive event was put on by Bon-Sol Vintners of San Francisco to introduce several of their new wines.

COUNTY COMMENT

By WILLIAM D. (BILL) FUSSELMAN

Proposition A Not Proper Way To Create Parks District

During the past 10 or 15 years, whenever the opportunity presented itself, I have urged that a countywide parks and recreation district be formed. You see, I was raised in the Puget Sound country and know of the advantages of many small parks — parks that were of easy access.

It has always been my belief that that phase of community life would be better served were it separated from what should be the serious conduct of county business.

The easy and, I believe, sensible arrangemnt would be to transfer the parks and recreation department over to such a countywide district. The folks who have been serving as commissioners would become commissioners of the new body.

THIS SHIFTING would not create another bureaucracy; quite the contrary. As it is now, the procedure is, or should be, that the director of parks and recreation reports to the commission, who in turn must channel any matter through the county administrator to the board of supervisors.

This sort of thing is one of the greatest causes of the excessive cost of the dizzyland that we now have — unnecessary paper work, taking up hours of personnel time for the round trips.

Proposition "A" on the ballot next Tuesday is not for the purpose of providing what the title indicates. It's a misleading maneuver to purchase open space.

The proponents are asking you to give them a blank check. I haven't seen any statement as to what land they propose to buy or what the estimated cost is. You know that it's pretty hard to believe that they have done any work along those lines, when we witnessed the hilarity they exhibited when they interrupted the board of supervisors to extol the virtue of open space. They were dressed in costumes of the play that was written by our county counsel and which had as one of the actors the supervisor from Southern Marin.

IF THE PROPOSITION carries, the folks living out Lucas Valley way and their neighbors who are in the process of buying 184 acres of open space, together with San Rafael and Tiburon taxpayers, will be taxed twice — for the areas they really wanted for their enjoyment and for any levy required to support the purchases made under the proposed plan.

West Marin will also be taxed in spite of the fact that the properties out there are restricted to 60-acre plots per homesite, thus making it practically impossible for any development in that area.

It's a shame that this proposition was presented with such an atmosphere of being on a lark.

YEARS AGO

When this hand was played some years ago in the National Open Pair Championship, Paul Hodge of Houston, Tex., opened the king of diamonds. Hodge then did a little thinking, which explains why he won the championship.

Hodge saw that he could win only one diamond. There wasn't much hope of a trump trick in view of the strong bidding. He therefore needed three tricks in the black suits.

RIGHT ACTION

Those three tricks could be won if his partner had the king of clubs, or even if his partner had the ten of clubs and some other sure winner. Immediate action of the right kind was needed — so Hodge led the five of clubs!

Ben Fain of Houston, Hodge's partner, played the ten of clubs from the East hand. South naturally had to win with the queen.

Declarer drew trumps and promptly went after the spades, his best chance for the contract. This allowed Fain to win a spade trick with the king.

CLUB RETURN

The club return was marked and Hodge got two club tricks. This was just enough to defeat the contract. If Hodge had not switched to clubs at the second trick, the defenders could get only one club trick — and South would make the contract.

Narcotic Symptoms Show Up In Babies

NEW YORK (UPI) —A state legislative committee says that at least 548 babies were born with narcotic withdrawal symptoms in New York City's hospitals last year and another 1,500 such cases may have gone unreported.

In releasing its survey Wednesday, the Assembly's Select Committee on Child Abuse said doctors reported that "confusion, chaos, and poor cooperation" between hospitals and the central Registry of Child Abuse and Neglect hampered full and accurate reporting of such cases.

BIRTHDAY QUIZ

By GORDON B. GREB

Party Time? Invite today's celebrities and you'll certainly have lots of fun. They're experts on white-tie affairs like those given in Washington, or the swinging mod life of London, or the top games in town. See who you can get!

Famous Birthdays Today

1. James (Soctty) Reston, 63, today, is a favorite in the nation's capital because he knows what's happening. He's a reporter who makes a living analyzing politics; so good, in fact, that New York Times promoted him to Vice president. But writing is the first love of this ex-sports publicist. Why call him "Scotty"? Because he was born in Scotland, or because he pinches pennies. Guess which!

2. John Barry, London-born pop music composer, celebrates his 39th birthday today. He has composed for films as "Born Free," "Goldfinger," and "The Lion in Winter." Guess how many of these won him Academy Awards — one, two, or three?

3. Bob Feller, ace Cleveland Indians pitcher, now retired, reaches 54 today. Only Sandy Koufax pitched more no-hitters than Bob, who had three, tying Boston's Cy Young. Feller also had the best won-lost pitching record for the American League in 1951. Anybody know if he's in Baseball's Hall of Fame?

4. Benvenuto Cellini, Italian engraver, sculptor, and goldsmith, was born on Nov. 3, 1500, in Florence. An eccentric, wild sort of fellow, he nevertheless created some of the finest works in metal of any Renaissance artist. At Rome he was for a time a pupil of Michelangelo, Da Vinci or Raphael?

Answers

1. Born in Scotland.
2. Two.
3. Yes.
4. Michelangelo.

Nov. 3, 1972

Happy Birthday to:

Help Asked In Saving Playgrounds

The Old Adobe School District board last night asked city cooperation in saving playground areas from ruin by outside spgrts events.

Schools Supt. Dean D. Magowan said the board was concerned that soccer leagues using turfed playing fields at Bernard Eldredge and La Tercera schools during rainy weather would ruin the fields for regular school programs.

Magowan said the Petaluma Recreation Department plans to use the fields for league play regardless of weather or condition of the fields. He said that while the city has promised to replant the damaged fields, the new grass would not have time to take hold since the flag football season closely follows the end of the soccer season.

The board told Magowan to ask that play be restricted to days when weather is good and fields are not wet.

The Old Adobe School District board also:

MEETINGS — Heard representatives of the Old Adobe Teachers Association report they plan to hold monthly grade meetings so teachers from various schools can gather to discuss new teaching techniques.

WATSON — Received a report that if the Watson initiative is approved Tuesday by voters it would reduce income for Sonoma County schools by $9 million and for Marin County schools by $16 million for the 1973-74 school years.

LEAVE — Granted the request of teacher Linda Horciza for a pregnancy leave from March to September.

Eight Capture Parade Prizes

Eight winners in the annual Halloween parade were announced today by the Greenbrae Property Owners' Association, which staged a party attended by more than 600 children and parents Tuesday at Greenbrae School.

Winners were ages 1 to 3, Robert Schmits, first, and Michele Massocca, second; ages 4 to 5, Walter Glaser and Doni Torretto; ages 6 to 7, Karen Meiswinkel and Jenifer Debonis; ages 8 to 9, Shelby Stone and Leslie Cicurel.

Judges were Beth Ashley, Gloria Ricardi and Vince Ghio.

Shop Center Kidnap Suspect Is Arrested

A 26-year-old San Rafael man was arrested yesterday on suspicion of kidnap after a 20-year-old woman told San Rafael police he attacked her in a parked car in San Rafael's Montecito shopping center, then forced her from the auto.

Officers said the man, Patrick Castillo Ibanez of 25 Santa Margarita Drive, may be connected with several similar attacks in Marin dating back to last year.

At 4:25 p.m., police quoted the woman as saying, she was seated in the auto waiting for her mother to return from a store in the shopping center when a man described as sloppily dressed appeared at the window.

"Hi. Do I know you?" the man was quoted as saying.

With that, the woman told police, the man entered the auto and tried to force her to the rear seat. He then grabbed her around the neck and pulled her screaming from the car, police said.

The woman told officers her cries for help apparently frightened the man and he backed off. She ran to the store to get her mother while witnesses held the man later identified by officers as Ibanez.

He was booked into Marin County Jail on $5,000 bail to appear today in Marin municipal Court.

Felony Charge Is Dropped; Mother Fined

A felony charge of child molesting against a 26-year-old Larkspur man was dismissed yesterday for lack of evidence, but the mother who turned him in for allegedly molesting her son didn't fare as well.

Judge Gary W. Thomas of Marin Municipal Court found the Mill Valley woman, who soon is expecting another child in contempt of court for refusing to let her son testify and fined her $500.

Baty then dismissed the charge against Dean D. Drages because, he said, the man did not have a chance to examine his accuser.

The mother refused to bring her 8-year-old son to court Tuesday and Thomas told her to bring him yesterday or face contempt.

Instead of her child, she brought a letter from a psychiatrist who wrote that if the boy testified, it "would not be helpful for him psychologically."

Drages was arrested Oct. 13 on a warrant after the woman told police Drages participated in illegal sexual acts with her child June 4 on a Mill Valley fire trail.

Bound Over On Burglary

A 26-year-old San Anselmo man has been bound over to Marin Superior Court on charges of burglary and concealing stolen property resulting from a tip by a San Rafael sports store.

Judge Peter Allen Smith of Marin Municipal Court ordered Edward Calvin Hunt to appear Nov. 8.

Hunt was arrested Oct. 17 after the western sport shop reported he sold two guns at the store. The guns were stolen from a San Anselmo residence Oct. 6, according to police.

Natural? YES!!

Fluoridation duplicates nature's own way of providing normally strong, tough teeth. The fluoride used is no different than the fluoride found naturally in water. The amount is controlled at the proven ideal level. Fluoride is an essential nutrient - not a medication or synthetic additive. We all need it for protection against our most common disease - tooth decay.

Artificial? NO!!

Safe for All? YES!!

There has never been a case of fluoride poisoning from drinking fluoridated water. It is simply impossible. The safety factor is so great one could not begin to drink enough water to be harmed by the fluoride in it. From the youngest to the oldest, the richest to the poorest: everyone will gain, no one will lose. Accept these needed benefits. We can't afford to tolerate the untruth linking this proven health measure to pollution. Trust those who know and care. Men of health and science agree - our best health investment is measure B.

'Operation Recap': Military's Plan For Freed POWs

By DANA ADAMS SCHMIDT
The Christian Science Monitor News Service

WASHINGTON — No aspect of the Vietnam War has been more carefully planned by the armed services of the United States than the return of hundreds of American prisoners of war whose release is expected immediately after the signing of a cease-fire.

The return has been codenamed "Operation Recap," a designation without ascertainable meaning. It might better have been called "Operation Compassion" to indicate the quality of the care which a task force representing the four services intends to lavish on the liberated men from the moment they are released until they are restored to their families, and, in many cases, long after that.

In its first stages the return will be to an overseas central processing center which, it is generally believed at the Pentagon, will be situated at Clark Airfield in the Philippines. Okinawa and Guam have, however, also been considered. The second stage will be a move across the Pacific to a score or more military hospitals in the United States where the men will be reunited with their families.

After flying the Pacific in specially equipped C-141 transports, with a bed as well as a seat for each man, they will be assigned to the military hospital nearest their home.

Planning of this operation began in the last days of the Johnson administration and was the object of an elaborate conference in Hawaii last August.

It will be carried out by Dr. Roger E. Shields and his assistant, Russell Ogan, who is director of the prisoners of war and missing in action task force. Shields is on the staff of Assistant Secretary of Defense Dr. Warren Nutter.

Wherever the North Vietnamese, the Pathet Lao, and the Communist force in Cambodia may decide to release their prisoners, they will be met by teams representing the four services and whisked by air to the central processing center. A few may be so ill that they will be taken to the nearest hospital. But acute illness is not generally expected.

Although conditions were bad a few years ago, the North Vietnamese are believed to have been putting themselves out to give their prisoners the best possible care in recent months. A handful who are believed to have been held in caves and jungle hideouts in Cambodia may, however, be in poor shape.

On the basis of studies of 64 men who have been previously released, or who escaped, military experts anticipate more psychological than physical problems.

Three of these men have been prisoners eight years; 74 for seven years, and 276 for five or six years.

For such long-term prisoners coming home may not be easy. America has changed. Families have changed. In a few cases wives have divorced husbands who were prisoners. Children have grown up. The children may not recognize their fathers. The men have grown used to living alone. They may be nervous about their roles as husbands, about jobs, about a thousand aspects of readjustment.

In most cases, past experience has shown, wives and husbands have in their imaginations over the years idealized each other. The men are likely to have idealized also the United States. Shield's task force will try to minimize disillusionment.

Along with exhaustive physical checkups at the processing center, the men will receive individual brochures containing vital information that has been prepared in interviews with about 2,000 family members. This begins with their home telephone number and an offer of free telephone calls, and includes photographs and information about accumulated pay, insurance, deaths and illnesses in the family.

A "comfort kit" will provide toilet articles while a new uniform, complete with insigna and decorations, tailored to his official military measurements, will be ready for each man. Tailors will be on hand to make whatever adjustments are needed.

From time to time throughout this and later stages of the return, the task group will carry on intensive "debriefing" of prisoners. The importance thereof, as Shields explained recently to the House Armed Services Committee, is that the men's memories are likely to be the best source of information about those who have not returned — 1,271 individuals listed as missing. Furthermore, most men feel an intense need to tell their personal stories to an understanding audience.

Some men will spend only a few days at the center, others 10 to 14 days, depending on their problems. If it is judged wise to keep them at the center longer than that, their families will be provided transportation for a reunion overseas.

However, the Department of Defense has emphatically advised other families not to try to meet husbands and sons overseas, but to wait until they are informed at which hospital in the United States their men will arrive.

Families, including children, will get paid transportation and free housing while they are welcoming the released prisoners. In cases where men are kept in a hospital a long time the Defense Department will pay for moving the families.

The families are asked to bring along some favorite personal items, like a bathrobe, slippers, or after-shave lotion.

Bridge Construction Firm Is Attacked

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A state safety engineer told an Assembly committee yesterday the contractor on a collapsed Foothill Freeway bridge was "the lousiest construction firm I ever had to deal with."

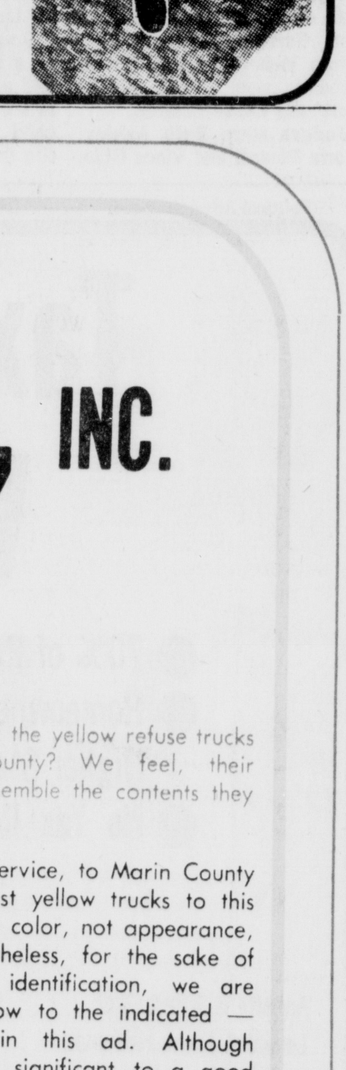

Gerry Habeck told the Assembly Select Committee on Industrial Safety, which is conducting a two-day probe into the bridge failure, that state safety engineers had to personally supervise the work to feel it was being done properly. "If you left it did not get done," he said. "They did what they wanted when they wanted to do it."

BAY CITIES REFUSE SERVICE, INC.

Have you noticed some of the yellow refuse trucks operating in Marin County? We feel, their appearance sometimes resemble the contents they transport.

Expansion of our refuse service, to Marin County in 1961, brought the first yellow trucks to this area. But, since then, the color, not appearance, has been copied. Nevertheless, for the sake of proper association and identification, we are changing from total yellow to the indicated — grey and yellow — in this ad. Although appearance may not be significant to a good service, we believe, its association with a good service, more acceptable to a community. In addition, we believe, proper appearance is conducive to the continued beautification of Marin County and promise: in all phases of our operation, we shall attempt to contribute our part to it's beauty and environmental protection. In the past the appearance of our trucks have always been accepted by the areas we serve — Sausalito and Marin City, but feel mistaken identity was possible by other areas in Marin County.
So, in the near future, please associate the grey and yellow refuse trucks to Bay Cities Refuse Service, Inc., serving Sausalito and Marin City.

Sincerely,
BAY CITIES REFUSE SERVICE, INC.

Pro Football Diet On Television Menu

Sunday will be one of those five-hour sessions in front of the picture tube. The grass can grow a foot high and that leaky roof can stand another day of dripping. There's football on that tube, woman, and bring me in another beer on your way to the ironing board. The 49ers will be trying to duplicate last week's showing against the Falcons when they go against the young, but potent, Green Bay Packers in Milwaukee. That game will be on the tube via the CBS network starting at 11 a.m. Then at 1 p.m., the very important game between the Raiders and Kansas City Cheifs will be shown by NBC as the second half of a network double-header.

I have the feeling it is going to be another big day for the Bay Area. I think San Francisco's much criticized backup quarterback Steve Spurrier is going to have another good day with his floating passes and Oakland's Daryle Lamonica will have a good day with his more conventional tosses. I pick the Niners to win by seven and the Raiders by three. And I said "pick," not "bet." I need my lunch money.

THINGS DO NOT look very good for Ray Leach, the young man from Novato who is trying to win himself a little card that would allow him to compete with the big boys in the Professional Golfers Association.

Ray is having a rough time on the fairways and greens of Silverado Country Club in Napa at the PGA's Approved Tournament Player School. With two rounds to go, Ray, the product of Novato High who rose to All-American golfing stardom at Brigham Young University is far down the list of 81 hopefuls trying to join the alpaca brigade.

Leach has rounds of 80, 73, 77 and 80 for a 310 total. The low 22 scorers and ties will qualify for the tour and Leach's total now puts him 13 strokes off the score of the 21st man on the list, and 25 big ones off the co-leaders, Vic Regalado of Mexico and Larry Stubblefield of Hawaii, each with 285. It looks like Ray will have to wait another year.

SAINT MARY'S COLLEGE quarterback Jim Peters, a senior from Corte Madera who played at Redwood High and College of Marin, will be trying for another big game Sunday (after church, of course) against Loyola University in Los Angeles. Peters was named Player of the Week by the Northern California Football Writers from his performance last Saturday in the Gaels' 42-21 victory over Azusa Pacific.

When Peters came into the game with 5:40 left in the second quarter, the Gaels were trailing 21-7. Under his quarterbacking the Gaels narrowed the score to 21-14 at intermission and then knocked the z out of Azusa in the second half. Peters completed 13 of 17 passes for 191 yards and two touchdowns. It's no wonder Peters won himself a starting job for Sunday's game.

CHAPTER TWO of the Bill Denson story. If you read the words of wisdom in this space yesterday, you know about Denson bowling a 703 series when he was actually trying for his first 600 ever. Last night he made his first 600, a fine 642 in the 845 Scratch League at Nave Lanes. Not too many persons can claim a 700 series before ever rolling a 600. What a hot streak!

CONGRATS to Raymond F. Luce of Kentfield, a member of the Meadow Club, for his election as first vice president of the Northern California Golf Association.

CONFRONTATION — Portland Trail Blazer guard Geoff Petrie (45) leaped to get his shot past Golden State Warrior center Nate Thurmond (42), but the Warrior star slapped the ball away in Oakland last night. The Warriors won the National Basketball Association game, 118-104.

Optimistic Views Of Giants' McCovey

Sports

Independent-Journal, 33
Friday, November 3, 1972

By JOSE SARGIS

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — If it's all right with baseball in general and the San Francisco Giants in particular, Willie McCovey would like to forget the last two years and think about the next one — 1973.

"You can throw those two out as far as I'm concerned," McCovey was saying the other day in between exercises for his knee and right arm.

Since the 1972 season ended only a month or so ago, naturally it is fresher on his mind than 1971, but one thing the two seasons had in common for the big slugger is that both were marked by injury. That's why Willie wants to forget.

"It won't do me or the club any good to dwell on what happened," Willie was saying, "that's all over with now — I hope — and all I want to concern myself with is the next season — 1973."

In the event someone came in late, McCovey, baseball's most feared hitter, played in only 105 games in 1971 because of an arthritic left knee, and in 1972 he got into action an even fewer 81 games — and most of them as a pinch-hitter — because of a broken right forearm.

It's been only a couple of weeks since doctors removed a nearly foot long steel rod from McCovey's arm —the one he broke in the fourth game of the 1972 season. Now, he's lifting five pound weights to strengthen the arm and later he's going to a local gym and step up the pace a little.

Daily, McCovey goes through a practice ritual in his own living room. First, he lifts the small weight with his right arm. Then, he squeezes a small rubber ball — the kind boxers use to keep their arm muscles in tone — and a little later he picks up a weighted bat and takes a couple of dozen practice swings — right there in his living room.

"I know it sounds a little ridiculous to be swinging a bat indoors," Willie interrupted to say, "but I do it to build up my wrists. You know, 90 per cent of hitting a baseball is in the wrists."

That may be true but if you've watched McCovey swing a bat in a game you get the feeling it's all sheer power. Yet, despite his big frame (6-4 and 230) McCovey has one of the smoothest swings in baseball, and like all good hitters he brings the bat around quickly. That's the combination — quickness and a smooth swing — that enables him to hit the ball as far as he does.

His exercises over with for the day, McCovey sat down and relaxed and talked about the future.

"I'll start up the heavy work in the gym next week" he said. "I'll lift a little heavier weights with my arm and start up the leg exercises. Oh yes, I still have to work on my legs in the off-season. I need the work in my left leg especially to

ATTITUDE A FACTOR

Tam Vs. Redwood Grid

Attitude will be a big factor tomorrow afternoon when upstart Tamalpais High School will attempt to ruin Redwood's championship hopes in a Marin County Athletic League football game at Redwood at 1 o'clock.

"Our guys really surprised themselves. They didn't realize they could do it, but now they're really up," said Tam coach Mike Davlin, whose team stunned San Marin last Saturday, 36-22.

"Tam's victory was the best thing that could have happened to us," said Redwood coach Phil Roark. "Now our kids won't take them (Tam) lightly. It's going to be a ball game."

Redwood (6-1 on the year) defeated Novato last Saturday, 20-14, to throw the MCAL race into a three-way tie among the Giants, Hornets and Terra Linda.

Tam enters the game with a strong offense featuring the backfield of Fred Adams and Alvin Price, who rank third and fourth respectively in league rushing statistics, and combined for 203 yards on the ground last week.

The passing attack could e crippled, however, by the loss of star Dennis Morini. The league's leading receiver sustained an ankle injury against San Marin and will not start tomorrow. He will be repalced at split end by Bill Duvall and at safety by Price.

"We'll probably throw on them," said Roark, confirming Davlin's worst fears. Tam's defense ranks last in the league over-all and second to last in guarding against the past. Redwood has a fine aerial attack with quarterback John Troppmann, split end Katsumi Johnson, and pass-catching backs Mike Connor and Daryl Edralin.

Ron Small will start at fullback, replacing Bill Edralin, who reinjured his problem knee in practice. Rick Russell, who made the game-saving tackle on the final play against Novato, will start at right linebacker

CALL FOR A DOCTOR: PLAY BALL!

Marin General Hospital doctors and the institution's male staff will work off some hostilities Sunday, 1 p.m., while competing in a benefit football game on the College of Marin football field.

The doctors face the hospital's male staff of surgical technicians and nurses in a game for the Marin Heart Fund.

Donations are 25 cents per person, "but we're willing to accept larger contributions for this worthy cause," said Jan Davis, publicity chairman for this second annual grid battle.

TEXAS GOLF

Club Pro Loy Takes 1-Shot Lead

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (UPI) — Bobby Loy, a chunky club pro who decided to have a fling at the tour this season and has only $115 to show for it, fired a seven-under-par 65 Thursday to take the first round lead in the $125,000 Texas Open.

Loy, 32, birdied five of the first nine holes he played and coasted in without a bogey to take a one-shot lead over Dan Sikes. Orville Moody, Mike Hill and two lesser lights — Tom Watson and Larry white — were another stroke back at 67. Napa's Ron Cerrudo had a 69.

Lee Trevino, playing before what he considers "my people," shook off a disastrous start to post a 39-32—71, the same score fired by last week's tour winner — Lanny Wadkins.

A group of golfers came in with 68s, four under par over the 7,011-yard, par-72 Woodlake Golf Club course, rushed to completion for this tournament.

In with 68s were J. C. Snead, Bob Shaw, Charles Sifford, George Johnson, Dale Douglass, Ronald Weber and Labron Harris.

Loy played in five tournaments in 1965 after graduating from little Elon College near Greensboro, N.C., but then took a job as a club pro in Burlington, N.C. This year, however, with the aide of a backer from Indianapolis, Ind., Loy decided to have another shot at the big money. He has had nothing but trouble for his efforts.

The only money he has won came from a 38th place finish in a satellite tournament in Shreveport, La., in May.

But Thursday he could do no wrong. He ran in a 20-foot birdie putt on the first hole he played starting on the back nine and then put in putts of 12, 2, 5 and 3 feet to turn in 31.

After four straight pars on the back nine he put two more birdies on the board with putts of 2½ and 30 feet.

"I just felt like when I wanted to hit a good shot I could pull it off," said Loy, who resembles a fullback more than he does a golfer.

"I don't know if this could be a turning point in my career. If I play good I could sure use the money."

Barry Having Fun With Warriors

OAKLAND (UPI)—Rick Barry says he is having more fun playing basketball this year and his Golden State Warrior teammates agree with him.

"If we play like we are capable, I can't see why we can't beat anyone," said Barry after the Warriors came from behind for the second straight game to down the Portland Trail Blazers 118-104 Thursday night in the only game played in the National Basketball Association.

"I'm having more fun playing this year. There is no pressure on me to score. I'm just happy to set the guys up with passes."

Barry tossed in 20 points, had 10 assists and ran his consecutive free-throw string to 37 by sinking two. The win boosted the Warriors to a half-game lead over the Los Angeles Lakers in the Pacific Division of the NBA.

Cazzie Russell and Jeff Mullins triggered a 17-8 spree at the end of the third period that wiped out a 72-71 lead by Portland. Russell scored seven points and Mullins added six in the spurt.

Russell topped the Warriors scoring with 23 points while Nate Thurmond added 20. Thurmond led the rebounders with 17.

Another hero for the Warriors was Joe Ellis whose 12 points helped the Warriors overcome a 38-26 deficit at the end of the first quarter. Golden State outscored Portland 33-17 in the second period to pull 59-55 at the half.

Ellis came off the bench and played 25 minutes after Russell got in trouble early with three personals in the first quarter. Ellis hit on 7 of 11 for 16 points.

"I'd like to be playing more but I realize what the situation

Girls Tennis Upset

Marin Catholic High School's girls tennis team won all three singles matches yesterday to upset previously undefeated San Rafael, 3-2, in a Marin County Athletic League match at San Rafael.

Redwood Harriers Favored In Meet

Redwood High School, to the surprise of nobody, is favored to sweep team honors in the varsity and freshman-sophomore categories when the Marin County Athletic League cross-county meet is held tomorrow at 2 p.m. near Bon Tempe lake.

The top five individuals in each race will advance to the North Coast Section Division III meet Thursday. So will no more than one half of the teams — three in varsity, two or three in frosh-soph.

Redwood, undefeated in MCAL dual-meet competition at 12-0, has five individuals of approximately equal ability — Pete Sweeney, Ned Overend, Jan-Eric Moller, Mike Killeen and Dave Brainerd. Any threat to their supremacy is most likely to come from Gary Lathrop of San Marin.

San Rafael and Tamalpais, which tied for second at 9-3, are most likely to be the other two teams qualifying. At the frosh-soph level, undefeated Redwood will be led by Pete Demarais and Augie Louis, while San Rafael and Tam are expected to provide most of the challenge.

Exhibition races will be held for freshmen and girls. Redwood fields a strong girls team and Kate Keyes of Tamalpais is an outstanding individual. Runners in these classes do not advance to Division III, although some girls may be chosen for an invitational exhibition race in connection with the North Coast Section meet Nov. 15.

The Bon Tempe course is three miles long for varsity, two miles long for other classes.

Martin Luther King Track Meet Slated At Duke

DURHAM, N. C. (UPI) —The Martin Luther King international freedom game, a major track and field meet, will be held at Duke University May 12 next year, it was announced Thursday.

The meet, held in Philadelphia the past two years, will be nationally televised by CBS-TV, according to Dr. Leroy Walker, North Carolia Central University track coach, who made the announcement.

Walker said "firm" commitments to attend the track meet had been received from Kip Keino of Kenya, Olympic golf medalist in the 3,000-meter steeplechase and John Skii-Bua of Uganda, 400-meter hurdles world record holder. Invitations have been extended to other foreign athletes, including Russian Olympic medalist Valerity Borzov.

The one-day meet is sanctioned by the Southern Christian Leadership Conference and the Martin Luther King Foundation.

Lindblad Sent Back To The A's

By U. P. INTERNATIONAL

OAKLAND — The world champion Oa kland Athletic have reacquired left-handed relief pitcher Paul Lindblad from the Texas Rangers for minor league infielder Bill McNulty and a player to be named later.

Lindblad was 5-8 with the last place Rangers last season and had a 2.61 earned run mark.

More Baseball

SAN FRANCISCO — Juan Marichal is on a "loose program" of reconditioning as suggested by his surgeon, Dr. Daniel Meub.

The 34-year-old San Francisco Giants pitching star, who has won 227 games, Thursday started his program after undergoing surgery Oct. 9 at the Stanford Medical Center for a "protruding" lumbar disc.

CLEVELAND — Former Cleveland Indians pitcher and Hall of Famer Bob Feller was named in an $800,000 alienation of affection suit filed Thursday.

Donald W. Thorpe of Suburban Gates Mills filed the suit in Cuyahoga County Common Pleas Court, charging that Feller won the love of his wife, Anne, "through his renowned baseball fame" and because Feller had been a frequent visitor to the Thorpe home since late 1969.

Basketball

PHILADELPHIA — The Philadelphia 76ers of the National Basketball Association Thursday traded forwards Bill Bridges and Mel Counts to the Los Angeles Lakers for center Leroy Ellis and forward John Q. Trapp.

Ellis, 32, is an 11-year NBA veteran and originally was a first-round draft choice of the Lakers in 1962.

Trapp, out of Nevada Southern, is in his fifth year in the league and is 27 years old.

The 76ers obtained the 7-foot Counts last month in a deal with the Phoenix Suns.

The 33-year-old Bridges, considered one of the best offensive rebounders in the league, came to Philadelphia last November in a deal with Atlanta. Bridges is in his 11th NBA season and has averaged 14 points while starting every game this season.

Tennis

GOTEBORG, Sweden — Tiburon's Bob Lutz was upset here yesterday in the Goteborg $50,000 World Championship of Tennis Tournament.

The Marinite, seeded seventh, was surprised by Pakistan's Haroon Rahim, 6-2, 7-6.

Earlier, Roy Emerson of Australia also joined the quarter-finalists, beating Cliff Drysdale of South Africa 6-2, 6-4.

AN EXHAUSTING PRACTICE

Washington Redskin quarterback Billie Kilmer (52) warmed up his passing arm in practice yesterday at Chantilly, Va., while an unidentified assistant coach yawned. Kilmer will replace injured Sonny Jurgensen when the Redskins visit the New York Jets Sunday at Shea Stadium in a National Football League game.

strengthen the thigh muscles, which, as you know, control the knee."

And before another question could be asked about his physical problems, McCovey jumped to 1973.

"I'm really optimistic about our club," he said. "In some ways 1972 wasn't a lost season because we brought a lot of youngsters along. Now, if you add them to what we already had you have to figure the Giants will be a strong team in 1973.

"I'm looking forward to Juan (Marichal) and Sam (McDowell) making comebacks, and I'm certain I'm ready for a big year. Now, if they (the front office) don't panic and make rash moves, I think we'll be just fine, but I know in baseball when a club had a bad year the first thing anyone thinks of is to make some trades.

"Of course, I'm not trying to tell Mr. Stoneham how to run his club. Heaven knows he's been very good to me, but outside of a couple places (the bullpen) I don't see a weakness on our club. You have to throw out 1972. It was a freak season — losing me, Juan and Sam all at once. It became too big a load for the kids to carry, but I saw enough to convince me we'll be a better team in 1973."

For a man who only three years ago hit 45 homers and drove in 126 runs, McCovey thinks he has a better year than that in his system.

"I don't know how to put it in words," he tried to explain. "It's just a feeling, but honestly I think I can have a better year than that. I think there is one in me and I only hope it happens in 1973."

So, too, do the Giants.

San Marin Plays Marin Catholic

Bruno Banducci decided not to cancel the game after all. His Marin Catholic High School football team will take the field as scheduled tomorrow at 2 p.m. against visiting San Marin for a non-league confrontation.

"We were afraid we might be blown off the field," said Banducci, "and I was joking with the team about calling up and canceling the game. But Tam's victory last week gave our boys some hope."

Tamalpai upset San Marin, 36-22, while Marin Catholic was beating Menlo of Menlo Park, 13-12. Since Marin Catholic played Tam virtually even in a 14-8 loss Sept. 23, Banducci can be optimistic, although he cautions that comparativa scores mean little.

"Our boys are largely shaking it (the defeat) off," said San Marin coach Bob Martin. "We're just going to have to block and tackle and hold onto the football."

San Marin enters the game with a 4-3 record, while Marin Catholic is 2-5. Neither coach plans any changes in his starting lineups, except Rich Cervisi may get the call at running back for the Wildcats. He was held out of most of last week's game with a cracked rib, but entered when his replacement was hurt and scored the winning touchdown.

Nightmares For Raiders' Madden

ALAMEDA, Calif. (UPI)— Oakland Raiders Coach John Madden admits he has nightmares thinking of ways to defense the Kansas City Chiefs.

"It's a real problem," said Madden of the Raidars' upcoming clash Sunday in Kansas City. "Before you go into a game, you try to imagine what the other club is going to throw at you.

"When I think of the Chiefs, I get this tremendous backlog of information. Right away, I can remember the times they've used tight ends, a full-house backfield, a formation setting Otis Taylor in a slot between the guard and the tackle and a whole lot more.

"I know Kansas City is going to try something different for us, and I've got to figure out what it is from all of this."

But Chiefs Coach Hank Stram expects some surprises from the Raiders.

"Their approach on offense has changed," he said. "They're not as home run conscious as in the past. They use more play-action passes now."

Stram also noted that the Raiders' young front defensive four of Otis Sistrunk, Tony Cline, Art Thoms and Horace Jones might pose some new problems. "We're used to seeing Ben Davidson, Tom Keating and Carleton Oats in there," said Stram.

49er Nolan Figures Spurrier Needs Help

REDWOOD CITY, Calif. (UPI)—San Francisco 49ers Coach Dick Nolan figures quarterback Steve Spurrier will need all the help he can get Sunday against the Green Bay Packers.

That's why Nolan inserted Preston Riley as a starting wide receiver in place of Dick Witcher. Riley has been impressive thus far this season.

The Packer pass defense has not yielded a touchdown this season. Eight of the touchdowns scored against Green Bay have been on the ground, including four on kick returns.

However, defensive end Bill Belk may miss the game with an injured knee. If so, Cedrick Hardman, who had his best game of the season against Atlanta last week, will start in Belk's place.

Thrower Released

PHILADELPHIA (UPI) — Jim Thrower, a defensive back with the Philadelphia Eagles for the last three seasons, was released yesterday as a free agent.

UCLA, Stanford Grid Tomorrow

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

University of California at Los Angeles' awesome Bruins face their 1972 moment of truth tomorrow when they host the Stanford Cardinals.

The Bruins, who haven't won a Pacific 8 Conference title in seven years, act as if this might be the time they finally end University of Southern California and Stanford's domination and grab the Rose Bowl berth that goes with the league title.

So far, so good. But now along comes Stanford, the team which has gone to the Rose Bowl the last two years and is ranked 18th nationally.

Along the way, eighth-ranked UCLA has upended 1971 national champion Nebraska, Pittsburgh and Arizona plus four conference foes, losing only to Michigan. But in Stanford it will be meeting it's toughest conference rival.

Victory would keep the Bruins on the high road toward a Nov. 18 showdown with Southern California, the current Pac 8 front runner and No. 1 nationally, while a loss would hurt but not necessarily eliminate the Bruins from contention.

After Stanford, UCLA has a date with Washington, another tough conference foe, before tangling with Southern Cal, which this week plays Washington State at Seattle and is idle next Saturday.

USC leads the league race with a 5-0 mark. UCLA is 4-0 and even if it loses to Stanford or Washington it can make the Nov. 18 meeting with USC the decider.

"Stanford is a talented team," Rodgers said, "so to beat them we have to make the big plays. I think we can."

UCLA's strength lies in its powerful ground game —an attack coming off the Wishbone which has averaged 350 yards a game. The only team to stop the Bruins was Michigan and the big 10 power did it by controlling the ball and shutting off the ground game.

"That's what we'll have to do," said Stanford Coach Jack Christiansen. "We'll also have to figure out their defensive weakness and hit them with our passing game. It'll be a big test for us."

Elsewhere in the Pac 8, California will host Oregon and Washington will play at Oregon State.

In the Pacific Coast Athletic Association, Pacific hosts Los Angeles State, Long Beach State is at Fresno State, San Diego State is at home to West Texas State and San Jose State is at New Mexico.

Soccer Results

Regalado Consistent In PGA Play

NAPA, Calif. (AP) — Consistent golf has regained Vic Regalado of Tijuana, Mexico, a share of the lead with Hawaii's Larry Stubblefield in the Professional Golf Association qualifying school at Silverado Country Club.

Both golfers finished the fourth round of play Thursday with three-under-par 285 scores. Regalado shot a one under par 71, while Stubblefield shot a 72 after turning in an impressive 65 Wednesday.

Bob Allard of Portland, Ore., who had bad rounds of 79 and 80 the first two days, rallied for a 71 Wednesday and a four-under-par 68 Thursday for a 298 total. Novato's Ray Leach is far down the list at 310. He had an 80 yesterday.

Close to the leaders was Pat Fitzsimons of Salem, Ore., who shot a 71 for a 289 total after four rounds of the six-round qualifying tourney.

Jutze Stands Out

Catcher Skip Jutze of Mineola, N.Y., was the top player in the American Association this year. He played for Tulsa. In September he was brought up to the St. Louis Cardinals.

Troubled Boston Vs. Seals In Oakland

OAKLAND (UPI)—The California Golden Seals hope to play more aggressively tonight when they meet a surprisingly disorganized Boston team.

The Seals, last in the National Hockey League West, lost 6-2 to the NHL East cellar dweller New York Islanders Wednesday.

Coach Garry Young, who drilled his team hard Thursday, said of that one: "We were getting continually backchecked and it broke up our patterns. As a consequence, by the time we got into goal range, we were disorganized. Our defensemen, too, were getting skated around and this brought about untenable one-on-one situations for Gilles (goalie Gilles Meloche)."

Boston, defending Stanley Cup champions, finds itself fifth in the east with a 5-6-1 record and flopped in a 5-2 loss at Los Angeles Thursday night.

The Seals sent winger Morris Mott to their Salt Lake City farm team in the Western Hockey League, but did not replace him with a player on their roster.

A spokesman said Mott was being sent down to help restore his confidence. Apparently Mott got off to a good start as he scored two goals in his first game back in the minors.

Sidney Wicks had another great night for the Blazers. He hit on 13-of-24 from the field and finished with a game-high 30 points. He has scored 58 points in his team's two losses to the Warriors this season.

NO STRIP TEASE.

When you buy a Datsun 1200 Sedan, you get a lot more than a stripped down starting point for an option list.

You get a complete car, dressed with all the trimmings. Datsun doesn't believe in that old game of charging extra for all the things that make a car fun to drive and nice to own.

There's only one way to buy a Datsun. Complete. And at a price that makes the Datsun 1200 the best value for your dollar.

Drive a Datsun...then decide.

Gaylord Likes That Advantage

Gaylord Perry, winner of the American League's 1972 Cy Young Award for pitching excellence, smiled when the question was put to him bluntly. Did he or did he not throw a supersinker that has a little dab of grease on it?

"When people ask me that question, I don't say," said Perry. "I always tell them I throw what the catcher calls for."

COULD MAJOR league batters all be wrong in their protests that Perry's pitches in critical situations do funny things, such as dipping out of sight?

"It's all psychological," said Perry, "because I make a lot of motions — touching my cap, my hair, the back of my ear. I wouldn't go through all that stuff except for the psychological advantage."

Doesn't all the controversy about the legality or illegality of his supersinker disturb him?

"Not at all," said Perry. "I only get disturbed when I lose."

PERRY SEEMS to thrive on the controversy that swirls about him. It was confined to the National League until last season. Now it has jumped into the American League where Perry brought his supersinker last year following his trade to Cleveland by the Giants for Sam McDowell.

Did Perry remember a midseason game during which Chuck Tanner, manager of the White Sox, demanded three inspections of Perry for a suspected patch of secreted slippery stuff?

"Yeah," said Perry, "I remember it well because after the first inspection Dick Allen belted me for a homer and I lost 2-1 to Wilbur Wood. It was the first game of a doubleheader in Chicago July 24."

PERRY MAY HAVE lost that game to Wood but he beat Wood in an extremely close race for the Cy Young Award with a 24-16 record against Wood's 24-17.

Did he get ruffled at any time during the season when Tanner and other American League managers were demanding repeated inspections of him?

"Listen," said Perry, "I respect any manager who's trying to win and that's what Tanner and other managers were doing in making sure I had a dry look."

DID PERRY remember another midseason game that Tanner protested because of his suspicion of Perry's supersinker?

"That one was in Cleveland," said Perry, "a couple of weeks before the July 24 game in Chicago. Yes, he did tell the plate umpire Bill Haller he was playing the game under protest. We won and I never heard any more about the protest."

How did American League umpires treat him?

"I have respect for them and was impressed by the way they handled the inspection demands from managers," said Perry.

Owner Gets Mad, Throws PGA Out

PALM BEACH GARDENS, Fla. (UPI)—John D. MacArthur said he is tired of being antagonized by the Professional Golf Association leadership and has decided to evict the PGA from its offices at the National Golf Club he built.

"I'm not mad at the members of the PGA," MacArthur said Thursday. "It is the leadership. They have misled the members into thinking that they own the course."

The 75-year-old billionaire developer built and owns the club and its three 18-hole courses and has rented the PGA a wing of the club for $40,000 a year to house its executive offices.

But MacArthur said he had spent millions to accommodate the PGA, "and it would probably be all right if it was appreciated. But it isn't and I'm not going any farther."

In a letter to PGA president Warren Orlick, MacArthur accused the PGA of having "a champagne appetite with a beer pocketbook."

Lloyd Lambert, the executive director of the PGA, said he was contacting the association's 18-member executive committee to see what steps to take following MacArthur's announcement he was evicting the PGA.

MacArthur said the PGA has a 10-year lease which doesn't expire until Dec. 31, 1974. But he said he was evicting the PGA this coming Dec. 31 on grounds they have violated their lease. He declined to elaborate on the alleged lease violations.

Of his relationship with the PGA leadership, the crusty billionaire said: "They seemingly have laid awake nights thinking of ways to antagonize me."

This is the second eviction in which MacArthur has been involved in recent weeks.

He recently made headlines by trying to evict Mrs. Adeline Moffett, once one of the world's richest women, from a $151 a month apartment he owns on grounds of nonpayment of rent.

Said MacArthur: "I think it is going to be easier to evict the PGA than Mrs. Moffett."

Marin To Use 'Bomb'

"Bombs" will fly when the College of Marin Tars host West Valley College of Campbell tomorrow, 1 p.m., in a Camino Norte Conference football game.

"We like to throw, so we expect the Vikings, who normally play with three deep (defensive) backs, to use four in order to stop 'the bomb'," Tar coach Dick Read said.

He said the Tars, 0-3 in the league and 1-6 overall, "have not shown much of a running game; they can expect us to throw quite a bit. We won't disappoint them."

Quarterback Kevin Donohoe triggers the Tar air game. His favorite targets are halfback Bob Daniele and end Mike Corder, but Donohoe is likely to utilize all his receivers in an attempt to upset the Vikings, 2-1 and 3-4.

West Valley can also throw the football. Viking quarterback Joe Alvarez leads the conference in passing and total offense. In seven games, he has completed 70 of 141 passes for 1,003 yards and seven touchdowns. Running back Mike Franz is fourth in CNC rushing figures with 338 yards on 98 tries.

Marin Catholic Wins In Girls Swimming

Jane Patocchi and Ann Haley each won three individual events as undefeated Marin Catholic High School improved its Marin County Athletic League swimming record to 5-0 with a 61-52 conquest of host Tamalpais yesterday.

In other MCAL action, visiting Terra Linda defeated Drake, 66-48, and host San Rafael beat San Domenico, 71-42.

San Geronimo Title Matches Face Rain

Mother Nature has shown her unruly side; thus, the San Geronimo Men's Championship golf tournament may be set back.

Richard Ryan of San Rafael will face a yet-to-be-determined foe in a 36-hole finale tomorrow at 8:30 a.m. Ryan will be facing the winner of the Roy Hruska-Bill Witt semi-final which was scheduled for today.

However, rain may set back the semi-final match until tomorrow. If the 18-hole match is postponed, the championship match will be played next Saturday at 8:30 a.m. weather permitting.

MARIN COUNTRY Club pro Buddy Sullivan will be on the 12-man Northern California Professional Golf Association players facing a dozen Northern California Golf Association amateurs in the sixth Northern California Cup Matches today and tomorrow in Pebble Beach.

Teams played four-ball matches in the morning at Pebble Beach and Scotch-foursomes in the afternoon. Ten singles matches are set tomorrow at Spyglass Hill.

FISH AND GAME

Test: Iron Pellets Instead Of Lead

By AL GIDDINGS

Five Sacramento Valley state and federal waterfowl areas which were closed to shooting during completion of the rain-delayed rice harvest will reopen Saturday.

The Department of Fish and Game, which manages hunting on the areas, said those reopening are the state's Gray Lodge Wildlife Area and the Sacramento, Delevan, Colusa and Sutter national wildlife refuges.

OPENING OF the areas had been delayed originally because of late rice harvests until Oct. 21. Then, because unusual early rains further delayed the harvest, the areas were closed again after two days of hunting.

Cancelled on all five areas were the scheduled shooting days of Oct. 25, 28, 29 and Nov. 1. Hunters who filed applications for the cancelled dates have been urged to refile for other shooting dates.

NOT AFFECTED by the closure were other state and federal areas on which hunting is managed by the DFG. They are the state's Imperial, Honey Lake, Grizzly Island, Los Banos and Mendota wildlife areas; the federal Salton Sea, Merced, San Luis and Kesterson national wildlife refuges, and the Volta area.

We will follow with interest the pilot programs of the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service this year in which iron shot will be used as a substitute for lead in waterfowl hunting.

The experimental area for the Pacific Flyway is the Bear River Migratory Bird Refuge in Utah.

ACCORDING TO Secretary of the Interior Rogers Morton, the pilot studies are necessary this year because lead poisoning each year takes a serious toll of birds and solutions must be found as soon as possible.

As you know, waterfowl pick up spent lead shot while feeding.

In the areas selected for the studies — one for each of the four flyways — hunters who wish to assist in the programs will use iron shot on certain days in selected sites.

HUNTERS TAKING part in the pilot program will be limited to 12 gauge guns because ammunition is available only in that gauge. When iron shot is not being used, areas will be open to hunters using lead shot and guns of any gauge.

Morton says that cooperating hunters will not be required to make application to participate in advance. All they need do is to check in at refuge headquarters, obtain free iron shot shells and receive a questionnaire to be returned at the end of the hunting day.

Fish and Wildlife Service biologists will conduct field observations of the hunting.

THE OBJECT of the questionnaires and observations is to evaluate the performance of iron shot with respect to numbers of birds killed or crippled, to judge hunter reaction to the new shells and to enable FWS personnel to work out the necessary field regulations for possible substitutes for lead shot.

"Sportsmen's clubs across the country and several state fish and game departments already have indicated their interest in volving the lead poisoning problem," Morton said.

"American hunters have made a great contribution to the protection and management of wildlife. I am sure they will support us fully in our attempts to find a solution to lead shot poisoning."

BECAUSE OF some previous problems with iron shot — barrel scratching and choke deformation among them — the FWS is recommending that American-made guns of post-1945 vintage be used this year until the technical problems have been worked out.

The arms and ammunition industry will continue to work on perfecting shot shells to assure prevention of barrel damage, Morton said.

The pilot program will be evaluated by a committee of FWS biologists, technicians from arms companies, state fish and game agencies and private conservation agencies.

Wells In Uniform For Comeback Bid

HOUSTON (UPI) — Former Oakland Raiders wide receiver Warren Wells slipped on a pair of cleatad shoes, pulled on a brand-new Houston Oilers jersey with No. 83 on it, and said Thursday he thought he could regain his old form despite a year's absence from pro ball.

"I think I can come back," said Wells, 29, after passing a 25-minute physical exam. "If Cassius Clay (Muhammad Ali) can lay off three years I feel I can come back after just one."

Through five season, Wells caught 158 passes for 3,655 yards and 42 touchdowns for the Raiders. He was suspended from the NFL last year because of a conviction for attempted rape.

"I'm maybe 70-75 per cent ready right now," Wells said. "I've watched my diet some and then sometimes I haven't. Sometimes I've slipped up."

Coach Bill Peterson said Wells didn't look too bad during two workouts Thursday.

"He showed quite a bit of improvement from the morning workout and the one in the afternoon," Peterson said. "I imagine he was pretty nervous this morning.

Peterson said he and Wells had a talk about what Wells must do to make it with the Oilers.

"I told him I didn't know if he played golf, but in golf when you get behind you can press," Peterson said. "In other words, even if you get behind you can make a new bet and it's a whole new game."

Cage Programs In San Rafael

The San Rafael Parks and Recreation Department has set two basketball programs.

First, the department is sponsoring a free, open gym program Wednesday and Thursday nights, 7 to 9 o'clock at San Rafael High School. The program will run until Nov. 24.

Second, the department is accepting signups Monday, 7 to 9 p.m., for its adult men's basketball league program. Teams must pay a $125 entry fee when signing up at the Recreation Center, 1011 Fifth Avenue.

Soccer Games Slated On White Hill Field

Soccer players are invited to participate in pick-up soccer games on Saturdays, 1 p.m., beginning this weekend at White Hill field in Fairfax, Gene Richards, games chairman, said yesterday.

Players are requested to bring their own equipment, including soccer balls, to the field, Richards added. Further information can be obtained from Richards at 266 Cascade Drive in Fairfax.

Golfer Elder Helps U.S. To Big Lead Over Japan

OSAKA, Japan (UPI)—Lee Elder, the first American black pro ever to play in Japan, shot a three-under-par 68 today to pace the United States team to an overwhelming 17-stroke lead over Japan in the first round of the $100,000 Asahi Broadcasting Company Golf Match.

The United States team has a score of 505 against Japan's 522 on the 6,689-yard, par 36-35—71 Ikeda Country Club course in nearby Ikeda City in a day-long heavy gain and strong winds.

The best scores of nine players on each side are compiled in the daily scoring. The winning team will receive $13,333 and the losing team $5,333. The player with the best individual score will get $16,666.

Wundercar.

The new BMW Bavaria.
6 cylinders. 3.0 liters. 130 mph. Under $7,000

Take the way it goes. Up to 130 mph. (Cruises at 120 all day long.) That's because its engine is built around the most efficient combustion system ever designed.

Take the way it holds the road. Like you'd hold a beautiful girl. Tight. That's because of a remarkable suspension system that features MacPherson struts up front, semi-trailing arms in back, with BMW's unique multi-jointed rear axle.

Small wonder Ken Purdy says, in Playboy Magazine, that BMW may be the best car in the world.

Frankly, our BMW engineers are auto fanatics. Their aim to to build cars they like to drive. (Can you imagine the uncommercial effrontery of that?) But then, what else would you expect from a company with the fifty-year speed and endurance traditions of Germany's famed Bavarian Motor Works?

If you have an instinct for great engineering test-drive the new BMW Bavaria Wundercar!

—FOR DOMESTIC CARS—

Why Radial Tires?

Because its the best tire in the world if its made right. Michelin invented the radial ply tire 25 years ago, and built a reputation from the tires performance that is the envy of the industry. Michelin introduced the 1st radial tire built for American cars about 8 years ago. They introduced the 40,000 mile tread wear guarantee with it, and controlled this market with their unbelievable success with this tire.

What do Radials do?

A good radial tire will lock your car to the road like nothing you've every experienced. A steel belted radial, is like riding on rails, when the rail turns, your car turns right now. Your car has about 700 times better cornering power, and about 500 times better stopping power, than with conventional tires.

Types of Radials!

Steel belted, and fabric belted. The difference, is between night and day, the steel wears and performs so much superior there's little room for comparison. That's why the whole tire industry is fighting to get on the market with a steel belted tire.

My Recommendation

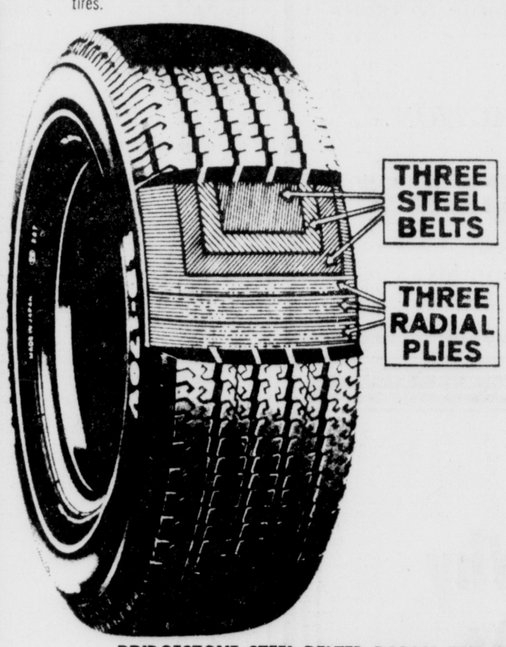

If you're going to buy radial,7buy a steel radial. if you don't want a steel radial, then don't buy radial.

Lots & Lots of Radials On the Market

The reason for this - The fantastic success of the Michein X Steel Belted radial tire. Now some of these tires are very good and some of them are plain terrible. The buyers problem is knowing what's what.

All Steel Belted Tires Aren't Radial Tires, All Radial Tires Aren't Steel Belted

Don't be mislead by this play on words. The reason everyone is coming out with a steel tire of one type or another is that some of Michelin's patent rights expired in 1971. But it's one thing to be allowed to make a steel tire, and entirely another in knowing how.

Aside from Michelin I feel the best tire on the market regardless of price is the

Bridgestone RD170V Steel belted Radial

The tire has one more body belt than Michelin and most other radials, plus one more steel tread belt. The tire is built heavy and very strong and to date is wearing, better than anything we've ever sold. Bridgestone is one of the only companies besides Michelin who produces their own steel belting, this assures consistant quality.

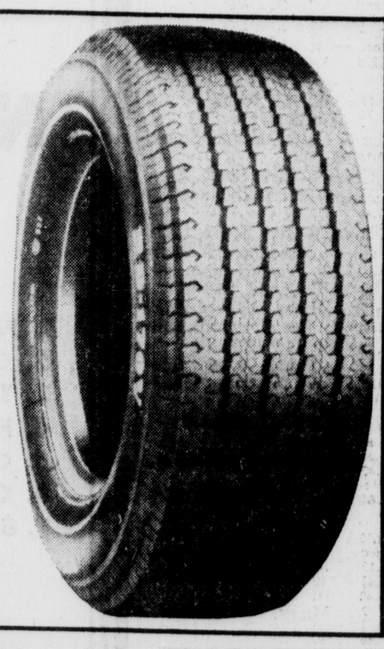

Of the lines we handle besides Michelin. Sempent-Dunlop-Pirelli-Goodrich-Toyo-Goodyear I sincerely feel the BRIDGESTONE STEEL RADIAL IS THE BEST PRODUCT Regardless of price, for any American made car.

Hotel And Restaurant May Be Slated At Sausalito Waterfront

A major hotel and/or large restaurant may be coming into the Sausalito waterfront at Marinship, in conjunction with a giant office building complex planned there by Deak Investment Corp.

Deak Investment, at 2330 Bridgeway, plans six office buildings, three stories high, containing a total of 240,000 square feet, or more than five acres of floor space. In addition to these office buildings, there are several other "options" that are being considered, said Nathan Jones of Tiburon, executive vice president of the corporation. Among the options are a major hotel and a major restaurant, but these can change as plans are developed.

The property, just north of the Army Corps of Engineers building, is "one of the loveliest waterfront areas in the world," said Jones. "We plan to treat the project with extensive landscaping and water scenes and open up the waterfront to the public."

Called the Deak Office Park, it will provide prime office space, drawing on top clientele from San Francisco. Jones said he expects to make a formal presentation of plans to the city within a month. He estimated it would be from nine months to a year after city approval before the Deak Office Park will be ready for use.

U-CAN INC., a new corporation headed by several Marin housewives, will begin producing and distributing novelty gift items later this month.

Hazel F. Wickert of Greenbrae, one of the directors, said she and four of her friends conceived the idea of making novelty gift items for everyday use and packing them in cans for distribution to major stores in Marin and San Francisco.

Associated with Mrs. Wickert in the project are Lea Anderson of Larkspur, Ruth Hatter of Terra Linda, artist Jacklyn M. Linn of Sacramento (Mrs. Wickert's niece), and Le Ann Schuler of Sonoma.

Mrs. Wickert said they have never been in business before but "we've always had many ideas and wanted to prove that we can run a profitable business."

ROBERT E. DE VANY, assistant manager, installment loans, at the San Rafael office of Redwood Bank, has been appointed assistant manager at the bank's Napa office.

FRED'S DELI and Sandwich Shop is now open for business at 1131 Fourth Street in San Rafael, across the street from Rafael Theater.

Owner-manager is Fred Schultheis of Millbrae, who worked at International Gourmet in Terra Linda for about five years. The sandwich shop has both hot and cold sandwiches and a variety of sandwich combinations. It is open from 9 a.m. to 6 p.m. six days a week (closed on Sunday).

Fred's Sandwich Shop has a seating capacity of more than 50.

ROBERT EVANS of San Rafael has been named president of ADgo, Inc., new outdoor advertising firm located at 1299 Fourth Street in San Rafael. Evans was formerly general sales manager for George Lithograph Co., San Francisco.

The new corporation has retained the services of another San Rafael firm, Wyvern Research Associates, headed by Thomas Bartlett of Greenbrae.

SUNSHINE GLASS Works of Mill Valley, specializing in stained and leaded glass, moved to 31 Belvedere Street in San Rafael on Nov. 1.

Owner Greg Smalley of San Anselmo, who started the business last January at 393 Miller Avenue in Mill Valley, said he picked the nw San Rafael location because it has more space and better facilities. He wholesales glass and supplies and will give instructions on stained and leaded glass.

Smalley works on commission, primarily on residences, doing custom work with individual designs for each window. Sunshine Glass is open Tuesday through Saturday and is closed on Sunday and Monday.

William Hoey Co. negotiated the lease for Sunshine Glass and also for the following three companies, all on Belvedere Street:

UNIGRAPH SUPPLY Co., a new firm owned by Kenneth Warren of Corte Madera, will move into 21 Belvedere Street on Nov. 15. The company wholesales printing, drafting and art supplies including leads, drafting tables and lamps to architects and engineers.

Warren, a Marin resident for nine years, worked for Dataprint in South San Francisco until a couple of months ago.

BAY COIN-OPERATED Laundries, with head office at 438 Miller Avenue in Mill Valley, opened another storage and service outlet at 31 Belvedere Street. The company, headed by Thomas A. Brandon, services and sells equipment to coin-operated laundries and dry cleaning firms. It also installs coin laundry machines in apartments on a percentage basis, outright sale or on lease.

CAL-PACIFIC Distributing Co. at 38 Lisbon Street got additional space at 21 Belvedere Street. The company, headed by Herbert E. Sherr, is wholesale distributor of barbecues.

A REPAIR SHOP for Porsche, Audi and Volkswagen opened this week at 111 Verdi Street in San Rafael, next to Colombo Meat Co.

Owner is Don Giles, who lives in San Francisco but plans to move to Corte Madera. Giles worked for Neufeld Porsche-Audi in San Carlos and for a Volkswagen shop in Palo Alto and has seven years of experience in auto repair.

Giles said he and his staff are thoroughly trained in Audi repair and have a comprehensive parts supply for this newly imported car. Electronic fuel injected models, including the Porsche 914, are also his specialty.

Giles said he is open from 7 in the morning, which gives customers a chance to leave the car there in the morning and hop a Golden Gate Transit bus on Francisco Boulevard to get to work.

OLD BROWN'S STORE — The former Brown's Furniture Store is being converted into a marketplace of about 20 shops which will look like this minature model. Doors to the building will be built along its side adjoining the parking lot, while the front will be made of stained glass.

Early Hour Prices In Move Up

NEW YORK (UPI) —Investors pushed prices higher during the first two hours today on the New York Stock Exchange. Analysts said they were encouraged by signs interest rates may decrease.

Advances led declines, 866 to 407, among the 1,642 issues crossing the tape. The two-hour turnover amounted to more than 8,230,000 shares.

Analysts noted two large banks — First National City Bank and Mellon—lowered their prime rates to 5 3-4 per cent from 5 7-8. They said this encouraged investors, along with news the cease-fire arrangement in the Vietnam war is not in jeopardy.

Chrysler was the most active issue, up 3-8 at 35 3-8 on 136,500 shares.

Prices also were higher in fairly active trading on the American Stock Exchange. McCulloch Oil was the most active Amex issue, up 1-4 at 17 1-8 on 76,500 shares.

On Exchange List

SAN FRANCISCO (BW) — Moore and McCormack Co. Inc., parent company of Moore-McCormack Lines Inc., has announced its common stock has been approved for listing on the Pacific Coast Stock Exchange.

Mill Valley Indoor Market Shapes Up

The former Brown's Furniture Store on Miller Avenue in Mill Valley is being gutted and remodeled into an indoor marketplace with about 20 open air shopping areas.

The shops, which will be built on two floors, will be connected by a series of raised wooden aisles. Sunlight will pour into the building through skylights and a mosaic of stained glass windows will form the front of the building along Miller Avenue.

The building, dubbed Old Brown's Store, will house a Middle Eastern restaurant, an early American restaurant, a high-fashion London clothier, an antique photography studio and shops for children's games, jungle plants, candy, antique kitchen accessories, children's clothing, old lamps, and yardage and needlepoint.

Designed by Sausalito architect William W. Kirsch and built by Haas and Haynie Corp. of South San Francisco, Old Brown's Store has been on the drawing boards for about two years.

In addition to the 20 sales areas, which will rent for about $500 a month, the building will feature 1,000 green plants and an activity center in the middle of the marketplace which will house a variety of demonstrations and exhibits.

A large parking lot will adjoin the building, but Baker said the management will discourage the use of cars and urge shoppers to walk or ride bicycles to the building.

SUCCESSFUL INVESTING

Price Wars Hurt Supermarket Chain

By ROGER E. SPEAR

Q. I have 50 shares of Acme Markets (NYSE) which I purchased at 49. Is the recent low price of 28 forecasting a catastrophe? — D.S.

A. Perhaps the decline is not forecasting a catastrophe but it is reflecting some serious problems past and future. In the quarter ended July, intense competition pushed Acme's operations into the red 14 cents a share. This did not include a special charge for flood damage equal to 54 cents a share.

The price wars, initiated by A&P in its new WEO outlets, may intensify over the balance of the year. If so, margins will remain under pressure and a dividend cut would be possible.

On balance, however, Acme should benefit from its expansion into nonfood areas, private label business and its restaurant operations. Of the 876 units operated by Acme, 270 have changed over to discount outlets. In the current fiscal year seven drug stores, five restaurants and 45 food stores will be opened.

Company is financially sound. However, unless you are willing to wait it out, I would take the loss.

Q. Could you recommend a list of good preferred stocks which will pay me a check a month in dividends? — P.M.

A. I'd be happy to. The three issues are rated A or better by Standard and Poor's and are listed on the New York Stock Exchange.

The first, Commonwealth Edison $1.90 cumulative preferred trades in the mid-20s, to yield 7.4 per cent currently. Dividends are payable the first of February, May, August and November.

Long Island Lighting 5 per cent cumulative series B preferred returns 7.6 per cent at its recent price of $66. Payments are made in Jan., April, July and Oct.

Finally, to round out the check-a-month schedule I suggest Public Service of Colorado 7.15 per cent preferred. At $96½ this security yields 7.4 per cent.

Prestige And Elegance

This award winning home is overlooking the superb green fairways of the Marin Country Club. This home was designed to be functional for party-giving and gracious living, yet to offer spectacular beauty. Six bedrooms, study and 5 baths are flavored with Mediterranean influence. Through the Spanish arches and quarry tile entrance, one enters a formal dining room with domed antique gold tile ceiling. The family room's three dimensional hand-casted, floor to ceiling fireplace commands attention. The living room features walnut grooved plank flooring, a ceramic rock fireplace, 18' beamed ceilings and an enchanting 360° view which encircles a heavenly valley of hills and trees. The master suite with adjoining study is a setting of majestic charm, complete with a hand carved fireplace, lava rock shower and tub plus Mr. and Mrs. closets. Wooden bridges through the surrounding giant oak trees leads to the privacy of your own heated and filtered pool, nestled in the hills. Price $139,000.

OH what a cozy cottage all set just for you. 2 lovely bedrooms plus large studio room for painting, hobbies, whatever. Comes complete with range, refrigerator, washer, dryer, curtains and drapes. And if that wasn't enough for only $22,800, it's close to shopping too.

WHAT a home! Main part of this home contains fireplace, 3 bedrooms and a bath. Plus on another level is a spacious family room and ½ bath. All in great shape. Fine location and priced to sell yesterday at $25,-750.

A desirable home in a quiet location is hard to find but here is a spic and span 4 bedroom home with 2 full baths that has just recently been repainted in and out for $28,000. Warm-feeling used brick fireplace and all the main "the hard part" of the yard completed.

BEAUTIFUL fruit tree shaded yard and lovely garden area. 5 room home has 3 bedrooms, 2 baths, and lots of cupboards. See this at only $24,950.

MORNING and evening seem to be the best times to enjoy this Elm Drive home. Quiet view from the dining area and living room. Used brick fireplace, 2 baths and 3 bedrooms complete the picture and sellers will leave the bookshelves, curtains and drapes. Almost forgot to mention the big wooden patio deck. $33,900.

OOH have we got a big spacious home for sale that's in real nice condition. You should see the front and backyards — THEY ARE OUTSTANDING! 2 story, 4 bedroom home with a kitchen that would make women swoon. Complete with fireplace, storage shed and Doughboy type pool. Only $35,500.

WHAAT have we here? 14x28 ft. covered redwood deck, 14x16 ft. cement patio. Fine top soil and landscaped, too. Someone's done a lot of work here and it shows. Like new 3 bedroom home only 2 years old. Give us a call now. $26,750.

AA chance of a LIFETIME buy. You have never seen a home just like this! Approximately 2700 sq. ft. of luxurious living area. 2 fireplaces, 5 bedrooms, family room with wet bar, 3 baths, redwood view deck, lots of storage space, painted in and cut. Rustic appearance, prestige area. Panoramic views and if you think for one minute, we are exaggerating, give us a call. Your time will be well spent. $49,500. IMMEDIATE OCCUPANCY!!!

BEAAUTIFUL country building site on end of lane contains 4.33 acres. It's a little hard to find without us showing the way, the first time. Just what you've been looking for. $16,950. $6000 cash down. Seller will hold first loan for balance of 8% per annum. Seller will subordinate to construction loan, if you wish to build now.

DAAY has come for the wise investor to look into the purcase of industrial use land. Out-of-town owner says "Sell my three 75x200+ ft. lots, for $11,000 each, plus small assessment of approximately $1600 on each lot. Buy one, two or all three. Streets and all utilities in. Ready for your project.

ISN'T GOOD SERVICE WONDERFUL?
Our service is "late" but nice. Marin commuters have found it very convenient that our service department is now open till 7 pm. Monday thru Friday. In most cases we can give your VW a maintenance or tune-up by 7 pm if you come in by 5 pm. Call our private service line 388-5230 and give us a vote for "late" service.

POLITICAL ROUNDUP

Hecklers Again Blasted By Agnew

CHEYENNE, Wyo. (UPI) — Vice President Spiro T. Agnew said Thursday there was no truth to Democratic claims that heckling at his speeches was staged by Republicans. Later in the day Agnew was again greeted by hecklers while giving a speech.

"I see we have the kids from the Romper Room and Captain Kangaroo again," Agnew said when about 20 persons in a crowd of 4,000 began shouting and blowing whistles during his speech at Cheyenne.

Frank Mankiewicz, George McGovern's political director, said earlier it appeared Republicans staged an incident in San Diego Wednesday during which Agnew compared hecklers to Nazi storm troopers. Mankiewicz said the hecklers were so sterotyped they could have come from "central casting."

"Those demonstrations were no more put up by me or anyone connected with the Nixon campaign than the demonstrations Mrs. Nixon has encountered in her travels," Agnew said in Los Angeles Thursday.

"Obviously there is an error on Mr. Mankiewicz' part. I can understand McGovern's campaign aides' desires to disown the rude and uncouth people. We have never said they were sent out by the McGovern campaign.

"I will say McGovern policies have encouraged this kind of support."

In his Cheyenne speech, Agnew said if McGovern was so interested in tax reform, the Democratic presidential nominee should have done something about it as a senator from South Dakota.

"George McGovern has been in the Senate for 10 years. His party has controlled it most of those years. Why is he now as a presidential candidate calling for tax reform? Where has he been for 10 years?" Agnew said.

Hecklers tried to shout him down later during the speech.

"You'll have to forgive them —the drug store ran out of Pampers in their size," Agnew said.

He said Segretti's name was found in a list of persons who responded to an invitation to join a Democratic club. The invitation was mailed out with Brathwaite campaign literature in June.

It was the second time that Segretti's name has been discovered on lists of potential Democratic supporters or workers in the Los Angeles area.

The McGovern-Shriver headquarters in Santa Monica said two weeks ago the man identified as Segretti had volunteered to do precinct work for McGrovern.

In neither case did the man identified as Segretti follow through.

ENDORSE

By U. P. INTERNATIONAL

Herbert G. Klein, the White House communications director, said today President Nixon has received 86.5 per cent of the political endorsements made by daily and weekly newspapers this year.

Editor and Publisher, a journalistic trade magazine, said that its quadrennial poll showed 71.4 per cent of the daily newspapers in the nation had endorsed Nixon.

Two newspapers today announced their endorsements—both for Democratic candidate Sen. George McGovern.

Klein said a survey showed Nixon had been endorsed by 1,468 papers, while 199 papers had endorsed McGovern. In McGovern's home state of South Dakota, Klein said, 28 newspapers have endorsed Nixon while three have endorsed McGovern.

The E and P poll said that 753 dailies have announced they support Nixon while 56, or 5.3 per cent, back McGovern. Another 245 have announced they are taking no editorial stand. In South Dakota, E and P said, four have endorsed Nixon and one McGovern.

It said its results were based on ballots from 1,054 of the 1,7764 dailies in the country.

In Raleigh, N.C., the Raleigh News and Observer endorsed McGovern, saying, "now that an end is in sight to the bloody stalemate abroad, the nation cries out for a leader capable of solving its long-neglected problems at home.

The New Orleans States-Item, which backed Nixon in 1960 and Hubert Humphrey in 1968, also endorsed McGovern. It said in a front page editorial that the country "deserves a better vision than that which Mr. Nixon offers."

A REPUBLICAN

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (UPI) — George N. Katsiaficus, 23, a registered Republican and an antiwar activist, got a fist in the nose and was arrested when he tried to shout his point of view at a rally for Vice President Spiro T. Agnew.

He denies he was hired by anybody to disrupt the meeting.

Ironically, the vending company employe identified by newsmen as the man who hit Katsiaficus, was a Democrat, Harry Brown, 45. He once ran for sheriff as a Democrat in Emporia, Kan., and he was not arrested nor charged in the Katsiaficus case.

Katsiaficus was booked at the county jail after the tiff during the rally for Agnew Wednesday. The city attorney's office said a day later the charges of unlawful assembly and disturbing the peace were being dropped.

Katsiaficus, describing himself as a "radical" committed to the Indochina peace campaign, said in an interview he went to the rally to hear Agnew, whom he first heard of as an altar boy in the Greek Orthodox Church of the Annunciation in Baltimore. Agnew was a county executive then.

He said Agnew's speech upset him.

SECRETS

NEW YORK (UPI) —A Secret Service source has said that agents assigned to protect Sen. George McGovern turned over information about McGovern's confidential meetings to White House aides involved in President Nixon's campaign, according to an article in today's New York Times.

The source said, the Times story added, that the Secret Service agents had not been instructed to gather information but that in violation of rules an official of the agency had given "certain information" collected by the security agency to the White House aides.

The paper said the source would not identify the White House aides involved but that information on the Democratic presidential nominee was relayed as early as April. The source also would not name the individual sending the information, the article said.

The source also said that an aide to President Johnson in 1968 had received information about Nixon from a Secret Service agent but that he did not know what use had been made of it, according to the Times.

SEGRETTI

MARINA DEL REY, Calif. (UPI) —Don Segretti, the attorney described as a key figure in the alleged White House espionage campaign against Democrats, tried to join a club connected with a Democratic congressional campaign, it was charged Thursday.

The accusation was made by Sanford Weiner, of the Marina Committee for Brathwaite, which is backing the congressional campaign of state Assemblywoman Yvonne Brathwaite Burke.

TV Commercial Nudity Is Banned

LONDON (UPI) — The use of nudes in television commercials in Britain has been banned.

The Independent Broadcast Authority said yesterday it decided to impose the ban after several advertising agencies submitted plans to use nudes in TV commercials.

The authority said it would continue to allow a "degree of discreet undress" in commercials advertising such products as underwear and toiletries but full nudity would be banned.

Prop. 22 Ads Ordered Off Air

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—A superior court judge Thursday ordered three pro-Proposition 22 television commercials off the air, saying there was a "clear and present danger" that the ads would sway voters into thinking the farm labor initiative was supported by migrant farm workers.

Judge Robert A. Wenke said the television spots show people "who appear to be uneducated, Mexican-American farm workers, in the concept of the average citizen, a member of the United Farm Workers Union."

Wenke, in issuing a preliminary injunction to halt the spots, said "It is the judgment of this court that the television advertising is misleading in that it implies support of Proposition 22 by the United Farm Workers."

His decision came in the wake of widespread criticism of advertising campaigns for and against many of the propositions on next Tuesday's ballot.

Proposition 22, sponsored by growers and opposed by the UFWU, would outlaw most boycotts, halt harvest-time farm labor strikes and establish rules for farm union representation elections.

Wenke's ruling came on a suit filed by the Interfaith Committee to Aid Farm Workers. The group was formed in 1969 to aid Cesar Chavez in his efforts to unionize migrant farm workers and is made up of more than 100 clergymen, priests and rabbis.

Wenke noted that in the past 10 years "We have witnessed almost continual strife between farm operations and the United Farmworkers."

"As a result, a substantial number of Californians have identified with one side or the other, long before the advent of Proposition 22."

"Further, to the public, the United Farm Workers represents agricultural labor, though in fact many workers are not members and may not be sympathetic to its objectives," Wenke said.

The jurist emphasized he was not ruling that the defendants' intent was to mislead, only that it seemed to imply that the UFWU supported the measure.

He said the measure is complex because both sides claim it would benefit farm workers.

"Many will undoubtedly cast their ballots in accordance with their sympathies as between the farm operators and the United Farm Workers," the judge said. "Therein lies the vice of the defendants' conduct.

Wenke at first was reluctant to issue the injunction because of first amendment rights of free speech but later found a "clear and present danger" that the television advertisements could mislead the voting public.

The injunction was aimed at the Fair Labor Practices Committee Inc., which is heading the ad campaign for Proposition 22.

The judge refused, however, to curtail pamphlets and billboards distributed by proponents, saying the measure's opponents should have filed suit at the time the advertisements first apeared. He said complying with a ban on billboards this close to the election would be impossible.

In a related matter Thursday, Los Angeles County District Attorney Joseph P. Busch announced the arrest of three men and one woman on suspicion of filing fraudulent signatures on petitions needed to put Proposition 22 on the ballot. Busch said a fifth suspect was being sought.

Farm Exporting At $10 Billion

WASHINGTON (UPI) —Agriculture Secretary Earl L. Butz predicts U.S. farm exports will reach a record $10 billion during the current fiscal year, aided by huge grain sales to the Soviet Union.

The $10 billion figure would be nearly $2 billion above the previous record of $8.1 billion set in the 1971-72 fiscal year.

"Russia's purchases of about $1.2 billion worth of wheat, corn and soybeans accounted for around half the increase forecast over last fiscal year," Butz said Thursday.

Four Cleared In Flag Case

ALBANY, N.Y. (UPI) —The state's highest court has cleared four persons accused of desecrating the flag by printing pictures of a nude woman partially draped in the flag.

The Court of Appeals voted 61 Thursday to overturn the convictions of the four. It said there was little "potential of public disorder" in the photographs, published in the April 25, 1969 edition of the Rochester Institute of Technology magazine, "The Reporter."

The three staff members and Elizabeth D. Carter, the model, had pleaded guilty to disorderly conduct after losing a challenge to the legality of the indictments.

They were given unconditional discharges.

Truck Strikes, Kills Ex-Staff Member

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—Miss Eleanor F. Bump, 78, who retired in 1956 after 40 years on the staff of the Netherlands Consulate general here, was killed Thursday when struck by a truck.

Police said she was walking in the area of a construction job at the time of the accident.

ALMANAC

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

Today is Friday, Nov. 3, the 308th day of 1972 with 58 to follow.

The moon is approaching its new phase. The morning stars are Venus, Mars and Saturn. The evening stars are Mercury and Jupiter.

American poet William Cullen Bryant was born Nov. 3, 1974.

On this day in history:

In 1783, Congress ordered the Continental Army demobilized.

In 1917, Americans at home learned of the first World War I deaths of U.S. soldiers fighting at Nancy, France.

In 1964, a record 67 million voters went to the polls as Lyndon Johnson was elected president by the largest majority in history. He defeated republican Senator Barry Goldwater.

A thought for the day: American novelist Dorothy Canfield Fisher said, "A mother is not a person to lean on, but a person to make leaning unnecessary."

San Rafael air quality yesterday:

Nitrogen dioxide, clean air.
Carbon monoxide, clean air.
Smoke particles, light air pollution.

Other areas:

San Francisco, light air pollution.

San Jose, light air pollution.

Colorless oxidants, brownish nitrogen dioxide and smoke particles aggravate respiratory diseases. Carbon monoxide causes dizziness, headaches and slows reflexes. Smoke particles come largely from industrial sources, while the other three come primarily from motor vehicles.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. THEODORE R. VAN DELLEN

Trichinosis Usually Is Acquired After Eating Uncooked Pork

Trichinosis is usually acquired when partially-cooked or raw pork products are eaten. It is not a common disease, although in 1971, 115 cases were reported in the U.S. According to the government publication, Morbidity and Mortality Weekly Report, the number of cases fell below the 100 mark in 1967 and 1968, but rose to nearly 200 in 1969. There is no need for concern, because in 1971, there were only three trichinae-caused deaths (a total of 27 in the last decade).

On the other hand, autopsy studies show that millions of people have harbored a few of these parasites during their lifetime. Nothing happened, so they were none the wiser. Only a small percentage of persons harbor sufficient parasites to produce recognizable symptoms. We can thank federal laws requiring the cooking of garbage fed to hogs, storage of meat at low temperatures in home freezers and educating the public as to proper cooking methods.

MAN ALSO ACQUIRES the infection from sausage, wursts, and ground beef (hamburger or steak tartar) that contains pork. The latter may take place if the beef is adulterated with pork through the use of a common meat grinder. Bear meat was responsible for 13 of the 115 cases reported in 1971.

Microsized trichinella-encysted larvae are found in the meat and vital organs of infested animals. They come to life after reaching the gastrointestinal tract where they become adults, set up housekeeping, and the female deposits her larvae in the wall of the intestine.

THE OFFSPRING get into the bloodstream and end up in muscle fibers. The muscle swells and is very painful, especially when a large number of parasites exist. A common finding is edema of the eyelids. The diagnosis is made with skin and blood tests. A biopsy of the involved muscle during the third or fourth week confirms the findings.

(Questions on medical topics will be answered by mail if stamped, self-addressed envelope accompanies request to the Independent-Journal.)

ALCOHOL AND DIABETES

D. C. writes: Please tell my husband about the harmful effects of wine, whisky, and beer for a victim of diabetes. He even takes a drink before breakfast.

REPLY

Diabetics can use alcoholic beverages within moderate limits, if they are not obese and the disease is under control. The caloric content of the drinks must be fitted into the diet. But your husband's problem has all the earmarks of alcoholism, a condition that in itself is serious enough. Send stamped, self-addressed envelope for our leaflet on alcoholism.

NOT ALL THE TIME

H. D. writes: I've had a red spot on my nose for some time. The doctors said to watch it. How often should it be examined?

REPLY

Whenever you look in the mirror, but don't overdo it. Return to your physician if the spot enlarges or changes in color.

SCALP WEN

S. S. writes: I have a cyst the size of a lima bean on the head. Should it be removed?

REPLY

If this is a sebaceous cyst and is unsightly or subject to irritation, it ought to be removed. These lesions usually are not cancerous.

Prop. 17 Foes Pleased About 'Chamber' Tour

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — A man who spent a month driving around California with a gas chamber in tow says people's reactions convinced him America hasn't "gone berserk."

Demetrius Toteras, 38, returned Wednesday to San Francisco from a campaign trip he and Robert Cutten, 29, undertook for opponents of Prop. 17, the measure on the November state ballot that would restore the death penalty in California.

Toteras said they would drive into a town, set up their gas chamber mockup complete with a "victim" strapped to the seat, and deliver a talk on the history of the death penalty.

He said the vast majority of persons they spoke to opposed the death penalty.

Housing Pleas Before Panel

The San Anselmo Planning Commission will consider nine requests for single-family residence use permits when it meets at 8 p.m. Nov. 13 in city hall.

The permits will receive scrutiny under the city's building ban which prohibits development without a variance, according to John T. O'Rourke, assistant city engineer.

The commission will consider the proposed rezoning of a parcel at 71 Ross from two-family residential to neighborhood apartment.

The commission will also discuss a proposal that San Anselmo be redesignated as a town.

NOTICE INVITING SEALED PROPOSALS OR BIDS TRAFFIC SIGNAL CONVERSION, TAMALPAIS DR. AND MADERA BLVD. TOWN OF CORTE MADERA FEDERAL AID PROJECT T-3072(24)

Plans, specifications, and proposal forms for bidding this project can only be obtained at the office of the Town Engineer, and may be seen at Town Hall, Corte Madera.

The Town of Corte Madera, in accordance with Title VI of the Civil Rights Act of 1964 (78 Stat. 252) and the Regulations of the Department of Commerce (15 C.F.R., Part 8), issued pursuant to such Act, hereby notified all bidders that it will affirmatively insure that the contract entered into pursuant to this advertisement will be awarded to the lowest responsible bidder without discrimination on the ground of race, color, or national origin.

Minimum wage rates for this project as predetermined by the Secretary of Labor are set forth in the special provisions. If there is a difference between the minimum wage rates predetermined by the Secretary of Labor and the prevailing wage rates determined by either the State of California or the Town of Corte Madera for similar classifications of labor, the Contractor and his subcontractors shall pay not less than the higher wage rate.

Pursuant to Section 1770 of the Labor Code, the Town has ascertained the general prevailing rate of wages in the county in which the work is to be done, to be as listed in Resolution No. 71-302 Board of Supervisors, County of Marin, "determining prevailing wage rates" for public work in the County and Cities and Special Districts within the County of Marin, dated October 26, 1971.

Pursuant to Section 1770 of the Labor Code, the State of California has ascertained the general prevailing rate of wages in the county in which the work is to be done, to be as listed in the Department of Public Works, Division of Highway publication entitled "Equipment Rental and General Prevailing Wage Rates". Dated: October 2, 1972

Plans, specifications (but not including standard specifications or other documents included by reference) and proposal forms may be obtained by prospective bidders upon payment of $10.00 cash or check made payable to the Town of Corte Madera, which is non-refundable, plus postage if mailed.

Sealed proposals or bids may be mailed to the Town Hall, Tamalpais Avenue and Willow, Corte Madera, California, or may be delivered to the Clerk of the Town of Corte Madera at the Town Hall, Tamalpais Avenue and Willow, Corte Madera, California, on or before 2:00 P.M., November 10, 1972. Bids will be publicly opened, examined and declared on said date and hour.

Combat Bonuses Will Continue

WASHINGTON (UPI) —Defense Secretary Melvin R. Laird says cash bonuses of $1,500 for men who volunteer for combat sections of the Army and Marines will continue until at least next June 30.

Laird instituted the bonuses last June 1 for the first time since the Civil War.

In a statement Thursday, he called the experiment with bonuses a success that had "substantially increased the number of enlistments."

Tam Board To Take Up Fund Policy

The Tamalpais High School District board once again will wrestle with a policy on expense account and conference spending at its meeting at 8 p.m. Monday in the Redwood High School faculty lounge.

Letters from Sausalito and San Anselmo residents complaining about the district's publicized expense account expenditures will be presented to the board, plus a letter from the Tamalpais Federation of Teachers deploring an insinuation at the last board meeting that teachers had been guilty of misuse of taxpayer funds.

A conference attendance policy to be recommended to the board by Supt. Wilber D. Hawkins sets a maximum of $40 per diem for employees attending conferences, and required prior board approval for conferences, seminars and workshops. It specifically bans payment for alcoholic beverages.

Also on the agenda is a draft policy on conflict of interest which requires trustees to disclose personal information, including financial interests and all businesses in which he or she is an employee, owner, adviser or consultant.

Jane Fonda Death Threat

BAKERSFIELD (UPI) — Antiwar activist Jane Fonda, under heavy police security, addressed students at Bakersfield College in two separate talks Thursday despite a death threat against her telephoned to a local disc jockey.

The Academy Award winning actress said she welcomed the opportunity to speak in a place where her life had been thratened saying those in the audience may disagree with her point of view but at least they would have to listen.

An unidentified caller had told the disc jockey Wednesday night, "this is no prank, Jane Fonda will oe shot tomorrow."

Miss Fonda is on a speaking tour to protest the Vietnam War.

AN ANSWER TO VIOLENCE

Creek Work Will Continue

Creek maintenance responsibilities of the defunct Subzone 9-A of the Ross Valley Flood Control District will be continued by the parent district under an agreement reached recently.

The Independent-Journal erred Wednesday in reporting the creeks would go unmaintained as a result of the Marin Board of Supervisors' action Tuesday scrapping the subzone.

Such a possibility had been of concern to Supervisor Peter R. Arrigoni who said yesterday the matter was resolved when the district board agreed to take over maintenance functions.

Previously, the now defunct subzone was charged with maintenance of small creeks in the unincorporated areas of Ross Valley.

FRIDAY NOVEMBER 3, 1972 SAN RAFAEL CALIFORNIA

Corte Maderan Wins Recipe Contest

St. Nicholas Braid Bread is the recipe which won the $100 first prize for Edward Stromberg Jr. of Corte Madera in the Independent-Journal Recipe Contest.

He preferred to substitute his whole wheat bread recipe for the white bread used in the original recipe, creating a nutritious risen whole wheat bread filled with walnuts and glace fruits.

Second prize winner of $20 is Harold G. Sillery Jr. of San Anselmo, who won with his grandmother's Holiday Bean Bake.

"She showed me how to make it when I was a youngster," he said.

Twenty-three other entrants won $5 for their entries in the contest, sponsored by the I-J and Marin merchants. Other winners are:

Margaret B. Brooks of Mill Valley, Agnes Brown of Greenbrae, Mary E. Castelli of San Anselmo, Mrs. John Connolly of Mill Valley, Lilley Den-Otter of San Anselmo, Mrs. Kenneth Frankel of San Rafael, Col. Thomas D. Gillis of Greenbrae, Ruth Gissler of Novato, Diane Graham of Tiburon, Dale Held of Novato, Mrs. Marilyn Henthorn of Mill Valley, Debbie Kidd of Larkspur, Mary Latini of Fairfax, Mrs. Armand Loche of Tiburon, Carolyn B. Morton of Tiburon, Inez O'Haire of Novato, Mrs. K.W. Philo of San Rafael, Ellie Parsons of Kentfield, Karen H. Reese of Kentfield, Mrs. John P. Ryan of San Rafael, Mrs. Caroline Thiel of San Rafael, Robert C. Walker of Mill Valley and Mrs. H.C. Whitescarver of Tiburon.

Judge for the recipe contest was Virginia Shattuck, home economist, who tested and judged the recipes in her kitchen in San Rafael.

Sponsoring the contest with the I-J were the Bourbon Shops, Cala Foods, Coldwell Banker, Designers' Galley, the Emporium, the Great San Rafael Coffee and Tea Store, Greenbrae Pharmacy, The Kitchen, Varin Piano and Organ, McPhails, Montgomery Ward, Petrini's market, United Markets and Western Furniture.

Braid Bread: The Recipe That Won

Holiday COOK BOOK RECIPE CONTEST WINNER 1972

From Edward Stromberg, Jr., Box 20, Corte Madera.

SAINT NICHOLAS BRAID BREAD

- 1 Can evaporated milk (13 oz.)
- 1⅔ Cups hot tap water
- ¼ Cup cooking oil
- ⅓ Cup brown sugar
- 1 Tbsp. salt
- 1 Pkg. dry yeast
- ½ Cup warm water (105°-115°F)
- 1 Cup corn meal
- 3 Cups 100% whole wheat or graham flour
- 4 Cups all-purpose flour

Mix evaporated milk with hot water, shortening, sugar and salt in a large bowl. In a separate bowl sprinkle yeast over ½ cup warm water to dissolve. Stir yeast into milk mixture. Add corn meal and flour, mix thoroughly. Cover and let rise in a warm spot away from drafts until double in size (about 1½ hours).

FILLING

- ½ Cup brown sugar, firmly packed
- ¼ Cup flour
- Grated rind of one orange
- 1½ Cups chopped walnuts
- 1½ Cups glace fruits
- ¼ Cup melted butter or margarine

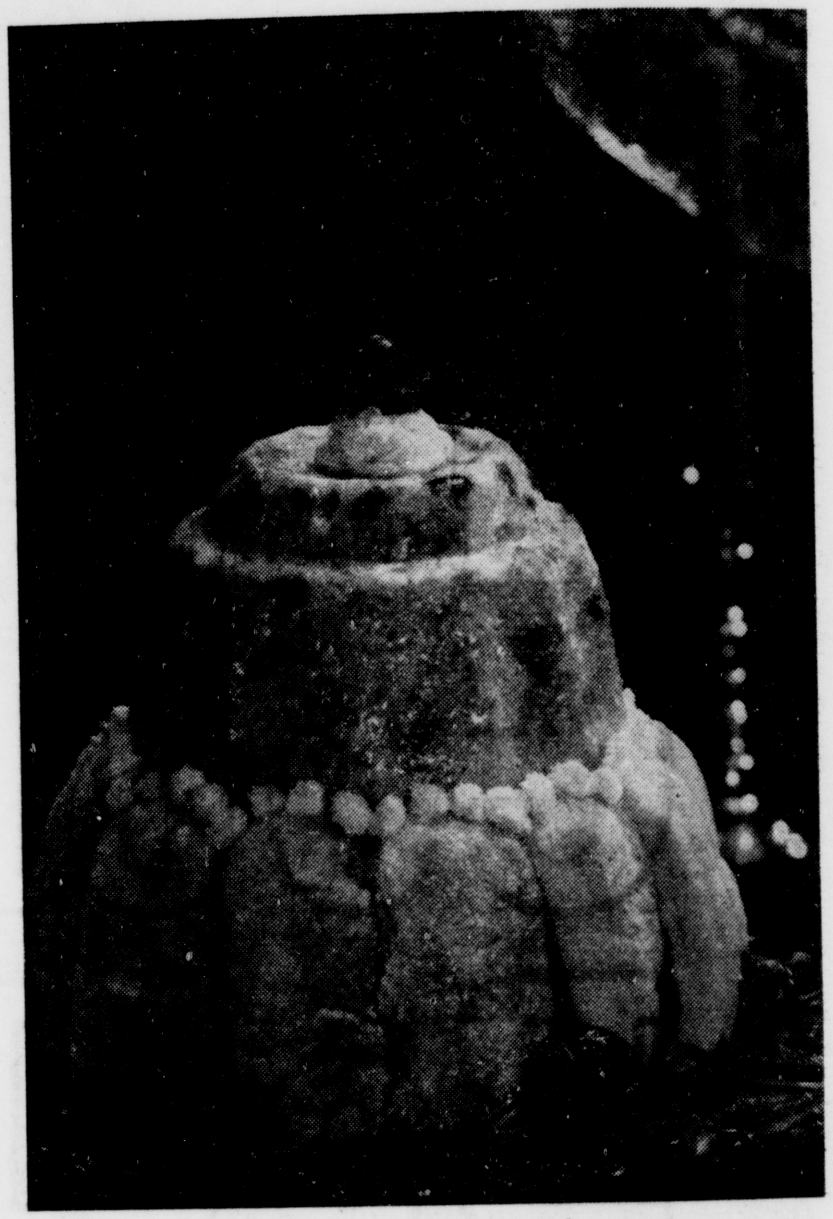

Mix ingredients and divide into two equal parts. When dough has risen, punch down with your fist, transfer to a floured board and knead until smooth and elastic. Divide in halves. Roll one half into a rectangle 7 by 14 inches. Spread with half the filling. Roll tightly in a long roll; seal the edges. Place on a greased baking sheet. With scissors, cut roll in halves the long way, making 2 strips 14 inches long. Place one strip across the other to make an "X" at center; keep cut sides up. Now, starting at the center and working out toward either end, loosely criss-cross the strips, keeping cut sides up. This forms a long braid. Repeat with remaining dough and filling. Let rise again until double in bulk.

To decorate, beat 1 egg and 1 tablespoon water together until well-blended. Brush bread with egg mixture and decorate with red and green glace cherries and walnut halves.

Bake at 350° 35-40 minutes or until golden brown. Makes 2 braids.

If frosting is preferred, bake bread first and cool slightly. Frost with 1 cup confectioners sugar mixed with 2 to 3 tablespoons milk. Trim with cherry and walnut halves.

"The original recipe was a magazine ad for Diamond walnuts, which called for a package roll mix and was baked in a wreath shape. My family never cared for white bread and I substituted my favorite whole wheat bread recipe for the package mix. Also, I found the straight braid shape easier to make and slice than the original wreath shape. This bread is beautiful to behold and delicious and nutritious to eat."

MINCEMEAT, GELATIN, sherry and orange juice create a spectacular and different dessert. Ladyfingers are split and placed around the edge of the mold to add to the flavor and graceful appearance.

Holiday Bean Bake — The Runner-Up

Holiday COOK BOOK RECIPE CONTEST WINNER 1972

From Harold G. Sillery, Jr., 8 Fairview Court, San Anselmo.

HOLIDAY BEAN BAKE

- 4 Large onions, sliced
- ¾ Cup light brown sugar, packed
- ½ Cup cider vinegar
- 1 Tsp. dry mustard
- ½ Tsp. garlic salt
- ½ Tsp. salt
- 8 Slices bacon, crisp & crumbled
- 1 16 oz. can New England style baked beans, undrained
- 2 15 oz. cans cooked dry butter beans, drained
- 1 15 oz. can red kidney beans, drained
- 1 16 oz. can green lima beans, drained

Simmer onion, sugar, vinegar, mustard and salts in a covered saucepan for 20 minutes. Combine all beans, bacon and hot ingredients. Place in large 13"x9" or 3 quart casserole. Bake in 350° oven uncovered for one hour. Serves 12.

"My grandmother always served this on Holidays and everyone loved the sweet-sour flavor. She showed me how to prepare it when I was a youngster."

A Different Dessert For Holiday Season

If you would like to do something different with your mincemeat this holiday season, try this spectacular dessert that is sure to please the most discriminating guest.

SHERRIED MINCEMEAT

- 2 envelopes unflavored gelatin
- ¼ cup cold water
- 1 cup sugar
- 1½ cups orange juice
- 3 eggs, separated
- ¼ cup sherry
- 2 cups mincemeat
- 6 lady fingers, split
- Whipped cream
- Maraschino cherries

Soften gelatin in cold water. In top of double boiler, combine sugar, orange juice and egg yolks; blend well. Cook over hot water, stirring constantly, until mixture thickens slightly. Remove from heat; add softened gelatin and sherry, stirring until gelatin dissoves.

Chill until mixture begins to mound from spoon; fold in mincemeat. Beat egg whites until stiff peaks form; fold into gelatin. Spoon mixture into a 2-quart mold to within 2-inches of top of mold; place lady fingers around edge of mold and fill with remaining mixture. To serve, unmold and garnish with whipped cream and maraschino cherries. Makes 8 to 10 servings.

Santa's Whiskers: A Festive, Crisp Cookie

Holiday COOK BOOK RECIPE CONTEST WINNER 1972

From Mrs. K. W. Philo, 7 Palm Ave., San Rafael.

SANTA'S WHISKERS

"A most festive, crisp cookie. Easy to make and a little special. I slice these rather thick (over ¼") as they tend to brown quickly. I like them to stay light in color to show the contrast with the colored cherries."

1 Cup butter
1 Cup sugar
2 Tbsp. milk
1 Tsp. vanilla or rum
2½ Cups Flour
¾ Cup red & green candied cherries (mixed together)
½ Cup chopped pecans (fine)
¾ Cup shredded coconut

Cream sugar, butter and blend in milk and vanilla. Stir in flour, cherries and nuts. Form into two rolls and roll in the coconut. Wrap in waxed paper and chill. Slice and place on ungreased cookie sheet. Bake in 375° oven for 12 minutes.

Coconut Macaroons Made 'From An Easy Recipe'

Holiday COOK BOOK RECIPE CONTEST WINNER 1972

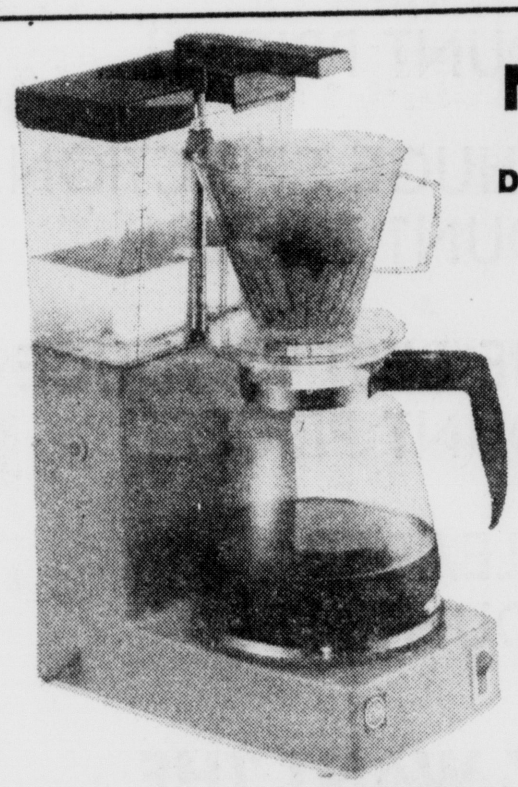

From Mrs. Dale Held, 765 Plaza Amapola, Novato.

COCONUT MACAROONS

3 Egg whites, stiffly beaten
1 Cup sugar
1 Tbsp. cornstarch
¼ Tsp. salt
2 Cups shredded coconut

Mix whites, sugar and cornstarch in upper part of double boiler. Cook over boiling water for 20 minutes, stirring constantly. Remove from heat. Add salt and coconut and drop from a teaspoon onto greased paper on baking sheet. Bake at 300° for 15-20 minutes or until delicately browned.

This cookie recipe is easy. It came from a 1949 Sunset publication. The recipe is at least 23 years old.

WALNUT CHIFFON FRUITCAKE is lighter in texture than more traditional fruitcakes, yet is full of candied fruits and nuts. Cottage cheese and gelatin are among the ingredients.

A Light-In-Texture Fruitcake With The Charm Of Tradition

Delicate is the word for this fruitcake. It maintains all the charm of traditional fruitcakes — it's full of candied fruits, raisins and walnuts. Yet it's light in texture. It could be a most welcome dessert for your dinner guests, for your friends at an evening party, or for the girls at your holiday luncheon parties.

The surprise ingredient in this Chiffon Fruitcake is cottage cheese. The gelatin gives the cake a light, but firm texture that is easy to slice. Bright cherries and golden California walnut halves decorating the top make this cake a showpiece for any table. Surround the serving plate with a ring of holiday greenery. Then, for sparkle, tuck in gilded or painted whole in-the-shell walnuts (use spray or poster paints). Walnuts offer fascinating opportunities for your creative abilities.

THE RECIPE for this cake calls for toasted walnuts, so they'll have extra, walnut-brown flavor. Just drop the kernels into boiling water for three minutes. Drain well, spread in a shallow pan and toast them at 350 degrees for 15 to 20 minutes. Stir frequently until they're golden all over. Cool before adding them to this cake mixture.

When you're toasting walnuts, you may just as well fix extras for snacking and serving with beverages. For this use, brush the kernels with butter and sprinkle generously with salt or garlic salt while they are still warm.

WALNUT CHIFFON FRUITCAKE

Zweibach Crust:

1 cup zweibach crumbs
2 tablespoons sugar
⅛ teaspoon cinnamon
3 tablespoons melted butter or margarine

Filling:

1½ envelopes (1½ tablespoons) plain gelatin
½ cup Sherry or light rum*
3 eggs, separated
½ cup milk
½ cup granulated sugar
¾ teaspoon salt
2 cups (1 pint) small curd cottage cheese
½ teaspoon grated lemon rind
3 tablespoons lemon juice
2 teaspoons vanilla
½ cup chopped toasted walnuts
½ cup coarsely chopped raisins
½ cup coarsely grated citron
1 cup mixed finely chopped candied cherries, pineapple and orange peel
1 cup whipping cream
*½ cup milk and 2 teaspoons rum flavoring may be substituted for sherry or run.

For crust combine zweibach crumbs, sugar, cinnamon and melted butter. Turn into bottom of 9-inch spring form pan; press crumbs firmly into an even layer. Chill while preparing the filling.

FOR FILLING soften gelatin in sherry (or ½ cup milk). Beat egg yolks; combine with remaining ½ cup milk, sugar and salt. Cook over low heat, stirring, until mixture thickens and coats spoon. Add gelatin, stirring until dissolved; remove from heat. Stir in cottage cheese (pressed through sieve if very smooth mixture is desired), lemon rind and juice and vanilla (plus 2 teaspoons rum flavoring if substitute for liquor is preferred). Chill until thickened.

Fold in stiffly beaten egg whites, walnuts and fruit. Fold in stiffly beaten cream. Turn nto zweibach lined 9-inch spring form pan; chill until firm. Remove outer ring from pan and arrange cake on serving plate. Garnish top with walnut halves and candied cherries, if desired. Cut in wedges to serve. Makes 10 to 12 servings.

Combine Cream And Blue Cheese

CARNIVAL CORNUCOPIAS

6 ounces cream cheese
½ cup American blue cheese (about 3 ounces, crumbled)
8 slices boiled or baked ham
1 8-oz. can jellied cranberry sauce

Cream cheeses together. Spread thickly on ham slices. Cut cranberry sauce vertically in eighths. Place a "stick" of cranberry sauce in center of ham slice and roll up, starting at narrow end. Chill, and slice into fourths. Makes 32.

Mill Valley Resident's Mushrooms

From Mrs. John Connolly, 430 Marion Ave., Mill Valley

STUFFED MUSHROOMS

12 Large mushrooms
¼ Cup sliced green onion
3 Tbsp. butter

Holiday COOK BOOK RECIPE CONTEST WINNER 1972

½ Tsp. dried dill weed
¼ Tsp. salt
1 Tbsp. bacon crumbs
Dash Worcestershire sauce
⅓ Cup bread crumbs

Remove stems from mushroom and finely chop stems. Cook stems and green onion in butter until tender, not brown. Add bread crumbs, dill weed, salt, worcestershire sauce and bacon crumbs. Rub or brush mushroom caps with a tiny bit of butter and fill with bread crumb mixture. Place on baking sheet and bake in 350° oven for 15 minutes. Serves 6-8. Can easily be doubled.

"Holds up well on buffet with little heat needed. Dresses up almost any meat dinner and can be used as an hors d'oeuvre if 24 quarter-size mushrooms are used instead of the 12 large ones."

This Mousse Passed Through Many Hands

From Mrs. Kenneth Frankel, 260 Tiburon Blvd., San Rafael.

MILLION DOLLAR MOUSSE (Chocolate)

4 Egg yolks
½ Cup superfine granulated sugar
2 Tbsp. orange liqueur
3 Ounces semi-sweet chocolate
3 Ounces unsweetened chocolate
3 Tbsp. strong coffee
6 Ounces (1½ sticks) unsalted butter, room temperature
4 Egg whites
Pinch salt

Holiday COOK BOOK RECIPE CONTEST WINNER 1972

Beat the sugar and egg yolks together in a metal bowl until pale yellow and thick. Beat in orange liqueur. Set bowl over pan of simmering water and beat at high speed for four minutes until mixture is hot. Set bowl into basin of ice water and beat for four minutes until mixture is cool and is the consistency of mayonnaise.

Melt chocolate and coffee over very low heat. Remove from heat and with a wire whip beat in butter bit by bit. Beat chocolate mixture into egg yolk misture. Beat egg whites and salt until stiff. Fold into chocolate mixture. Turn into serving dish, dessert cups, or wine glasses. Chill several hours or overnight. Serve with whipped cream.

"This is my own adaptation of a friend's version of her roommate's variation of a chocolate mousse recipe. By now the ingredients and their measurements must have changed considerably from the 'original' after all these hands have been at it."

APPLE CHEESECAKE is different and tasty for that special company dessert treat. If baking directions are followed with care, the cake will not sink in the center.

Celebrate Harvest — Apple Cheesecake

Celebrate the apple harvest by making this new version of Apple Cheesecake. The cake itself is superb and if baking directions are followed carefully it will not sink in the middle. The apple topping is a new and delightful innovation, adding a touch of elegance and delicious flavor all its own.

APPLE CHEESECAKE

½ cup soft soft butter or margarine
1 package (6 oz.) zwieback, crushed into fine crumbs
½ cup extra fine (instant) sugar
2 tablespoons flour
¼ teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon vanilla
4 eggs, separated
2 packages (8 oz. each) cream cheese
½ cup sugar
1 cup whipping cream
Apple Topping

Blend soft butter or margarine, zwieback crumbs and instant sugar. Reserve one-third cup for topping. Press remaining crumb mixture on bottom and sides of eight-inch springform pan. Mash cream cheese until softened blend with sugar, flour, salt and vanilla. Add egg yolks one at a time, mixing well after each addition. Blend in cream.

Beat egg whites stiff but not dry; fold into cheese mixture gently but thoroughly. Spoon gently into crumb-lined pan. Scatter reserved crumbs on top. Bake at 325 degrees for one hour and 15 minutes or until center of cake is set.

Turn off oven. Leave cake in oven, with door closed, for one hour longer. Remove from oven. Cool slowly to room temperature. Chill. Arrange apple topping on surface. Makes eight to 10 servings.

APPLE TOPPING

1 cup water
1 cup firmly packed light brown sugar
1 teaspoon cinnamon
¼ teaspoon nutmeg
¼ teaspoon mace
¼ teaspoon allspice
4 large apples

Combine water, sugar and spices in large skillet. Stir over low heat until sugar dissolves. Simmer 10 minutes. Pare and core apples; slice thin. Put enough apple slices in syrup to cover bottom of skillet.

Cook until slices are tender but have not lost their shape. Remove with slotted spoon or pancake turner. Continue until all apple slices are cooked. Cool. Arrange in over-lapping concentric circles on top of chilled cheesecake.

Ready Bite-Size Pieces Of Fruit

Prepare assorted fruits, fresh or frozen, in bite-size pieces. All types of melon, strawberries, and slices of orange, banana, apple, pineapple, and pear are appropriate. Srve with hors d'oeuvre picks and folly dip.

Folly Dip: Mix together ½ cup each of mayonnaise and dairy sour cream. Add ¼ cup cranberry juice and blend. Stir in ¼ cup American blue cheese (about 1¼ oz., crumbled). If needed, add extra cranberry juice until dip is of desired dunking consistency. Chill. Makes about 1½ cups.

Fairfax Woman's Chocolate Cake

From Mrs. Mary Latini, 131 Cascade Dr., Fairfax.

VERIFLUFFY CHOCOLATE CAKE

Holiday COOK BOOK RECIPE CONTEST WINNER 1972

1 Cup shortening
2 Cups sugar
3 Eggs, separated
3 Ounces bitter chocolate
1 Cup milk
½ Cake compressed yeast
¼ Cup lukewarm water
½ Tsp. salt
2¾ Cups sifted flour
1 Tsp soda
3 Tbsp. hot water
1½ Tsp. vanilla

Cream the shortening and continue creaming while adding sugar. Add egg yolks and beat well. Add melted chocolate, milk and the yeast which has been mixed with the lukewarm water. Beat in the flour and salt, which have been sifted together. Beat the egg whites until stiff but not dry and fold into mixture. Allow to stand overnight. Next morning add the soda dissolved in the hot water, mixed thoroughly. Add vanilla. Bake in a greased and floured pan 45 minutes in 350° oven.

This makes a large cake in pan, 9 x 12 x 2 or can be baked in two smaller pans. May be frosted with chocolate frosting and decorated with candied strawberries, almond acorns, citron and angelica leaves, making a deluxe Holiday cake.

A Recipe For Brittle

From Mrs. Karen H. Reese, 5 Rancheria Road, Kentfield.

PEANUT BRITTLE

Holiday COOK BOOK RECIPE CONTEST WINNER 1972

1 Cup sugar
½ Cup white corn syrup
¼ Cup water
1½ Cups raw peanuts
1 Tsp. baking soda

Turn electric skillet to 355°. Cook mixture (except baking soda) for 14 minutes, or until syrup is golden and peanuts are toasted. Stir occasionally. Add baking soda, stir. Pour mixture out on a buttered cookie sheet and let it cool. Break in pieces.

Brown Candy Is 'Very Creamy'

From Debbie Kidd, 362 Madrone Ave., Larkspur.

BROWN CANDY

Holiday COOK BOOK RECIPE CONTEST WINNER 1972

6 Cups white sugar
2 Cups whole milk (or cream)
¼ Lb. butter (½ cup)
¼ Tsp soda
1 Tsp. vanilla
2 Lbs. pecan meats, broken

Place 4 cups of sugar together with the milk in a deep heavy kettle and set it over low heat to cook slowly. While this is cooking, pour remaining 2 cups of sugar into a heavy aluminum or iron skillet and place over low heat. Stir with wooden spoon and keep sugar moving so it will not scorch. (It will take over half an hour to completely melt sugar and at no time should it smoke or cook so fast that it turns dark). As soon as all the sugar is melted, begin pouring it into the kettle of boiling milk and sugar, keeping it on very low heat and stirring constantly. (The real secret of mixing these ingredients is to pour a stream no larger than a knitting needle and to stir across the bottom of the kettle all the time. Many people get together with a friend to make this candy so one person can pour and the other stir).

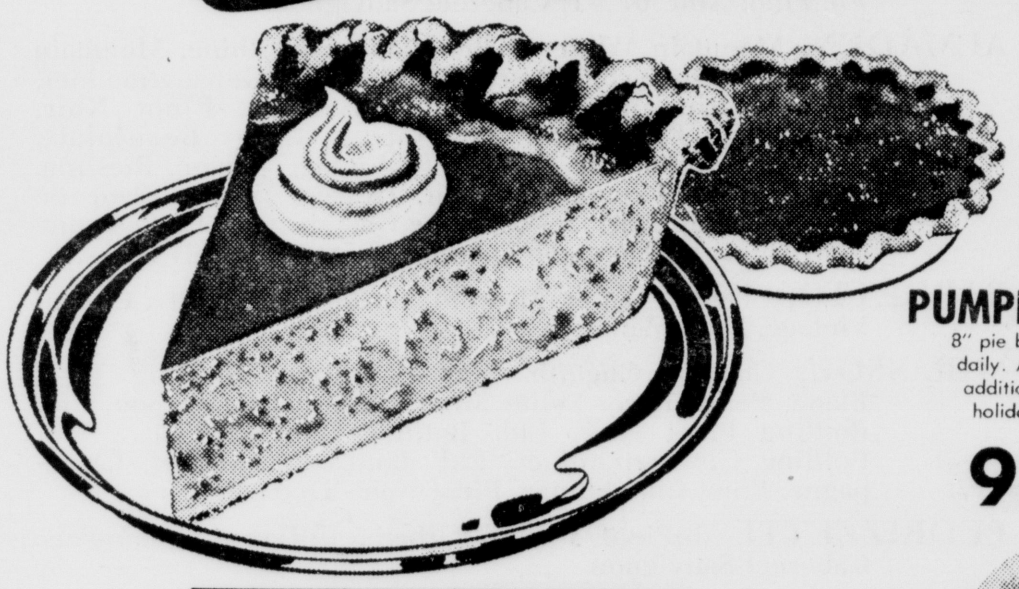

Continue cooking and stirring until the mixture forms a firm ball when dropped into cold water. After this test is made, turn off the heat and immediately add the soda, stirring vigorously as it foams. Add butter, allowing it to melt as you stir. Set the kettle off the stove, but not in a cold place, for about 20 minutes. Add vanilla and beat with a wooden spoon until the mixture is thick and heavy, having a dull appearance instead of a glossy sheen. Add the pecan meats and mix. Turn into tin boxes or square pans where it may be cut into squares when cooled slightly. Makes six pounds of candy.

Tiburon Woman Reveals Her Recipe For Ham Sauce

Holiday COOK BOOK RECIPE CONTEST WINNER 1972

"This sauce, served hot in a gravy boat or chafing dish will give dash to your holiday ham!"

2 Cups white wine
1 Cup white sugar
2 Cans (13½ oz) frozen pineapple
4 Tsps. curry powder
4 Tbsp. cornstarch
1 Cup fresh (if possible) seedless grapes

Combine white wine and sugar in sauce pan and stir over flame until sugar dissolves. Then boil rapidly 5 minutes. Meanwhile, drain partially thawed cans of frozen pineapple. Using the drained-off juices, make a paste of the curry powder and cornstarch. Stir until smooth and add to the syrup. Reduce heat and cook, stirring until the sauce is fairly thick. Add frozen pineapple and grapes. Serve hot with ham. Serves 12 to 16 people.

Applesauce Pumpkin Bread Recipe Given

THE GOURMET

By Petrini's

Presents

Tripe Florentine

Truly a gourmet's delight. Outstanding

5 lbs. thinly sliced tripe. Parboil tripe with a pinch of salt 15 to 20 minutes. Drain well.
4 medium size leeks, sliced 1/8" thick. (Do not use greens.)
¾ lb. fresh mushrooms sliced or 8 oz. can
2 stalks celery
1 medium size onion
1 large clove garlic, all chopped fine.
½ lb. ground pork
½ lb. ground veal
¾ cup solid pack tomatoes
1 quart beef or chicken stock
Pinch each of sage and rosemary
4 Tbls. Olive Oil
½ cup grated parmesan cheese

While tripe is draining, saute in heated olive oil leeks and mushrooms. Then add celery, onion, garlic, seasoning, ground Pork and Veal. Saute until meat begins to brown. Then add ½ cup white dinner wine, tomatoes and stock, salt and pepper to taste, let simmer 10 to 15 minutes. Add drained tripe, cook over low heat approximately 3 to 3½ hours. If necessary, add more stock. Just before serving tripe, stir in ½ cup grated parmesan cheese.

Serves 5 to 8 People.
Serve with a Chilled Charles Krug Rose.

Baked Ham Jolene

4 or 5-lb. Boneless ham
1 1-lb. can pitted black cherries
2 oranges
1 lemon
1 tsp. ginger
1 cup brown sugar, dark
1 cup dry sherry wine
1-oz. brandy

Drain juices from cherries into a saucepan. Blend cherry juice with juice and pulp from oranges and lemon. Add sugar, ginger and sherry, mix well, and simmer until sugar dissolves. Place ham in baking pan, pour over warm sauce. Bake in slow oven 300 degrees, allowing 25 min. per pound. Baste frequently. 20 minutes before done, pour brandy over ham. At end of cooking time, pour pan juices into saucepan and bring to a boiling point. (Do not let boil) Add cherries, simmer 5 to 10 minutes. Slice ham in ¼ inch slices. Serve with sauce and cherries.

Serves 6 to 8 People
Serve with a chilled, dry and smooth Charles Krug Grey Reisling

Butter Ball Steak Au Jus

So delightfully rich when broiled or barbecued to a crusty brown on the outside and pink inside. Use a 3 to 3½ lb. butterball steak. Have butter ball at room temperature before starting.

Cook at high heat 3 to 4 inches from heat source. Brown well on first side before turning. Total cooking time approximately 35 to 40 minutes for medium.

Let natural juice run down to one end of pre-heated platter. Into juices add ⅓ cup melted butter, 2 tsp. worcestershire, 1 tsp. dry mustard, 1 tsp. accent, salt and pepper to taste. Mix well and pour over sliced butter ball before serving.

Serves 4 to 6 People
Serve with a PAUL MASSON BURGUNDY

Osso Buco ala Milanese

4 Veal Shanks cut in serving pieces
4 Tbls. Olive Oil
3 Tbls. Flour
½ tsp. Accent
1 large clove garlic chopped
½ cup white dinner wine
½ cup chicken broth
¼ tsp. Oregano
½ tsp. Italian seasoning
1 6-oz. tin mushrooms undrained
Dash Tobasco Sauce
Salt and Pepper to taste

Heat olive oil in heavy skillet, add garlic and saute. Roll veal in flour and accent. Place in skillet and cook until well brown. Add remaining ingredients and cover, cooking over low heat approximately 1 hour and 30 minutes. Add more chicken broth if needed.

Serve Osso Buco in hot platter surrounded with buttered rice or buttered noodles. Pour remaining gravy over all.

Serves 4 to 6 People
Serve with a Charles Krug White Dinner Wine

From Northern Italy!

Stufato con Polenta

STUFATO

2 lb. Boneless Stewing Beef (cut in 1" to 1½" cubes)
2 Tbs. Flour
3 Tbs. olive oil
¾ cup Consomme
2 Bay leaves (optional)
¾ cup burgundy wine
½ tsp. garlic salt
1 large onion, sliced
Salt and Pepper to taste

Dust meat cubes with four. Heat oil in Dutch oven and brown meat well in the hot oil. Add remaining ingredients, cover, let simmer over low heat until tender. Approximately 2½ hours. Stir occasionally. If desired, vegetables may be added during the last 20 minutes of cooking.

POLENTA

3 quarts cold water
4 cups yellow corn meal
½ cup butter or olive oil.

In heavy kettle, heat water to rolling boil. Gradually stirring in corn meal. Cook over medium heat 45 min. to 1 hour, stirring often to prevent burning. Add butter and stir until absorbed. Reduce to low heat, continue cooking until VERY VERY thick. Remove from heat, brush edges of polenta with small amount of olive oil, by pushing spatula against side of kettle letting oil run down. Polenta will then drop out in a firm mold. Slice and serve under stufato and gravy. UM-m-m-m Delicious!

Serves 5 to 7 People

Chateaubriand Fermiere!

(FER-MIE-R)

BROIL OR BAR-B-CUE TO PERFECTION!

Have fat slashed on a medium size Chateaubriand. Cook at high temperature 4 inches from heat source. Brown well on first side before turning. Total cooking time approximately 35 mins. for medium. Serve on pre-heated platter, carve in diagonal slices ¼" thick. Let natural juices run down to one end of pre-heated platter, into juices add ⅓ cube of melted butter, 2 tsp. Worchestershire, 1 tsp. dry mustard, 1 tsp. Accent, salt and pepper to taste. Mix well and pour over sliced Chateaubriand before serving.

Serves 5 People
Serve With a Fine Calif. Wine
Cabernet Sauvignon

Braised Beef Piemontese

A Truly Delightful Italian Dish

4 or 5 lb. Cross Rib, Brisket, Rump, Manhattan or Scotch Roast
5 strips bacon
2 or 3 cloves garlic, minced
2 medium onions, minced
2 stalks celery, minced
2 medium carrots, thinly sliced
1 cup white dinner wine
1 cup red dinner wine
1 sprig fresh rosemary
½ tsp. Italian spices
Salt and pepper to taste

Line casserole or dutch oven with the bacon strips. Add roast, brown on all sides using high heat 10 to 15 minutes. Add remaining ingredients. Cover tightly and let simmer 3 to 3½ hours or until tender. Turn roast occasionally. Slice roast into a serving platter and pour over remaining gravy.

Serve with buttered spaghetti or tagliarini which has been cooked al dente.

Veal Scaloppini Lemone

Marinate 1½ to 2 lbs. thinly sliced veal in the juice of a medium size lemon, salt and pepper to taste, and a sprinkling of parmesan cheese for approximately 2 hours. Dust veal slices lightly in flour, dip into a beaten egg and then in fine bread crumbs. Into a large skillet melt 5 tablespoons butter and place breaded veal side by side. Cook over moderate heat until brown on one side, 4 to 5 minutes. Turn and place on each veal slice a layer of thinly sliced fresh mushrooms and 1 tablespoon of parmesan cheese. Let the underside brown and add one tablespoon of chicken stock for each slice of veal. Place skillet in a 350 degree oven for five or six minutes and serve piping hot.

4 to 6 Servings
Serve with a Paul Masson Chilled and Dry Chablis

Filet Mignon 'Bonne Bouchess'

(BON BOO SHAY)

"A MEAT COURSE FIT FOR A KING"

Have steak at room temperature. Pre-heat broiler 5 to 10 mins. Spread both sides of 2-inch thick filet with softened butter. Sprinkle with onion and garlic salt and a dash of Accent. Grease rack slightly and broil or B.B.Q. steaks using a high temperature approx. 20 to 25 mins for medium done. Turn with tongs when first side is done, approx. 15 mins. Brush with extra butter and serve with sauteed button mushrooms.

Allow one steak per serving

The Old Original

"8" Mile House

Crown Roast of Lamb

As Served to Pres. Theodore Roosevelt In the Early 1900's

Juicy Rib Lamb Chops Shaped Like a King's Crown. Center Filled with Tasty Ground Lamb. Each Rib decorated with a festive frill.

Combine ground lamb, about 2 cups, with 1 cup diced bread, 3 tbs. minced onions, ¼ tsp. marjoram, ½ tbs. chopped parsley. Add enough milk to moisten, salt and pepper to taste, place ingredients in center of crown of lamb, place roast in shallow roasting pan. Roast at 325 degrees approx. 30 min. per lb. Serve with mint, currant jelly or minted pear halves. Place frills on bone ends before serving for a king's crown effect!

Breast Of Veal Florentine

Have our butcher make a pocket in a 3½ to 4 lb. breast of veal. Saute 1 lb. sausage meat with 1 small minced onion and one clove minced garlic until sausage meat is done. Drain off excess fat. Add one package of frozen chopped spinach and cook over low heat until thawed. Let cool slightly, stir in three cups of dry bread cubes. Add 3 slightly beaten eggs, one teaspoon salt, ¼ tsp. pepper and ½ tsp. thyme and mix well. Stuff the pocket of veal with mixutre. Sew or skewer the end of pocket. Put veal in well oiled roast pan, fat side up. Rub oil on top of veal breasts, sprinkle with paprika. Roast in slow oven 325° for 35-40 minutes per pound. Equally delicious served hot or cold.

Serves 5 to 6 People
Serve with a veal Paul Masson Rhine Castle

Stuffed Pork Chops — Gelee

6 pork chops one inch thick with pocket (Our meat cutters will do this for you.)
1 cup sliced celery
½ cup chopped onion
⅓ cup butter
2 cups dry bread crumbs
½ cup seedless raisins
Small amount of chicken broth or stock
1 10-oz. jar of currant jelly
½ tsp. sage
½ tsp. salt
pepper to taste

Cook celery and onion in butter until tender. Add bread crumbs, raisins, seasoning and enough stock to moisten. Mix well. Fill pork chop pockets with this dressing, press edges of opening together and secure with toothpicks. Brown slowly on both sides, cover and cook over low heat or bake at 350 degrees for 1 hour.

Serve with a Paul Masson Dry Sauterne

Hot Sandwiches 'Are Great For Luncheons'

From Mrs. Marilyn Henthorn, 296 Lovell Ave., Mill Valley.

Holiday COOK BOOK RECIPE CONTEST WINNER 1972

CHICKEN VILLE d'ESTE SANDWICH (Hot)

2 Cups diced chicken breasts or turkey (cooked)
1 Small can sliced water chestnuts
1 Cup sliced fresh mushrooms
1 Can Cream of Mushroom soup
1 Can chicken gravy
2-3 Heaping Tbsp. chopped green onion and tops
2-3 Heaping Tbsp. minced pimiento
1 Loaf thinly sliced sandwich bread

Combine all ingredients except bread. Trim crusts from 24 slices bread. Divide filling among 12 sandwiches. Wrap separately in foil or saran wrap and freeze. When ready to serve: Preheat oven to 300°. Mix together:

4 Eggs, beaten
½ Cup Milk

Crumble a small bag (I use more) of potato chips into fine crumbs. Dip the frozen sandwiches into the egg batter, roll completely in the crumbs and place on a cookie sheet. Bake for 1 hour. Garnish with a cherry tomato and parsley on a frilly toothpick.

"Keep a supply of these frozen sandwiches on hand as they are just great to have for luncheons during the holidays when a person is so rushed for time. The red cherry tomato and the green parsley lend a little Christmas color."

Canape Recipe

PINEAPPLE-BLUE CANAPES

Blend ½ cup (about 3 ounces crumbled) American blue cheese with one 3-ounce package softened cream cheese. Mix in ½ cup drained, crushed pineapple. Spread on wheat bread cut in party shapes. Garnish with split seedless grapes.

Don't Blend

Lightly press together into balls one part American bleu cheese, crumbled, to one part prepared pimento cheese sandwich spread (or chive cream spread, to vary). Do not blend the cheeses, in order that each flavor will be recognizable. Roll balls in minced parsley or dark rye crumbs. With toothpicks, affix balls to styrofoam core alternating balls with cherry tomatoes.

Raisin Carrot Cakes Alternative To The Traditional Fruitcake

Christmas baking is the one phase of holiday preparation you can take care of well in advance. It is the perfect time to make breads, puddings and fruitcakes so you can assure your friends of a variety of holiday goodies — and assure yourself that "it's done."

Rum or brandy-soaked confections should be made several weeks ahead so they have plenty of time to age preserved in the spirits that flavor them. And thanks to the freezer, non-alcoholic treats can also be made now and frozen right in the baking containers.

Holiday Raisin Carrot Cakes are a delicious alternative to the traditional fruitcake. These tiny loaves make ideal gifts. Full of the wholesomeness of carrots and raisins, these cakes freeze beautifully.

When you're ready to defrost them, make up accompanying pots of Rum Raisin Butter and Orange Butter. Pour into tiny eared ramekins and you have the perfect duo for Christmas gifting. The small loaf pans and ramekins make the gift a lasting one after the last morsel of cake is gone.

The little loaves make excellent sandwiches for holiday entertaining; or try thin slices lightly toasted with one of the butters for a very special breakfast bread.

HOLIDAY RAISIN CARROT CAKE

2 cups flour
2 cups sugar
1 teaspoon salt
2 teaspoons baking soda
2 teaspoons cinnamon
1½ cups cooking oil
4 eggs
3 cups shredded carrots
½ cup seedless raisins
½ cup golden raisins
1 cup chopped walnuts

Preheat oven to 350 degrees. Sift together dry ingredients. Add oil and eggs. Stir in carrots, raisins and nuts. Pour batter into four 3" by 6" well-greated and floured bread pans Bake at 350 degrees for 45 to 50 minutes. Makes four cakes.

RUM RAISIN BUTTER

1½ teaspoons rum
1 teaspoon confectioner's sugar
2 tablespoons golden raisins, chopped
2 tablespoons seedless raisins, chopped

Soften butter and combine with the rum. Add sugar and chopped raisins and pack into a small jar, crock or ramekin.

ORANGE BUTTER

¼ pound butter
2 ounces cream cheese
2 teaspoons orange juice
2 teaspoons grated orange rind
¼ teaspoon cinnamon
Pinch nutmeg
1 teaspoon confectioner's sugar
2 tablespoons golden raisins, chopped
2 tablespoons seedless raisins, chopped

Soften butter and combine with cream cheese. Blend in orange juice, orange rind, cinnamon, nutmeg and sugar. Add chopped raisins and pack butter in a small jar, crock or ramekin

Cheeses And Chopped Nuts

HOLIDAY CHEESE LOG

1 cup American blue cheese (about 5¼ oz., crumbled)
1 cup grated cheddar cheese (about ¼ lb.)
1 (8-oz) package cream cheese
1 tablespoon Worcestershire sauce
2 tablespoons grated onion
½ cup chopped walnuts
¼ cup minced parsley

Have cheeses at room temperature. Blend well with Worcestershire sauce and grated onion. Chill. On waxed paper, form into log. Wrap and chill. Score with tines of a fork for "bark" effect; then roll in mixture of chopped nuts and minced parsley.

Swedish Tosca Cake Recipe From Novato

From Miss Ruth Gissler, 793 Plaza Linda, Novato.

SWEDISH TOSCA CAKE

¾ Cup flour
1 Tsp. baking powder
½ Tsp. salt
2 Eggs
¾ Cup sugar
¼ Cup melted butter
¼ Tsp. almond extract
¼ Cup cream
¼ Cup bread crumbs

Beat eggs slightly, add sugar and beat until thick and ivory colored. Add melted butter and almond extract. Sift dry ingredients together and, alternating with cream, fold into egg mixture, beginning and ending with dry ingredients. Blend thoroughly, turn into 9"x9" or 8"x8" pan. Butter sides and bottom of pan and coat with bread crumbs. Bake in 300° oven about 25-30 minutes. When cake has baked spread with hot almond topping, as follows:

¼ Cup sugar
¼ Cup butter
1 Level Tbsp. flour
1 Tbsp. cream
½ Cup slivered almonds

Combine in sauce pan and bring to a boil. Spread baked cake with hot topping and place under broiler flame 2 to 3 minutes until golden. Watch carefully so it will not over brown.

Cookie Recipe From Neighbor

From Mary E. Castelli, 55 Terrace, San Anselmo.

PEANUT BUTTER UNBAKED COOKIES

½ Cup white sugar
½ Cup white syrup
1 Cup peanut butter (room temperature)
½ Cup coconut
½ Cup chopped peanuts
2 Cups corn flakes

Boil sugar and syrup just until it forms a thread when tested. While still hot add remaining ingredients. Drop by teaspoonful on waxed paper and let cook.

"I got this recipe from a neighbor many years ago, and it has been a family favorite."

Apple Pie Cream From San Rafael

From Mrs. John P. Ryan, 16 Blossom Drive, San Rafael.

HARVEST APPLE PIE CREAM
(In Cheese Crust)

½ Cup sugar
½ Cup brown sugar, firmly packed
¼ Cup flour
½ Tsp. cinnamon
¼ Tsp. nutmeg
1/8 Tsp. salt
¼ Cup butter or margarine
6-8 Medium sized tart apples, peeled & sliced (6 cups)
2 Tsp. lemon juice
1 Unbaked 9-inch cheese pastry shell
¼ Cup heavy cream

Mix dry ingredients together in small bowl. Cut in butter or margarine. Sprinkle apples with the lemon juice. Add 1½ cups of the sugar, blending into the apples. Arrange apples in the pie shell. Sprinkle with the remaining sugar mixture. Bake in hot oven (450°) for 10 minutes. Reduce heat to 350°. Continue baking for 25 minutes, or until apples are just tender. Carefully pour cream over apples and bake 10 minutes longer. Serve warm.

CHEESE PASTRY SHELL

Lulu Paste From Man In Mill Valley

From Robert C. Walker, 303 Laverne Avenue, Mill Valley.

LULU PASTE

6 Lbs. very sharp American cheese, cut into small chunks
21 Fluid ounces (2½ cups + 2 Tbsp.) catsup
2 Ounces (¼ cup) Worcestershire sauce
1 Ounce (2 Tbsp.) tabasco sauce
1 Small bunch parsley, washed and drained
1 Small can pimentos, drained

Put all ingredients through fine grinder and let stand, refrigerated, for 24 hours before serving. Blend mixture with clean hands to any form you desire. Wrap in foil, if to be frozen, or wax paper and keep refrigerated until about one-half hour before serving. Place cheese mound or mold onto plate. Surround with a choice of crackers and butter knives. Will keep in refrigerator for several weeks. Can be made in large quantities, 6 to 12 pounds, packed into whatever size containers suit your needs and frozen. Will keep for about three months in freezer.

"We originally ate this cheese concoction in Sunbury, Pa., where it was standard fare at every club.

Something To Serve Before The Feast

Cottage and cream cheeses blend with a touch of dry white wine, anchovy paste, capers, mustard and parmesan cheese to make a dipping spread that is memorable.

Guests will enjoy it with crackers or thin slices of rye bread — or with crisp fresh vegetables. Since many people like to save their appetites for the main course, Liptauer Kase is just light enough to tempt — not fill.

For the star of the feast — a buttery, golden-brown turkey as moist and tender on the inside as a gourmet could wish. The how-to is easy: insert butter (seasoned or plain) between the skin and meat of the turkey before roasting. That's all there is — there's no need to baste in between times.

LIPTAUER KASE

1 cup creamed cottage cheese
2 tablespoons dry white wine
2 small packages (3 oz. each) cream cheese, softened
1 small onion, grated
1 tablespoon drained capers
1½ teaspoons caraway seed
2 teaspoons anchovy paste
1 teaspoon each dry mustard and paprika
¼ cup grated Parmesan cheese

Press cottage cheese through a wire strainer, or whirl it in blender with wine until smooth. Add cream cheese, and beat until smooth and fluffy. Mix in remaining ingredients until well combined. Pack in a two to three cup crock or ceramic casserole, cover, and chill for several hours or overnight before serving. Serve as a spread with thin pumpernickel bread or crisp rye or wheat crackers; or as a dip for crisp raw vegetables such as radishes, cauliflower, celery, and cucumber sticks. Makes about two cups.

BUTTER ROASTING A TURKEY

First thaw turkey if purchased frozen. This will take three-to-four days in the refrigerator, about an hour per pound in a heavy brown paper bag at room temperature, or about 30 minutes per pound immersed in cold water.

In the meantime, prepare plain or flavored butter for basting, according to instructions below. One-fourth cup (½ stick) is sufficient for a 12-pound turkey. When turkey is thawed, remove neck and giblets from neck and body cavities. Reserve turkey liver for use in buttery oyster or almond dressing.

While turkey roasts, butterbrown the remaining giblets and neck in a saucepan; cover with water or chicken broth and simmer on top of the range. This produces a savory liquid for gravy; chopped, cooked giblets may be added to gravy if desired.

Rinse turkey with cool, running water, inside and out. Pat dry with paper towels: Starting from the body cavity of the turkey, use fingers to separate the turkey skin from the flesh. Loosen it over the breast, down the sides and over the drumsticks. Then slip butter slices into all these areas.

Now stuff the turkey. (Dressing may be made ahead and refrigerated until just before preparing for the oven, but, for safety's sake, do not stuff turkey and refrigerate.) Allow ⅔ to ¾ cup dressing per pound of turkey. Use a light touch as you stuff the neck and body cavities. Use skewers or wooden picks to close the cavities; tie legs together with a string, if desired.

Before placing in oven, rub turkey all over with two to three tablespoons of butter. (This contributes to browning and crisps surface.) Roast the turkey in a 325 degree oven on a rack, in an uncovered shallow pan.

A meat thermometer inserted in the thickest part of the thigh will tell you when the turkey is done. To reach the recommended final temperature of 180 to 185 degrees will take in the neighborhood of the following times:

6-8 lb. turkey, 2-2½ hours
8-12 lb. turkey, 2½-3 hours
12-16 lb. turkey, 3-3¾ hours
16-20 lb. turkey, 3¾-4½ hours
20-24 lb. turkey, 4½-5 hours

During roasting, you may brush the turkey several times with the pan drippings. If you've used the butter-under-the-skin treatment, however it is not necessary.

Transfer the turkey to a platter and cover it lightly with foil to keep warm while you make the gravy. This rest period makes the meat easier to carve. Pour out the roasting pan drippings, and skim off the fat. Reserve one tablespoon of fat for each tablespoon of flour to be used to thicken the gravy (allow one to two tablespoons flour per cup of liquid for a thin to medium gravy).

Add warm water or broth to the roasting pan to loosen brown bits. Add this liquid to the skimmed drippings. Dilute the liquid with broth or water, if necessary.

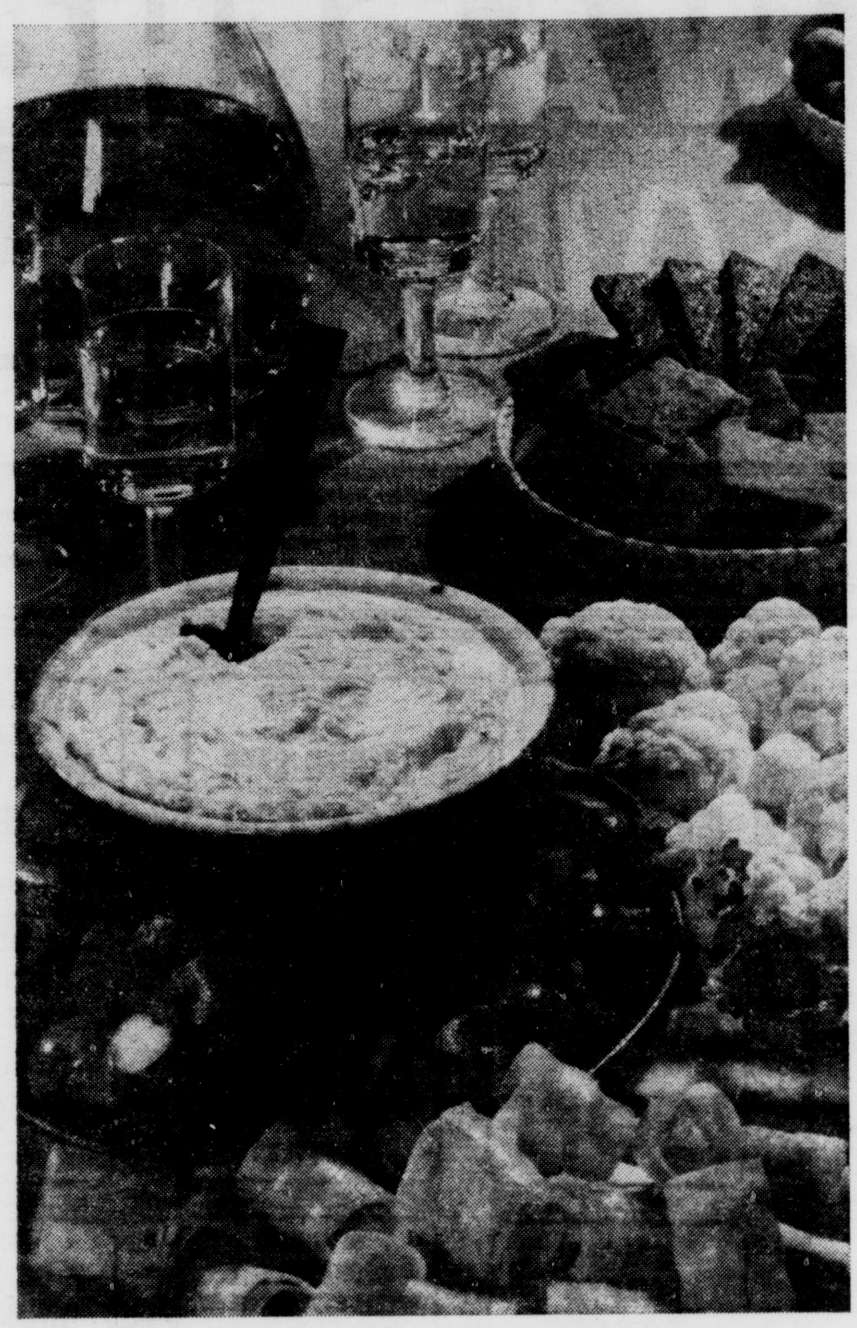

In a saucepan, heat the fat. Add flour and cook until bubbly. Then gradually stir in the liquid, cooking and stirring until thickened. Taste, and add salt if needed.

Flavored Butter for Basting: For a 12-pound turkey, soften ¼ cup butter and blend in ¼ teaspoon onion powder and ⅛ teaspoon sage or poultry seasoning. Or blend in one teaspoon each grated lemon rind and lemon juice; or two teaspoons sherry and a dash of nutmeg; or, for a Mexican accent, ⅛ teaspoon each cumin and coriander and a dash cayenne. Shape flavored butter mixture into a roll, wrap in waxed paper and chill until firm. Then slice thinly and follow directions above for inserting between turkey skin and meat.

BUTTERY OYSTER DRESSING

1 cup (2 sticks) butter
2 onions, finely chopped
Turkey liver, chopped
1 cup chopped celery
1 jar (10 oz.) medium oysters
8 cups cubed, day-old French bread
1 teaspoon each salt and poultry seasoning
¼ teaspoon white pepper
½ cup chopped parsley
¼ cup chicken broth (about)

Heat butter in a large frying pan. In it saute onions, chopped turkey liver, and celery until vegetables are soft. Drain oysters, discarding their liquid; chop oysters coarsely. To bread in a large bowl, add the sauteed vegetable mixture, salt, poultry seasoning, pepper, oysters, and parsley. Mix lightly. Then add chicken broth, tossing lightly just until stuffing is moistened. Try not to pack the dressing down or mash it while stuffing the turkey. Makes about 10 cups dressing, enough to stuff a 15-pound bird. Any stuffing that does not fit into the turkey can be baked separately in a covered, buttered casserole; allow about 30 to 45 minutes, in a 325 degree oven.

PREPARE FOR holiday feasting and parties with a different cheese spread called Liptauer Kase. It combines cottage and cream cheeses with anchovy paste, capers and Parmesan cheese and is served on rye bread slices, wheat crackers or fresh vegetables.

Quicky Bar Recipe From Tiburonite

From Carolyn Morton, 139 St. Thomas Way. Tiburon.

QUICKY BAR

1 Cup brown sugar
1 Cup butter
Graham crackers
Chopped nuts
Chocolate Bars (10-5/8 oz. size)

Holiday COOK BOOK RECIPE CONTEST WINNER 1972

Using a jelly roll pan (10 x 15 cookie sheet with ½" sides), lay graham crackers out to cover and sprinkle with chopped nuts. Boil brown sugar and butter together for 2 minutes, or until blended, and pour over the chopped nuts. Bake in 400° oven for 6-8 minutes. Remove from oven and lay the thin chocloate bars over all. When partially cool spread chocolate well and evenly. Cut to any size desired. They lift easily from the pan.

Coffeecake 'Easy To Make, Remains Moist'

APPLE CREAM COFFEECAKE

½ Cup butter
1 Cup sugar
2 Eggs
1 Tsp. vanilla
2 Cups sifted all purpose flour
1 Tsp. baking powder
1 Tsp. baking soda
½ Tsp. salt
1 Cup sour cream
1 Medium apple, sliced thin
½ Cup chopped walnuts
2 Tsps. cinnamon
½ Cup sugar

Cream butter and sugar until light and fluffy. Add eggs and vanilla, beat thoroughly. Add sifted dry ingredients in thirds alternately with sour cream, beating until smooth after each addition.

Holiday COOK BOOK RECIPE CONTEST WINNER 1972

Spread half of batter in a greased and floured 10-inch tube pan. Top with apple slices. Mix walnuts, cinnamon and sugar. Sprinkle half of mixture over apples. Top with remaining batter. Sprinkle with remaining nut mixture. Bake at 375° for 40 minutes. Cool on cake rack for 30 minutes before removing from pan.

". . . one of my favorites as it is easy to make and stays moist for many days."

Chicken Casserole

From Inez O'Haire, 2215 Oak Knoll Road, Novato.

CHICKEN CASSEROLE

Holiday COOK BOOK RECIPE CONTEST WINNER 1972

2 Cups Diced cooked chicken
2 Cups green beans (drained)
1 Cup cooked white rice
1 Cup cooked wild rice
1 Can creamed celery soup, condensed
½ Cup mayonnaise
½ Cup water chestnuts, sliced
2 Tbsp. chopped pimentos
2 Tbsp. chopped onions
¼ Tsp. salt
Dash of pepper

Combine all ingredients, mix well, place in 1½ quart casserole. Bake 25-30 minutes in 350° oven. Makes 6 to 7 servings.

Cheese Triangles Are A Greek Appetizer

From Mrs. Diane Graham, 49 Mercury Ave., Tiburon.

TIROPETES
(Cheese Triangles)

"This is a Greek appetizer which has been used in our family for years. They are very tasty as well as pretty to look at. Excellent for holidays."

12 Tbsp. sweet butter (¾ cup)
3 Tbsp. flour
1½ Cups milk
¾ Feta cheese, crumbled (can be found at delicatessens)
Pepper
½ Lb. filo pastry sheets (available at international gourmet shops)

In a saucepan melt ½ the butter, add flour and stir until mixture becomes light brown. Remove from heat and slowly stir in hot milk. Cook, stirring constantly until sauce is smooth and thickened. Add crumbled cheese and pepper and stir. Add eggs and egg yolk one at a time, beating well after each additon. Melt remaining butter. Cut sheets of filo in 3-inch strips and spread with butter.

Put 1 teaspoon of cheese filling on end of strip and fold into triangle shape. Continue folding, making sure with each fold that bottom edge is parallel with the other side edge. After all Tiropetes are folded and ready, put on a baking pan and spread more butter on the top of each one. Bake in a 400° oven for 10 to 15 minutes, until golden and spongy. Makes 60 pieces. Serve hot. These can be frozen before baking. Omit spreading butter on top until put in oven.

BRANDIED BAVARIAN CREAM

Holiday Season: The Time Family Cooks Go All-Out

The holiday season is the time when the family cooks like to go all-out with their most elegant dessert. This Brandied Bavarian Cream surrounded by brandied fruits is one such dessert.

BRANDIED BAVARIAN CREAM

2 envelopes unflavored gelatin
⅔ cup sugar
½ teaspoon salt
1½ Cups milk
6 egg yolks, beaten lightly
½ cup Brandy
4 egg whites
1½ cups whipped cream
Brandied Fruits
Maraschino cherries and leaves for decoration

Combine gelatin, ⅓ cup sugar and salt and mix well. Add milk, and heat to scalding. Pour over egg yolks; return to low heat, and cook, stirring constantly, until mixture coats spoon, and is slightly thickened. Remove from heat, stir in brandy, and cool. When mixture begins to thicken and jell, beat egg whites stiff, and gradually beat in remaining ⅓ cup sugar. With same beater, whip cream. Fold egg whites and cream into gelatin, and turn into 2½ quart mold. Chill until firm. Unmold on serving plate and ring with Brandied Fruits. Decorate plate with maraschino cherries and leaves. Makes 8 to 10 servings.

BRANDIED FRUITS

1 (1 lb.) can whole peeled apricots
1 (8¼ oz.) can pineapple slices
1 (1 lb.) can cling peach halves
2 tablespoons slivered orange peel
10 whole cloves
½ cup sugar
⅔ cup Brandy
2 teaspoons lemon juice
3-4 drops red food coloring
4 small whole pears, pared*
2 apples, pared and quartered

Drain syrup from apricots and pineapple into pint measuring cup. Add enough syrup from peaches to reach the 2 cup level. Turn into large skillet. Add orange peel, cloves, sugar and brandy. Simmer 10 minutes. Add 1 cup of the hot syrup to the well drained apricots, pineapple slices and peaches. To remaining syrup, add lemon juice and food coloring. Add pears and apples, cover and simmer 5 minutes. Uncover, turn fruits and cook until tender, about 5 minutes longer, basting frequently with syrup. Cool fruits in their syrup.

*If desired, substitute 1 (1 lb.) can pear halves. Simmer them in the pink syrup 3 to 4 minutes. Remove pears, and continue cooking apples until tender.

Cinnamon Puffs Recipe From Mill Valley Woman

From Mrs. Margaret B. Brooks, 35 Sycamore Ave., Mill Valley

CINNAMON PUFFS

2 Pkgs. dry granular yeast
½ Cup warm (not hot) water
¾ Cup lukewarm milk
¼ Cup sugar
1 Tsp. salt
½ Cup shortening
2 Eggs, beaten
3¼ Cups sifted all purpose flour
1 Tbsp. vanilla

Combine yeast and water. Let stand five minutes. In large mixing bowl combine milk, sugar, salt, shortening, beaten eggs, yeast mixture and half of flour. Beat two minutes on electric mixer (medium speed) or by hand until smooth. Add remaining flour and vanilla. Beat two more minutes with spoon. Drop 1 tbsp. batter into well-greased, medium-sized muffin cups. Place in warm place (80-85°) and let rise until double and they reach tops of muffin pans (30-40 minutes). Bake in quick moderate oven (375°) 18-20 minutes or until golden brown.

Remove from pans and dip top and sides in melted butter (½ cup) and then into sugar coating mixture.

SUGAR COATING

1 Cup granulated sugar
4 Tsp. cinnamon

Recipe For Sauce Was Handed Down

From Mrs. Thomas D. Gillis, 124 Bretano Way, Greenbrae.

CHOCOLATE SAUCE

2 Tbsp. Melted butter
3 Tbsp. Cocoa
½ Cup Sugar
1 Large can evaporated milk (1⅓ cup)

Mix, cook slowly and stir constantly until thick. Serves six.

"A very old recipe handed down from a friend who used to have this on her ice cream when she was a very little girl. It is simple, delicious and different." (Thick and fudgy without being too sweet).

Artichoke Squares Can Be Appetizer

From Mrs. H. C. Whitescarver, 538 Virginia Drive, Tiburon.

ARTICHOKE SQUARES

4 Eggs
Salt and pepper
Couple dashes Tobasco
6 Double soda crackers, crumbled
½ Lb. sharp cheddar, grated
2 6 oz. jars marinated artichoke hearts, chopped
3 Green onions, chopped
1 Clove garlic, chopped
Chopped parsley

Fry onions and garlic in a little oil from artichokes. Remove garlic pieces. Beat eggs and add seasonings. Add each ingredient separately, beating in with a fork. Pour into well-oiled 8 x 8 pan. Bake in 325° oven for 35-40 minutes and serve either cut into small squares for appetizers or into large squares for first course.

Mexican Salad Serves Six To 8

MEXICAN TOSSED SALAD

1 Head iceberg lettuce
3 Chopped green onions
3 Sliced tomatoes
1 Sliced avocado
1 Cup shredded cheddar cheese
1 2¼ oz. can sliced olives (drained)
1 Cup corn chips, crunched

DRESSING

1 Cup sour cream
¼ Cup taco sauce
⅛ Tsp. chili powder
Juice from ½ lemon

WE PAY SPECIAL ATTENTION TO KITCHENS

At Coldwell, Banker we realize that the kitchen is one of the most important rooms in the home. It serves as a nerve center, command post and family gathering room, besides its original purpose as a handy well equipped area for preparing the family meals.

We also realize that the elements desired in a kitchen vary with the individual. Perhaps that's why Coldwell, Banker could readily furnish gourmet chef, Paul Fritzsche, the home (especially the kitchen) he desired.

You may not have as an elaborately equipped kitchen as gourmet chef, Paul Fritzsche, or your home may not include the expansive bookcases for his vast collection of 11,000 cookbooks, but whatever individual qualities your home may possess, rest assured that Coldwell, Banker will interest one of its many buyers in your home.

So, if you're cooking up a little move soon and you're ready to trade in your kitchen (and the rest of your house) you will want it well done and should call the master chefs of Marin real estate, Coldwell, Banker and Company.
